VIOLATORS OF KETCHEL DIES
CENSUS FACE FROM BULLET
PROSECUTION OF ASSASSIN

President Taft Favors Bringing Meddlers to Account in Courts.

"Padded" Returns in Pacific Northwest States Lead to Investigation.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—There is evidence in possession of Census Director T. Dana Durand that attempts, more or less successful, have been made by census enumerators in Pacific coast cities and in some interior cities to inflate the population returns by padding the census lists.

The cities specifically mentioned in connection with these frauds are Tacoma, Seattle and Aberdeen, Wash.; Portland, Ore.; Boise, Idaho; Fort Smith, Ark.; Great Falls, Mont.; Minneapolis, Minn., and St. Joseph, Mo. Census statistics for Tacoma announced tonight by the bureau show a population of 23,972 in 1910 as compared with 27,714 in 1900 and 33,006 in 1890. The population announced tonight is believed to be the correct figure, a new census having been taken under the supervision of William A. McKenzie, an expert of the bureau. The original census was padded to the extent of 33,296, in thirty-four enumeration districts, or an addition of 44 per cent to the correct number of inhabitants.

REPORTS TO PRESIDENT

Director Durand reported the circumstances of the padding of the census lists in Tacoma on October 8 to Secretary Nagel of the Department of Labor and Commerce, who forwarded the report to President Taft at Beverly.

The President directed the matter be made public and that prosecutions be had in the following letter to Secretary Nagel:

"My Dear Secretary—I have read Director Durand's letter and agree with him that it ought to be published. The cases of all those who appear to have violated the law should be investigated by the grand jury and if sufficient evidence is found to justify it they should be indicted and prosecuted at once. Nothing will so conduce to securing a proper census as the prosecution of those who attempt a fraud on the law. I am led to believe that the present census has been much freer from attempted frauds than any previous census, but the instances cited by Mr. Durand are sufficient to require the utmost vigilance to bring those who have violated the law to justice and proper punishment.

"Sincerely yours,
WILLIAM H. TAFT."

METHODS OF PADDING

The populations of San Francisco and Los Angeles have not been announced. Director Durand says it would be unfair to judge from the census lists in those cities, or either of them, or that there was any suspicion in the interim.

It has been ascertained that methods of padding the returns have varied in different cities. In the case of Tacoma the attempted "padding" of the census was brought about mainly through the use of slips printed by private individuals and contained in census questionnaires. These were distributed very generally on street corners and elsewhere and were filled out by thousands of people who either had not permanent residences in the city and not entitled to enumeration there.

Champion Pugilist Breathes Last in Springfield, Mo., Hospital.

Reward of $5000 Offered for Body of Murderer; Nothing for Slayer Alive.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Oct. 15.—Stanley Ketchel, middleweight champion of the world, died at 7:05 o'clock in the Springfield hospital from an internal hemorrhage caused by a bullet wound. R. P. Dickerson and three physicians were at the bedside as he drew his last breath.

Death came easy, Ketchel lapsing into unconsciousness shortly after he was brought from the special train which was used in getting him from Conway, where the shooting occurred, to the train to Springfield. He seemed much improved and talked some to the few in the coach. He said nothing of the shooting. His words were without meaning at times. He had been semi-conscious up to death.

INTERNAL BLEEDING HIDES BULLET.

Ketchel was operated upon at 2 o'clock at Conway, but the bullet course could not be found on account of internal bleeding. Shortly after the operation he was started for Springfield in a special train, chartered by Dickerson. The trip of forty miles was made slowly, the speedometer reaching here at 5:42 this evening. He was taken in an ambulance to the Springfield hospital, where with the greatest care, he was given the "white room" and every attention paid to him. All the way to this city he seemed to be much improved but as soon as the hospital was reached he grew tired and weak. At 6:15 he appeared to be breathing with an effort and at 6:30 he lapsed into unconsciousness.

REWARD FOR MURDERER, DEAD.

Dickerson has offered a reward of $5,000 for the body of Hurtz, who did the shooting, nothing for the live man.

Titled Oakland Girl
Living in Sausalito

Romantic Wedding of Countess Chevallier to Stockbroker Has Pretty Sequel.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Duffer, whose recent engagement caused a furor, are living in Sausalito. Mrs. Duffer is the possessor of a title, her maiden name being Countess Chevallier de St. Beupuy. Duffer is a member of the San Francisco stock exchange and also a member of the San Francisco Yacht Club. Up to day the bride's mother would give no details of the marriage and wedding and the whereabouts of the couple.

They met a year ago and became engaged in June. That time Duffer was not aware of the fact that his sweetheart was the possessor of a title. The father of the young woman died when she was only a year of age. She has been in New York. Her mother is now the wife of Policeman E. C. Summers of Oakland.

An extended wedding trip to the East will be taken the first of the year.

Seventy-Five Dead In Tropic Hurricane

Fierce Storm Sweeps Cuba and Southern Florida, Doing Great Damage.

KEY WEST, Fla., Oct. 15.—In one of the fiercest tropical hurricanes that ever swept the islands it is estimated that between seventy-five and one hundred persons met their death and great damage was done.

Parts of Cuba and Key West islands are reported devastated. The islands are strewn with wreckage. According to reports coming in today construction camps at Key West have suffered great damage. The Havana Railroad has been partially torn up by the force of the hurricane.

A wireless message from Cuba says that the fatalities in the islands were confined to the Santa Clara province. The tobacco seed beds in the Nuevita Aba, where growth the finest tobacco in the world, doubtless have been destroyed.

Plantations Swept by Great Wall of Water

Tidal Wave Wrecks Million Dollars' Damage and Loss of Life Is Feared.

GALVESTON, Tex., Oct. 15.—A cable from Frontiera to a fruit company here says a tidal wave swept inland over the state of Texas, doing untold damage to the plantations, and it is feared there is loss of life.

The tidal wave extended almost the entire width of the state of Texas. The damage to the plantations, including thousands of acres of fruit lands, is roughly estimated at about $1,000,000.

One plantation reports the loss of 50,000 bunches of bananas, another 25,000 and a large number ranging from 20,000 to 30,000 bunches.

IOWA SENATOR
SUDDENLY
DIES

Jonathan P. Dolliver Expires While Doctor Counts Heart Beats.

Dernise Is Unexpected as He Had Been Feeling Better All Day.

FORT DODGE, Iowa, Oct. 15.—Senator Jonathan P. Dolliver died at his residence here at 8 o'clock this evening of dilation of the heart, while Dr. E. M. Van Patten, a consulting physician, was testing the Senator's heart with a stethoscope.

Senator Dolliver's death was entirely unexpected. He had risen only this morning and after walking about the house a few hours announced his intention of going down to the city. He spent the greater part of the day talking with his friends here in the city.

The Senator declared to them that he had almost regained his strength and that he believed he would soon recover his normal condition. After the Senator returned to his home Dr. Van Patten called to investigate his condition. The Senator was sitting in a chair in the sitting room while the physician made the examination. Dr. Van Patten applied the stethoscope to the patient's heart, talking as he made the examination.

COUNTED HEART BEATS.

As he listened to the heartbeats, Dr. Van Patten counted out loud, repeating each number to the Senator. He had counted fourteen beats when Senator Dolliver said in a clear, strong voice: "That's good; I seem to be gaining in strength. But I could count only 14."

The physician continued to listen with his instrument but suddenly noticed that the heart had ceased beating. Upon looking into the Senator's face he discovered that the distinguished statesman was dead.

Mrs. Dolliver had just stepped into the door way of the room to speak to her little son, George, when death came. The funeral arrangements have not as yet been made.

DOMINATING FIGURE.

Jonathan Prentiss Dolliver held the reputation of being one of the greatest orators in the Republican party. His wonderful grasp of public questions, together with his native eloquence, made him one of the big dominating figures in the party with which he was associated for the last twenty years.

Until the last couple of years Senator Dolliver had always been identified with the regular wing of the Republican party, his early strength having been gained through his staunchness as an administration supporter. When the Aldrich-Payne tariff measure came before the Sen-

Frank Gould Weds Actress
On Scotland Gretna Green

LONDON, Oct. 15.—It was learned today that Frank J. Gould and Edith Kelly, the actress, who attempted to be married in England, have been obliged to cross the border into Scotland to have the ceremony performed. The regulations of the English church regarding the marriage of divorced persons are very strict and Gould, finding that there is a rigid barrier against the marriage in England, took his prospective bride, when Scotland, where marriages on the Gretna Green principle are easy and the contracting parties are not annoyed by questions. The ceremony, it is understood, was performed at Abbotsford, the former home of Sir Walter Scott, which has been leased by Gould and which, it is believed, he intends to acquire as a permanent country seat.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—For the first time there has been a great deal of speculation as to whether or not Frank Gould had married the slender little dancing girl to whom he has been so devotedly attached. She has been Mrs. Frank Gould in London and on his recent trip to New York. Last October, five months after he was divorced by his first wife, the report that he had been married to Edith Kelly originated in London. The couple left the Savoy Hotel there for Paris and immediately after their departure this announcement was made.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Gould and suite left the Savoy Hotel today for Paris.

Many of the Gould friends construed this as an announcement of the marriage, but since the time Gould had been very careful neither to affirm nor deny that he was married. In Paris he has had his usual apartments, where the former show girl was known as Mrs. Gould.

Last January it was reported that Gould was tired of the notoriety he had gained in this country and intended to shake the dust of America from his feet.

Parents Agree to Marriage
Of 11-Year Old Daughter

MAHANOCY CITY, Pa., Oct. 15.—"Are you trying to sell your little girl to this man?" angrily shouted License Clerk Edward J. Smith today when her parents of 11-year-old Annie George appeared before him with the prospective bridegroom, who is 25 years of age, to take a marriage license.

The marriage contract was drawn up, but when Clerk Smith learned the age of the child he tore up the paper and refused to issue a permit, severely arraigning the girl's parents for giving their consent to the marriage.

The father denied he was trying to sell the girl, but said he wanted her married at once to the proposed bridegroom so she would not be married to another man when she did not like.

In refusing the license, Clerk Smith told the girl's parents to take her home and allow her to play with a doll for a few years longer.

Is Fatally Hurt

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—An entire block on the west side from West Nineteenth to West Twentieth streets in South Halsted street was the scene of a riot this afternoon in which striking garment workers, strike-breakers, private detectives and the police clashed, with many injured, and in which women were the most violent in their resistance to the efforts of the blue-coats to disperse the mob.

As a result of the battle nine strike-breakers, one hurt perhaps fatally, were arrested and five policemen reported themselves temporarily disabled from kicks and blows from various weapons. The riot started at the entrance of the Schaeffer & Marx tailor shops. A number of strike-breakers were returning from lunch when they were attacked and in a moment the entire block became the scene of a riot.

Birdlike Craft Takes Course Followed by Fast Liners From New York

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Walter Wellman and the five men of his crew in the immense dirigible balloon America, were sighted five miles southeast of Scotland tonight at 6:50 o'clock this evening, making 15 knots an hour in their thrilling attempt to cross the Atlantic ocean through the air.

Heading northwest through a dense fog, the aerial navigators were believed to have passed Coney Island about 9 o'clock, having at that time traveled approximately 100 miles since the huge vessel arose from the Atlantic city beach at 8 o'clock in the morning.

The presence of the America in the vicinity of New York was reported by wireless by the steamer Coamo to the United Wireless Telegraph company.

The vessel passed very near the Coamo, but was lost in the fog.

Starts on Trip

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 15.—Walter Wellman this morning at 8:13 started from Atlantic City to blaze the way for future aeronauts to Europe by the air route. Unexpectedly to his friends and to the public, he cut loose the hanger of the ship America and sailed to sea in a dense fog, in which the balloon was lost to view in three minutes by the watch.

Striking boldly out from the coast, the airship headed for the other side of the Atlantic, but wireless messages which were picked up here first reported the America off Staten Island and then she was sighted at sea some distance from the coast and headed northward. That is in line with his statement before starting, in which he said he would follow the coast toward the Newfoundland banks and then head the dirigible across the narrowest point from land to land.

The first word received from Wellman by wireless was to the effect that the America was making fifteen miles an hour. Later he said the ship was driving at the rate of 25 miles an hour steadily and that he expected a better record would be reached if the gale that was announced to be sweeping the coast would turn seaward and pick up the America. However, tonight the gale was reported to be subsiding.

Well on Way to Sea

This afternoon the America was said to be well on her way to sea, and those who had expressed the belief that Wellman was just trying out the America for a test as to her stability in the air were forced to admit that the great postponer seemed to be making good. The men accompanying Wellman are Melville Vaniman, chief engineer; J. Irwin, wireless operator; J. Murray Simons, former junior officer of the steamer Oceanic and navigator for the America; Albert Louis Lourd, who in the absence of Jean Jacon, the French motor expert, was deserted by the America because he failed to report in time for the beginning of the perilous trip. Jacon had refused to remain in Wellman's employ unless his back salary was paid. Every man of the party

The victim reported the crime to Inspector Charles Focht, who took precautions for the apprehension of the man should he make his appearance in the neighborhood.

EXIT TOY CANINES AND ENTER DOLLS FOR THE ELITE

American Women Take Up
New Fad Started by Fair
Sex in Paris.

TAKE THEM TO SOCIAL FUNCTIONS AND RIDING

They Don't Shut Eyes When
Lying Down, But Some Say
"Papa" and "Mama."

BY MARGARET WAITS DE
PEYSTER.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Dolls have taken the place of dogs with society women. The first sign of the new fad for grown women has just arrived here from Paris and was practically disposed of before its arrival.

Just who is responsible for the education of this fad to America from Paris is in doubt. The best opinion is that it was Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, formerly Miss Alice Roosevelt. Whoever it was, no woman of fashion would be seen without her doll this winter. They will take them on riding in motor cars, carry them to social functions and take them to call on their acquaintances. The fad is an importation from Paris, where for a month or more have been carrying large bisque dolls in their salons, also at social functions and in automobiles and on the streets.

DOLLS ARE EXPENSIVE.

The dolls, all girl babies, are sold at from $5 to $125 each. They look like those made for children and kept by the toy shops. They are 18 inches high and are dressed in the latest Parisian clothes of the finest materials.

The establishments keeping them make extra clothes at prices running upward from $25. The only difference between these dolls for grown women and those for children is that the Parisian dolls are manufactured of the finest bisque, with compositely bodies and joints so made as not to creak when moved.

Unlike children's dolls, the eyes of these for mature people don't close when the doll is placed in a reclining position, but some of the more expensive say "mama" and "papa" when a button is pressed.

PARISIANS STARTED FAD.

"Fashionable women in Paris have been carrying the dolls openly at receptions for a month or more," said the head of one of the first avenue establishments today. "They are a rage in Paris. I did not know whether the American women would take them up, but after taking the dolls with me, I have found the demand so great I am sending more."

"I thought the women here might buy them for their children, but I was agreeably surprised to find they are eager to follow the French fad and purchased these dolls. I have been assured by fashionable women among my customers that the dolls among mature people this season will equal if not exceed that in Paris."

WILL CARRY THEM ON STREET.

"Society women have not begun to carry them on the streets here as yet, but they will do so within a week. You know that it is Fifth avenue that introduced these new styles generally. A rude stroke might not be a blot on one of the most beautiful fashions that has ever found favor in New York."

"The very best people are buying the dolls. One prominent social leader bought one yesterday, and ordered six extra dresses for it."

"It seems like a rather foolish fad, but in reality it is not. It is impossible to imagine anything more delightful than a society woman playing dolls with her acquaintances."

"Then too the dolls are in education in themselves. By drawing the attention to fashion, a woman gets a thorough education in the art of dressing."

WEST PROSPEROUS DECLARES SHORTS

Railroad President Returns to
New York Optimistic
Over Outlook.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—"You can't judge of the financial condition of Western roads by sitting in a Wall street office and studying statistics," declared Theodore D. Short, president of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, who is also president of the Chicago & Alton Railroad Company.

Short, accompanied by New York's Western representatives, covered 5,000 miles of road between Oct. 2 and 15, returning to New York from South Dakota, where he had been on a tour of inspection of the Western roads.

"It is a very good thing," Short declared, "that the Western roads have not been hit by the automobile. They are prosperous and do not need to show up on the property books as a loss. Short said that the traffic on the railroads was not as bad as the automobile great passenger."

"The passenger business of the Western roads is not as bad as the automobile great passenger," Short said, "but it is not as bad as the automobile great passenger."

NATIONAL GUARD COMPANIES RETURN

Oakland Soldiers Home Again
After Maneuvers at Atascadero.

PLEASED WITH RESULT OF STRENUOUS WORK

Arrive in City in Early Morning and Camp at Armories for Night.

All the companies of National Guard of California which have been taking part in the military maneuvers at Atascadero, in conjunction with regiments of the regular army, returned to their homes yesterday after two weeks of study in the field, under the direction of men who have had many years of experience in the service of their country. Companies A and F, Fifth Infantry, National Guard of California, arrived in this city yesterday morning at 8:30 o'clock fatigued from the ride from the late camp ground and disgusted to find themselves on the streets at an hour when they would have much preferred to be in their tents at Atascadero or in their comfortable beds at home.

SLEEP IN ARMORIES.

The members of A and F Companies reside in all parts of this city, but the greater number of them have been distant from the business center. The idea of walking home at the early hour in the morning that the trains pulled in was not a pleasant one, even for soldiers, and, accordingly, the two companies walked at will from the depot to the armories on Twentieth street and Telegraph avenue, where they threw themselves on their blankets on the floor, fell asleep and remained in that condition until the bustle of business on the street sounded like reveille and robbed them of further slumber.

RESULTS PLEASE.

The members of the companies stated to a representative of THE TRIBUNE that, while there had been some severe orders issued to them while in camp, they were, nevertheless, pleased with their experience in the field.

For some of them it was their first encampment, and some of the marches in the working out of war problems, tested their ability and endurance as pedestrians. Some of them returned from the "hikes" with blistered feet, others with sore limbs and others still impressed with the fact that there was not just a little of much work in the business of a soldier as there was pleasure.

WILL GO AGAIN.

In the companies mentioned there is not a member who will not make an effort to attend the next encampment whenever the same shall be held.

This determination, the boys say, is general throughout the national guard. Aside from the practical information as regards the service which the guard derived, they also learned a great deal from association with the regular forces and the instructions which were delivered from time to time.

The health of the recruits from this city when in camp was generally good, the principal exception being the case of W. H. Holmes, a private in Company D of the 10th Infantry, who was compelled to leave camp Thursday last and who was brought to Meritt Hospital in this city by Dr. C. A. Dukes, major, and acting surgeon-general of the guard. Holmes is suffering from appendicitis and is to be operated upon.

Some of the boys in Company A felt victims to poison oak, the greatest sufferer being Private John Ansel, who has returned in a very bad condition. His attack was of a most virulent character and while he is on the road to recovery, several days must elapse before he will be restored to his former self.

COMISKEY PICKS ATHLETICS TO WIN

Old Roman of Baseball Says
Cubs Will Meet Tartars in World Series.

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—Charles A. Comiskey, the "Old Roman" and veteran ballplayer, says:

"The Cubs are going to meet their quarter in the Philadelphia Athletics. They are going to meet one of the strongest teams that has ever appeared in the American League in the world series, and a team whose real strength was not tested in this year's race."

"I cannot see a weak point in any place on the Philadelphia club and it is undoubtedly the greatest team in baseball today. Manager Chance had always what I called the 'big club' of them all, but that they are not. The players have been shakedowned up a bit in their special line, but not the team they were in 1907 and 1908."

CUBS SUPREME IN LEAGUE.

"There is no question but that the Cubs are supreme in the National League. Their smartness was many a time proved to me."

"The Athletics are just what the Cubs are and a little bit more. No one has ever questioned Comiskey's baseball knowledge in handling his team. Even when he had only a mediocre team he was always on the leaders. Now he has the greatest one in his career."

"The Athletics are a teaming along in the Athletics. The players have a balanced the fighting part of the game. With this year's team, they were just putting their teaching by Mack last year and the year before into practice, and now the Athletics have reached the top. I believe they are going to run us kings in baseball the next year."

TRAINED TO MINUTE.

"The Athletics are trained to the minute for the series and Mack has permitted no opportunity to slip by toward stopping the Cubs. He knows the Cubs are a good team and I know they are a well-trained team. They are going against just such a team as themselves and for the first time will back a club that compares with them."

"In making my prediction, though, I am not picking the Athletics to make the series an entire run away. It won't be done. The series will have from 6 to 8 games."

PARISIANS IMPORT OUR AMUSEMENTS FOR SEASON

'America' Is Brand on Prizefighting and Theater; Spiritual Miss Abbott Comes in for Recognition

(By MARQUISE DE CASTELLA, E.)

PARIS, Oct. 15.—Now that the season is well on, I find America written all over our amusements. Mme. Nordica sings one of the principal roles in "Tristan and Yseult" at the opera. Mary Garden is to appear in Salome at the same historic house. Mme. Lina Cavalieri—I suppose that since her marriage to Mr. Chaudron she may also be called an American—has signed a contract to sing at the European Concert Hall in the Boulevard Beaumarchais.

Two American roller skating rinks are in full swing in one part of the city, while Luna Park holds forth in another. To crown all, Sam McVey, the pugilist, is opening an American café and entertainment hall in Mont Martre.

Boston is at the Jardin d'Acclimatation the American biograph is in the Rue Talbott, and one of the chief riders in the Nouvel Cirque is an American cowboy. Nearly all of our variety theaters have American programs. In fact, knowing that the republic does not confer titles.

"Oh, it is quite easy," he replied. "You remember my father was gamekeeper of the famous forests of Ayrshire. I asked the court of state to permit me to call myself Bally D'Avonmore. They did it. It was easy to add the name, especially as Bally is a family name in France. Thus I became the Marquis Bally D'Avonmore."

Those who wish to ennoble themselves begin by taking the name of some place. Thus, Monsieur Ligier took the name of La Preade, a little commune in Puy de Dôme. Now he has become the Marquis Ligier de La Preade. There is no law to stop this. After a generation or so the descendants of these spurious noblemen cannot be detected from those of us whose ancestors were enabled for deeds of valor on the battlefields.

SOON NO PEOPLE.

If we keep on this way France will soon have no people. They will all be nobles. And we can then furnish titled husbands for all creation, including the United States.

I hear many complaints of the cost of living in the United States, yet I am quite sure no American was ever called upon to pay the kind of bills that we constantly have presented to us. For instance, a young man of my acquaintance desired an entrance into the best Parisian society, French, Franco-American and Political. A lady of standing undertook to present him.

BILL HE RECEIVED.

Here is the bill he received for services rendered:

To introduction to the Faubourg St. Germain set, $20.
To Franco-American set, $1.

Midshipmen Found Guilty Of Hazing to Be Punished

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 15.—Captain J. N. Bowyer, superintendent of the naval academy, has decided that four midshipmen of the first class who were caught in the room with a number of first classmen last Saturday evening, are guilty of hazing, and he has inflicted a severe punishment on each of them.

Owing to the fact that the hazing was of a mild form, Captain Bowyer decided not to recommend dismissal, but the punishment inflicted is so severe that it only fills short of actual dismissal, while stilling rebuke to the guilty is already being administered.

The guilty midshipmen are John Warden, Tennessee; Jennifer Garrett, Virginia; Howard Rodde, Ohio, and William O'Brien, Indiana. One penalty will be exacted of Midshipmen Anderson and Garnett. As they were caught petty officers, their offense is considered greater, and they have been adjudged guilty of neglect of duty. They will also be deprived of their position as cadet petty officers.

A special punishment will be inflicted upon Midshipman O'Brien, who will be deprived of the position as manager of the football team, which he now fills.

FARMER FINDS COINS

WHENEVER HE PLOWS

GEORGETOWN, Del., Oct. 15.—James Rust, who lives on a farm two miles from here, has a small egg box filled with coins that he had turned up when plowing.

For some time past he noticed that every time he ploughed a certain part of his field the share his turned up coins. The coins are of various denominations, none of them very large, but of many dates, some of them being very old and probably of considerable value. Rust remembers when this part of the farm was a tavern site and says that it was then a favorite diversion to pitch small coins for drinks and that the coins Rust found are probably some of those so used.

NATIONAL COUNCIL WOULD TAKE POWER

Congregational Churches Seek Plan to Organize Under One Head.

BOSTON, Oct. 15.—One of the most important and far reaching acts in the history of the congregational body was taken when the National Council of Congregational Churches holding its biennial session in this city, decided to invest itself with greater administrative powers and work out some plan whereby the National Council would assume a governing power over the various societies, missionary and others, connected with the denomination.

Today's decision has been characterized by one of the delegates as to Protestantism, the Congregationalism by bringing under one centralized source of power and authority the various churches and denominational societies, which in the present have been independent bodies.

The action came in the acceptance of a report of the committee of 25 appointed to consider matters of church policy.

CITY HALL SITE FINALLY CHOSEN

Sharon Offer Will Be Recommended to San Francisco Supervisors Monday.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—For the second time the members of the public buildings committee of the Board of Supervisors have determined to recommend the Sharon offer of the Sharon Estate Company to build a six-story building in the rear of the Palace Hotel and to rent the structure to the municipality for temporary city hall purposes. It was the intention of the committee to have made this recommendation at last Monday's meeting of the board, but certain other matters of the preliminary nature of the plan had to be brought up first. The Sharon offer is still well thought of in the board, and it is not by any means certain that an effort will not be made to substitute it for the Sharon lot when the matter comes up for consideration and decision Monday. The mayor himself is believed to hold with others that the location is to be preferred to that of the Sharon property.

CONVENTION FAILS TO CHANGE NAME

Revision of Episcopal Prayer Book Title Lost by One Vote.

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 15.—The proposal to change the name of the church was lost by one vote in the House of Deputies of the Episcopal convention today.

Arguments for and against revision of the title to the Book of Common Prayer by dropping the word "Protestant" and inserting the words "Holy Catholic Church" had been made by some of the ablest speakers in the house.

Archdeacon B. Talbot Rogers of Ford Du Lac, favoring the change of name, said the proposal was being opposed by the very element in the church that began the movement to send missionaries into the Latin countries.

A victory for the advocates of separate bishops for the negro churches was won in the committee on constitutional amendments which reported favorably the proposed amendment for revision for mission districts on local lines.

GIRL GOING HORSEBACK ACROSS CONTINENT

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 15.—If a man can ride across the continent in a week, a woman can do the same, or even better, declared Miss Ida S. Russell, at her apartments on Sixth Figueroa street today. Miss Russell had just announced that within the next month she was to start on a 300-mile horseback journey from Los Angeles to New York and Washington, D. C.

Miss Russell, who is an excellent horsewoman, intends to make the journey across the continent on a dark bay gelding, "Billy Rose," which has been her favorite mount for several months.

"I shall carry as little weight as possible," said Miss Russell, "and go in a neat costume, which, while simple is tasty. I shall go by way of Williams, Ariz.; Flagstaff, Albuquerque, Kansas City and Chicago. From Chicago I shall select any one of the turpines to New York and Washington."

Miss Russell has been more or less adventurous during her life. At one time descending in a derrick to come and investigate the wreck of the "S. S. Inman," which ran aground fourteen miles from San Francisco. Her experiences under water were written by Miss Russell for various magazines.

Although J. P. Warren petitioned the court to dismiss the suit against his wife, Christine, which he filed recently, the case will be tried at the wife's request. Warren filed his divorce suit on the ground of cruelty. He said he would not be afraid if his wife would stop drinking.

USE OF CIGARETTES IS DEMORALIZING SCHOOL BOYS

Principal Addicott Says Smoking Stunts Growth of Youths and Blunts Intellect.

In an effort to suppress cigarette smoking in the Prescott school of West Oakland, J. E. Addicott, principal of that institution, will confer with District Attorney Donahue this week and they will concoct a scheme whereby dealers will be forbidden to sell tobacco to minors. Principal Addicott stated in an interview yesterday that he had referred the matter of cigarette smoking among the boys of his school to Superintendent of Schools McClellan, but he has as yet been unable to stop the sale of cigarettes. The smoking habit, according to Addicott, is stunting the growth of the boys and blunting their intellect.

EVIL LURKS IN PRIZES.

In speaking of the matter of selling cigarettes to boys ranging in age from 7 to 13, Addicott said: "I consider that the most serious element in the sale of cigarettes is the prize that accompanies each pack. This prize is usually the picture of a famous baseball player and many boys purchase the pack for the sake of the prize, because a full set of these prizes means a greater prize in the form of a baseball or glove."

"These boys follow around behind adult cigarette smokers, beg for prizes, pick up the stubs and occasionally are given unutilized cigarettes to smoke from the hands of adults."

"Boys from 7 to 13 years of age have ranged twenty different stores where they buy cigarettes without being asked any questions as to age."

"The nickel show is the cause, indirectly of much of the cigarette smoking among very small boys. Parents thoughtlessly give their children a nickel, which they prefer a package of cigarettes to the show. That is what I am hearing about every day."

ALAMEDA, Oct. 15.—The first general fair of the Cheyenne and Arapaho Indians will be held at Weatherford October 18, 19 and 20. Superintendents of the Government agencies and the farmers employed by the Government to instruct the Indians in farming are appealing to the Indians to attend the fair.

If the Indians should respond, there will be nearly 3000 on the ground. Most of them would live in their tents. Many of the Indians will take an active part in the fair by sending exhibits of produce, live stock, poultry, articles of domestic handicraft, including bead work, Indian garments, etc.

It has been arranged that the Indians themselves shall be given the initiative in conducting the fair, that they may be encouraged to continue to work in the future. To attract the indifferent Indians to the fair, a demonstration of Indian work will be held on the fair grounds. The Federal Government is working hard to encourage the Cheyenne and Arapaho to take up agriculture.

Two hundred and sixty acres of choice land in the valley of the North Canadian river near the old Menominee mission close to Burlington, Iowa, has been set aside for use as a demonstration farm. An advisory board of expert and practical white farmers will be appointed to assist in the management of this farm.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—President Taft and Director of the Census Durand have decided to issue tonight a formal statement covering alleged padding in the population figures for Pacific Coast states. The enormous gains excited the suspicion of census officials. Investigation resulted in re-enumeration being ordered in certain cases.

When the returns from some of the larger Pacific Coast states were tabulated it was found that enormous gains in population were shown. Increases had been expected, but the figures in some cases were so excessive that the census officials were staggered.

The action of the bureau in ordering re-enumeration in portions of the states in question aroused much controversy in the West. It was presumed the state of the President and director of the census tonight will explain the attitude of the government.

GOVERNMENT WILL BE OWN SURVEYOR

Contract System Is Abolished and Uncle Sam Will Hire His Help.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 17.—The old contract system of the Government for the public land surveying work has been abolished and the Government will now employ its own surveyors.

This change is a result of the statement of General L. A. Archer, Chief of the General Land Office, who for the last few weeks has been engaged with C. J. Dill, director of the Washington office, in studying the problem of the land survey.

It is a matter of public interest that the Government has always had a large number of surveyors employed, but they have not been employed by the Government. They have been employed by the land owners, who have paid them for their services.

At the present time there remain to be surveyed within the limits of the several Indian reservations, a large and important area of land. It is estimated that the land to be surveyed is about 100,000 acres.

Uncle Sam will now employ his own surveyors. The Government will hire the surveyors and pay them for their services. This will be a great improvement over the old contract system.

The old contract system was a great source of trouble to the Government. It was a system of bribery and corruption. The surveyors were paid by the land owners and they were not paid by the Government.

The new system will be a great improvement over the old system. It will be a system of honesty and integrity. The surveyors will be paid by the Government and they will be paid for their services.

CANDIDATES ARE WAGING BATTLE CAMPAIGNS

ROOSEVELT WOULD BE DIAZ OF AMERICA

30 Declare Party Leaders Who Believe Former President Seeks Re-Election.

MANY POLITICAL FIGHTS ARE NOW BEING WAGED

New York Contest Most Spectacular of Battles Now Being Fought.

(By ROBERT LEE CARTER.) NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—While the political fight in New York is perhaps the most spectacular of those in the Eastern States, very pretty battles are in progress in Connecticut, New Jersey and Massachusetts, while Pennsylvania will be watching itself.

In New York the personality of ex-President Roosevelt and his spectacular victory over the old guard has given more than ordinary importance to the battle.

ALLEGED ALLIANCE. The Republicans are striving to make the issue in the State campaign the alleged alliance between Tammany Hall and Wall Street, while the Democrats insist that the dominant issue is whether or not Roosevelt shall get in absolute control of the New York Republican machine, force his own nomination in 1912 for President, with the idea of becoming the Diaz of the United States.

APATHY OF VOTERS. The most striking feature of the campaign so far has been the apathy and indifference of the great mass of voters.

The registration has been in the city and up State reflects the "don't care" attitude of the voters. Just what it means depends on whether a Republican or Democrat explains it.

The Tammany leaders profess to have no fear of the Independence League, declaring it will pull more votes from the Republicans than from the Democrats, but there is no denying the fact that they would give a good deal to be sure of it.

DEMOCRATIC VICTORY. As it stands tonight the situation in New York favors a Democratic victory.

Whether the personality of Roosevelt and his red-hot campaigning tactics will change this remains to be seen. In Massachusetts the Democrats have gotten into such a muddle over the gubernatorial nomination that they probably have killed whatever chances they may have had to carry the State. The convention mix-up, it was admitted, a good one.

MAKES STRONG FIGHT. Judge Simon Baldwin is making a strong fight in Connecticut and is confident he will beat Goodwin, the Republican nominee, and the Democratic leaders express confidence that he will carry it if not two Congressmen in with him, with a chance of capturing the legislature and sending a Democratic ticket to the State in place of Senator Ricketts.

The Republicans are hopeful, but are not confident.

In New Jersey, President Woodrow Wilson of Princeton is making a whirlwind campaign. He has developed remarkable ability as a campaigner and the New Jersey Democrats are more confident and aggressive than they have been in twenty years.

LEWIS WORKS HARD. Lewis, the Republican candidate for Governor, is also working hard and is making a strong canvass (the fight). Both sides express confidence. To the unbiased observer it looks as though Wilson will put the Republican majority down to the nearest possible point if he does not put it out altogether.

What effect the changes in the campaign will have on the election for Governor of Pennsylvania, who is now in a tight place, cannot be said. It would not be surprising, however, if it were to be a heavy swing in the Republican favor.

Physician Is Held On Murder Charge.

Young Woman Accuses Him of Malpractice in an Antemortem Statement.

MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 15.—Dr. W. J. Sledge of this city was arrested today on an indictment charging murder in the second degree as the result of the death of Miss Burgess, who made an antemortem statement that a criminal operation had been performed.

The accused physician has stated that this operation was performed before he had taken the treatment of the woman and that his treatment was designed to save her life. Friends of the doctor welcome the fact that the case is given to the court for trial, thus giving Sledge opportunity to counteract sensational rumors.

COAST RATE WAR ON STEAMSHIPS BEGINS

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—A passenger rate war was begun today by the San Francisco and Los Angeles routes of the second degree as the result of the death of Miss Burgess, who made an antemortem statement that a criminal operation had been performed.

The second-cabin rate to San Diego on the Governor or President is $1.00, and the rate on the Santa Rosa to San Diego has been cut from $1.25 to $1.00.

JOHNSON GIVEN WELCOME BY THROGS OF VOTERS Republican Candidate for Governor Ends Campaign in Sonoma County With Great Rally

SANTA ROSA, Oct. 15.—Three thousand people crowded the floor and gallery of the pavilion rink tonight and extended an enthusiastic reception to Hiram Johnson, Republican candidate for Governor. In point of size it was one of the greatest political gatherings in the history of Santa Rosa and from the standpoint of enthusiasm was among the best of Johnson's meetings of the present campaign.

The meetings was the climax of Johnson's campaign in Sonoma county, which began this morning at Cloverdale and took the candidate on a record-breaking run throughout the day to make many widely separated points.

ENTHUSIASTIC RECEPTION. The reception of the Republican leader during the entire day was most enthusiastic and the interest taken in his fight here was indicated by the profuse decorations, including his portrait, in many of the business houses and the leading hotels. The big skating rink, which was the only structure in town large enough to hold the expectant crowd, presented a gala appearance.

HALL IS CROWDED. When Johnson entered the hall at 8 o'clock standing space was at a premium and the gallery had been closed. The leader's entry started an ovation which lasted during several minutes as he took his seat beside Joseph Barry, chairman of the Republican county committee, who also acted as chairman of the meeting.

NO SIGN OF FATIGUE. Although Johnson and his party had traveled more than 170 miles during the day and the candidate had made five speeches, he showed no trace of fatigue.

Johnson plunged quickly into the issues of the campaign and charged that the Southern Pacific and allied interests were arrayed on the side of Democracy to accomplish the defeat of the insurgent movement.

"The press agents south of the Tehachas," said Johnson, referring to the Democratic leader, "herald him as the conservative business men's candidate. When, in the name of heaven, did he become conservative? Was it when he began to reach out for the votes or was it when he began to modify his utterances on the great dominant problem, the issue of slavery? Heretofore, and the Southern Pacific from control of government?"

ARRAIGNS HIS OPPONENT. "These same press agents also picture me as a radical demagogue. If our distinguished opponent will cease being a conservative in the Southland and at the same time trying to be radical in the San Joaquin valley, we will gladly accord him the privilege of being the conservative. Let him choose."

The only question remaining in this great struggle, said Johnson in summing up, "is whether there are enough citizens in California without the collar of the Southern Pacific around their necks or their hands upon their throats to do their duty in the fight for political freedom."

GETS HEARTY WELCOME. Johnson arrived at Cloverdale at 11:30 o'clock this morning and was met by a reception committee from Santa Rosa, which made the trip in six gaily decorated automobiles.

After the meeting at Cloverdale Johnson was escorted to Geyserville and Mendocino at each of which places he spoke briefly.

At Healdsburg Johnson addressed an audience of about 600 in the plaza. Later at Santa Rosa Johnson addressed an audience which crowded the town hall to its utmost capacity.

At Petaluma the Republican candidate addressed an open-air meeting of about 700. He was given a very cordial reception.

The trip to Santa Rosa was made in record-breaking time. Johnson leaves here for San Francisco tomorrow morning.

Congressman Knowland Talks at Wallace Meeting

A. J. Wallace, Republican candidate for Lieutenant governor, had one of the busiest days of the campaign yesterday making speeches in several towns before large and enthusiastic audiences.

Wallace was accompanied on his tour by Lee C. Gates of Los Angeles.

Wallace and Gates left Stockton yesterday morning, and stopped at Livermore and Pleasanton, where the former received a royal welcome. Large numbers of voters turned out at both places and listened with interest to his addresses. The meeting at Livermore was held at 1 o'clock and at Pleasanton at 3 o'clock.

Last night Wallace and Gates arrived in Centerville, where they were joined by Congressman Joseph R. Knowland and State Senator John W. Stetson of this city.

OVERFLOW ATTENDANCE. A meeting was held last night at Centerville under the auspices of the Johnson-Wallace Club of Washington. The overflowed attendance was estimated at 1,000.

Congressman Knowland said: "The Republican party of California is responsible for the direct primary law. The principle was introduced at the state convention four years ago and a legislative Republican in both branches of the state legislature permitted the enactment of an effective direct primary law. This constitutional amendment was overwhelmingly adopted and the people are now holding which action the next legislature, also Republican in both branches, enacted the present law. There is no question but that the people selected the nominees to the August primary."

"During recent years there has been a growing demand that more power be given the people in political matters. The people have shown that they are capable of increased power. For any Republican now to fail to support the ticket is an evidence of a lack of faith in the wisdom and judgment of the people. To support some nominee and fail to support others would be aiming a blow at the direct primary that would destroy its future usefulness."

SHOULD SUPPORT TICKET. "Republicans should not only support the ticket but endorse the platform as well. Had any single individual dictated the platform perhaps plans might have been added for other eliminations, but platforms, like legislation, are the result of compromises. The Republican state platform represents the judgment of a majority of the members of our party and in this country majorities rule."

"The Republican party has been the progressive party of this nation. The legislation it has enacted furnishes the most striking proof of this assertion. It has unflinchingly faced every emergency which has arisen and has guided the nation safely through every great crisis. But the party is responsive, and always has been, to all demands for genuine reform. The Republican party will have at least the welfare of the party, recognizing the sentiment which prevails for the enactment of additional legislation along certain progressive lines, are the most important ones."

REVIEWS LEGISLATION. In closing Congressman Knowland reviewed the progressive legislation enacted by Congress during the past six years, spending particularly of the pure food law, the meat inspection act, the regulation of common carriers, the postal savings bank law and other important measures. He paid tribute to President Taft and urged the support of the Republican candidates for the state and the county tickets.

Attempt to Mulct State Employees Is Repudiated

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—Chairman Meyer Lissner of the Republican State Central Committee has addressed a communication to President Stanford of the State Education Commission, in which, seeking for the governing body of the Republican party in California he repudiates any and all attempts to collect contributions to the Johnson campaign from public employees.

Chairman Lissner wrote to the president of the Harbor Commission as follows:

October 15, 1910.
Hon. W. A. Stanford, Harbor Commissioner, San Francisco, Cal.

Dear Sir:—Confirming our conversation had at the luncheon tendered to Mr. William W. Johnson at the Palace Hotel on yesterday I desire to say:

COLLECTIONS BEING MADE. It has come to the notice of these headquarters that collections are being made among the State employees on the water front with the avowed purpose of turning the amounts so collected into the campaign fund of the Republican State Central Committee.

The platform adopted by the Republican State Convention this year declares for the introduction of the merit system in the public service. Under such a system collections from public employees who would naturally come under civil service classifications would not be tolerated; and this committee feels obligated to observe the sanction of the Republican platform, although the provision referred to has not yet been enacted into law.

Under the circumstances, if the matter has come under your observation, it is requested that you inform me of the same.

Very truly,
M. LISSNER,
Chairman State Central Committee.

FOSTER CLUB MEETS. The Dan T. Foster branch of the Regular Republican Johnson-Wallace Club of the Third District held a meeting Friday night at Twenty-ninth and Mission streets. Dan T. Foster presided and spoke for the party in the interest of the Republican ticket.

Several candidates were present and addressed the meeting, including R. B. McClellan, Franklin P. Bull and George H. Zahns, nominees for Judges of the Superior Court; Charles E. Creighton and A. T. Barnett, nominees for Justices of the Peace; Edward T. Bryant, nominee for State Senator; Superintendent of Schools, Alfred Roncovieri and Railroad Commissioner Harvey D. Loveland.

Chairman Fred G. Sarborn of the Republican County Committee was a guest. He spoke on the subject of district and precinct organization and urged the necessity of harmonizing all the warring factions in the Republican party.

NEWLANDS IN ARENA FOR BELL

Big San Francisco Gathering Addressed by Bourbon Solon.

He Urges Voters to Cast Ballot for Democratic Standard Bearer.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—Before a large and responsive audience in the Novety theater tonight United States Senator Francis G. Newlands of Nevada championed the cause of Democracy and the Republican party to a comparison of records upon which to bid for public favor.

The occasion has a general Democratic rally under the joint auspices of the Bell-Spellacy club of San Francisco and the Democratic county committee.

CANDIDATES ARE ABSENT. Theodore A. Bell was not there, nor was Timothy B. Spellacy, both being out on their respective tours. The Democratic county committee could have chosen no better exponent of the principles in which the fight for supremacy is being made this year than the old Democratic Senator from sister state who talked from the Novety stage tonight.

NEWLANDS WELL KNOWN. Senator Newlands is known to San Francisco, for he has large interests here and he has led to San Francisco audiences before. Tonight he was at his happiest, for he told the Democrats before him what they most wanted to hear—that there was nothing in the Democratic party to be feared, no reason save the caprice of the hour for deserting its ranks in favor of a so-called progressive Republicanism that promised to surrender the Democratic lead from the hillsides for ages past.

There were other speakers at the meeting, but they were all candidates; consequently it was not possible for the speaker to survey the battleground from the viewpoint of a general officer and describe the struggle as it appeared to him.

DEMOCRATS STATED CRUSADE. Referring to the progressive movement, Mr. Newlands said: "It originated with the campaign of 1906, in which the Democratic party raised the cry of protest against the existing extension of our progress, and embraced every feature of the contentions since so vigorously voiced by Roosevelt, La Follette and Cunniff."

"The Republican party, once the party of liberty and progress, had, through long continuance in power, become corrupt and inert, the easy prey of power in the hands of a few, and the spoliation of the people through the usurpation and perversion of the powers of legislation."

"Every platform of the Democratic party since 1906 has been a declaration of the legislation and administration of the Republican party, an indictment to which the Republican party, through such leaders as Roosevelt, Cunniff, La Follette, Burton and Beveridge, has pleaded guilty. Every plank of every progressive Republican platform which, after long contentions, has been adopted is but a replica of previous Democratic platforms."

ROOSEVELT A PUPIL OF BRYAN. "Roosevelt, the denuncator of Bryan in 1906, has become his pupil and follower in 1910. So much so that the reactionary papers throughout the country, with a few exceptions, have declared that Roosevelt, as plaintiff in parallel columns the utterances of Bryan and Roosevelt, almost identical in spirit and even in the form of expression."

Mr. Newlands urged the movement for the restoration of popular rights and to the emphasis given it by the Democratic platform of 1906, in which he said: "We declare to be 'Shall the people rule?'"

"This," he said, "was presented by Mr. Bryan and has since become the demand of the progressive minority of the Republican party. The difference between the two parties is that ever since 1896 the Democratic party has pressed this issue, in its legislation and administration, and has been engaged in legislative and administrative tending to the advancement and security of the trusts, monopolies and special interests."

PARTY NEEDS CASTIGATION. "The movement within the Republican party is an indictment of this legislation and administration, and yet the progressive in that party least that it should be indicted in power, although they admit it has grossly abused power."

"The only way to reform a party originally progressive and which has become corrupt is to cast it out of power and to make it again a suppliant for the people's favor, and to make it again a party of the people."

"The opposition to the progressive policies of Roosevelt came from his own party, the Republican party. It is the progressive Republicanism that has been enacted by the Democratic party. The place for progressive Republicanism is in the Democratic party. No party has ever yet reformed itself while in power."

CONTRASTED WITH NEVADA. Mr. Newlands referred to the contrast between the legislative and administrative record of California and Nevada during the last decade. California under Republican rule, Nevada under Democratic rule. The former, according to him, had spent the last decade in the hands of the Southern Pacific. The latter under Democratic rule had been dominated by the Southern Pacific.

"Nevada during the last decade has adopted the initiative and referendum and is about to adopt the constitutional amendment, the recall. She has instituted the direct primary, the office of United States Senator. She has provided for an eight-hour day, and the employee's liability and measures beneficial to labor. She has organized a railroad commission, which fully regulates and

BIG DEMOCRATIC RALLY GREETED BELL IN REDDING Bourbon Standard Leader Is Accorded Hearty Reception on Advent in Northern Town

REDDING, Oct. 15.—This city is in a wild state of enthusiasm over the advent of Bell and Spellacy, the Democratic nominees for governor and lieutenant-governor, here tonight. The occasion has been made the motive of an old-time Democratic rally, such as have almost passed out of the knowledge of modern politicians.

The firing of guns and roman candles, a torchlight procession and the clanging of numerous bells, played a noisy part in the demonstration upon the arrival of the candidates at the county seat of Shasta county.

STORES ARE CLOSED. Stores closed up at an early hour for Saturday night so that all employees could have the opportunity of hearing the candidates talk at Armory hall, which was crowded with people and was packed to suffocation.

Bell took occasion again to call attention to Johnson's refusal to tell what he had employed him during the graft prosecution in San Francisco, and how much he had been paid, and in this connection said:

"Now Mr. Johnson spoke at San Francisco and he was asked the question, but he did not dare to answer these questions. However, I intend to ask them every night and every day until the campaign closes, knowing that he cannot truthfully answer them without showing that he was paid at least $10,000 for his part in the San Francisco graft prosecutions."

ASKS QUESTIONS. "I do not like to press these embarrassing questions on Mr. Johnson, but when he makes attacks on me my Yankee blood boils and I insist that Mr. Johnson tell the people of California who hired him and how much he was paid."

"He asks me why I did not help. He knows that I was exposing the infamy of Ruff and Herrin and their whole crowd all over the state. I do not like to press these embarrassing questions upon Mr. Johnson, but when he attacks me with cowardly insinuations my Yankee blood boils. So I must ask him again to explain."

Mr. Johnson says that he has paid the people of California who paid him and how much he was paid."

The audience roared its approval. Then Bell recalled the campaign of 1906 and reiterated his determination to eliminate the influence of special privilege in the state government.

"I tell you that if I am elected Governor," he said, "there will be an end of railroad monopoly in California. I do not care whether the manipulator be William B. Herrin or any other satellite of the Southern Pacific."

Mr. Johnson says that he has grown a wee bit suspicious of me. That is the talk of a gossip who would try to whisper away one's reputation. In my estimation the gossip is the most dangerous creature in the world."

Mr. Johnson has any charge to make against me, let him come with it. Then, if I cannot disprove it, the people can make him Governor."

HEARTY APPLAUSE. Throughout his address, Bell was fervidly applauded. The audience agreed with him when he declared that there were measures of industrial development to be carried out after the destruction of the railroad monopoly and domination. It approved his promise to take the schools and public institutions out of politics and to stop the frequent and useless changing of the book.

The special train left Woodland at 8 o'clock this morning. Short stops were made at Yolo and Dunnigan and the first rally was held at Arbutus. On the night of November 2 he is to appear in Oakland and November 5 in San Jose.

Chairman DeWitt of the State Committee yesterday received a communication from John W. Mitchell, the lawyer and Democrat of Los Angeles, accepting an invitation to take the stump for Bell and Spellacy in the Democratic campaign.

Mitchell, beginning October 24, in the northern part of the state and including an appearance in San Francisco on October 26.

State Senator J. B. Sanford of Ukiah is to go out on tour with I. G. Zumwalt, the Democratic nominee for governor.

MEETINGS AT WILLIAMS. The next meeting was at Williams. There Bell, Spellacy and Judge Gestford were escorted to Masonic Hall in which about 400 people awaited them. The nominees for governor and lieutenant-governor were given a hearty welcome. It was a gathering that gave evidence of a far-reaching interest in the campaign. Farmers here and drive twenty miles to hear the man in whose leadership they for years had confidence. Automobiles were taken at that point for a fast run to Colusa. There a large crowd was in waiting in the country house park. Bell spoke for half an hour and was given a great send off when he left hurriedly for the return to the special train which had been run on up to Maxwell.

HALL IS CROWDED. By this time, Bell was a half hour behind his schedule, but he found the hall in Maxwell full. Everyone in the town was there. All pleas of business and even the schools, having been closed in his honor. From Maxwell, the special train ran on to Willows where Benjamin F. Gels had prepared luncheon. Bell addressed six hundred people near the depot and as he proclaimed his broad principles, he met with the warmest possible response.

MAKES MANY ADDRESSES. A ten-minute stop was next made at Germantown. The nomination for governor spoke to him before the train carried him on to Orland, the town where, according to the prediction of his friends, he will receive 80 per cent of the total vote. Orland has a vigorous work of Bell in congress which made possible the has steadily raised the railroad assessment in the district of a just proportion.

SURPASSES ALL BUT TWO. The action of the Democratic party in that state has been so pronounced in favor of popular rights that the Republican platform induces and promises to maintain the railroad commission and the people near the depot and as he proclaimed his broad principles, he met with the warmest possible response.

"Nevada under Democratic administration has surpassed all other states except Wisconsin and Oregon in progressive legislation. Think how California might have advanced on the progressive line under the Democratic administration of such men as Theodore A. Bell."

Mr. Bell spoke in the highest terms of Mr. Bell's public career, referring to his prominence in Congress, in national campaigns and his conspicuous speech as temporary chairman of the Democratic convention.

FORECASTS VICTORY FOR DIX IN NEW YORK

Louisiana's Former Governor Expects Democratic Nominee to Be Elected.

INSURGENCY ON WANE THROUGHOUT THE WEST

William Pitt Kellogg Says the South Is Safety-Valve of the Nation.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Former Governor William Pitt Kellogg of Louisiana, who has just returned from a trip to New York, takes a pessimistic view of Republican chances in that State and country at large.

"From all I have seen and heard," he said, "I am led to the conclusion that Dix will be the victor in the New York State political fight."

REMARKABLE SITUATION. "It is a remarkable situation, but there are remarkable times, for it is not often that we witness Republicans of prominence repudiating their ticket and its maker, as they are doing in that State. Insurgency in general throughout the West, I believe, is on the wane. A reaction appears to have come among the people."

SOUTH SAFETY VALVE. "I once thought the West and South would pull together in matters political. The wave of Bryanism, then the wave of temperance, seemed to have the south sections in their grip. But I have changed my mind about the situation in that respect. That section of our country is to be the safety-valve of the Republic."

SOUTH IS CONSERVATIVE. "It is to the South that we must look for that conservatism that is to save the country from radicalism that menaces. The South is a firm believer in the policy of protection. Its mining and manufacturing interests are developing and moving and growing with wonderful rapidity. The people are prosperous and in all walks of life the wage earner is making good money and the capitalist finds a profit from his investments."

SOUTH IS PROSPEROUS. "The southern states are growing and the census reports thus far issued show that the increase in that region has been greater than in any other part of the country. There are few if any labor troubles in the South and the people respect and honor the courts. In industrial conditions in the South are healthy and, coupled with the natural conservatism of the people means much for the general prosperity of the whole United States."

POLICEMAN RETIRES WITH LARGE FORTUNE

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—Policeman Anton Klenger was retired last week. He has $200,000 accumulated in the forty years he has been in the department. Here are his rules:

Never play any gambling game. Never report late for duty. Always be respectful to your superior. Always turn your money over to your wife, and invest it in good real estate.

"When I looked the force," said Klenger, "I was worth $250. As an officer I was paid $65 a month at the start. Every pay day that money was turned over to my wife. To help our earnings she and I sewed for tailor shops evenings. When we had collected the first $1000 we invested it in real estate, which was sold at a good profit a year later. After the first thousand the rest is easy."

AMERICAN WIFE THINKS ONLY OF HERSELF, SAYS MATE OF TOKIO'S MAYOR

If Women of This Country Would Think More of Duty Toward Family, There Would Be Fewer Divorces, Declares Madame Yekino Ozaki

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—"The Japanese wife thinks first of her duty toward her family, the American wife of her duty toward herself," declares Madame Yekino Ozaki, the wife of the Mayor of Tokyo and is now here with her husband.

"First of all, the Japanese woman is nearly always a wife," she continued. "Before she is married she is not a woman but a girl. The unmarried woman is decidedly the exception. I understand the case is different in America. With us all the young girls are looked after by their mothers and fathers. They are carefully provided with husbands."

"We don't think people ought to marry unless they are in love," was suggested. Mrs. Ozaki frowned a bit.

CALIF LOVE TRANSIENT. "This love—it is a very transient thing," she said rather impatiently. "It is not a sensible reason for marrying. It is much better for the wise parents to pick out good men for their daughters. If you adopt that method how you would not have so many divorces."

"Then again the Japanese wife differs from the American. We have a much smaller number of divorces. This is because the wife is not all the time thinking of herself and what is due to her. She thinks of the happiness of her family and she tries to make it happy. Instead of imagining wrongs or nursing them at least. If the women of the west would sacrifice themselves more, if they strive toward the ideal of family happiness instead of individual happiness then your divorces would be reduced."

SHOULD NOT BE IMPOSSIBLE. "I don't believe that divorce should be impossible, however. Now, one wrong in our system is the fact that the law for women and men is not the same. Either can get a divorce for cruelty or unfaithfulness or desertion."

"But the injustice is by our law the children always belong to the father and no matter how bad he is, the wife cannot take them away from him when she leaves him."

"So the wives will suffer almost anything rather than ask for separation."

"And as for the children, we have them in nearly every home. We consider them blessings and that house without them is indeed unfortunate. I am told that many of your women don't feel like that."

"We don't have women's clubs, but we have societies. We have a great patriotic society for women, and a society for the study of sanitation and health and a society for the promotion of education. In all these we try to do real work, to justify the existence of our assemblies. You have some women's clubs with similar aims. But you have many others that seem to

ALAMEDA COUNTY PEOPLE IN PARIS MAY SUFFER

Strike Disturbances in French Capital Cause Alarm Among Relatives Here.

Recent developments in the Paris strike in which dynamite and famine are mentioned prominently, have caused anxiety to the relatives and friends of a large number of Alameda county people who are at present in the French capital. Owing to the tying up of practically all trains, no mail has been received for some time, and the report that a scarcity of food is now being felt even in the more aristocratic portions of the metropolis, has added to the anxiety manifested.

Among the Alameda county people now in Paris are the following:

FROM OAKLAND.

MISS ELIZABETH SIMPSON, FREDERICK TYLER, JOSEPH ROSBOROUGH AND MOTHER, MRS. A. M. ROSBOROUGH.

MRS. A. A. PENNOVER AND TWO SONS, RICHARD AND SHELDON PENNOVER.

MRS. J. L. HOWARD, DAUGHTER AND SON.

FROM BERKELEY.

MRS. S. J. SILL. Since the opening of the strike there have been practically no trains moving from Paris, and travelers now in the capital are practically cut off there. Recent reports from Paris state that the government has the situation well in hand, although clashes with the police have been frequent.

The American colony is unusually large at present, containing many of the best known society people of the United States as well as the west. The fear that Americans may receive injuries or suffer if conditions grow worse is becoming acute.

DENVER PRESSMEN GO OUT ON STRIKE

Abrogate Working Schedule With News, Post and Republican; Foremen Stay.

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 15.—The pressmen, with the exception of the foremen, employed by the Rocky Mountain News, the Denver Post and the Denver Republican, struck at 5 o'clock tonight, thereby arbitrarily abrogating a working schedule which extended to December 31 of this year.

The papers involved will be able to get out their Sunday morning papers by the aid of the foremen, who refused to go out.

The Denver Times and the Express are not involved in the strike, having signed up a new agreement.

Special police are now guarding the plants of the three newspapers involved in the strike.

ALAMEDA, Oct. 15.—Members of Company G, National Guard of California, arrived home shortly after 3 o'clock this morning, leaving the train which conveyed them from Atascadero at Fruitvale and marched to Alameda.

Although it was possible for the company to continue the journey to the mole and sleep until daylight, the hardened soldiers decided to march into Alameda from Fruitvale. All of the men are in the best possible condition, and carry a coat of tan that is evidence, if long hours in the sun.

The officers of Company G are Captain Russell McConnell, Lieutenant C. P. Magagnoli and Lieutenant J. H. Miller. Both officers and men of the company are profuse in their praise of military field life and the manner in which Camp Atascadero was conducted. During the two weeks they spent at the Rancho del Encinal, the name of the property where the camp was located. The instruction received will prove a valuable asset to the company. The First Regiment, left Atascadero at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. During their stay Lieutenant Magagnoli

INSANITY GROWS IN GERMAN ARMY

Military Surgeon Attributes Alarming Increase to Demands on Brain.

BERLIN, Oct. 15.—The statement of Dr. Krause, a military surgeon of Berlin, in which he submits statistics to prove his assertions that during the last twelve years cases of insanity in the German army have doubled, has caused widespread astonishment in military circles.

Dr. Krause claims this increase is due to the greater demand on the soldier's brain and their physical endurance. In the past, he says, it is due to the sudden and rapid changes in climate during voyages.

He claims that the increased tax on the mental and physical endurance of soldiers during this period is wonderful. While giving the figures in South Africa, he says, he in a hundred of the German soldiers suffered mental collapse.

ROOSEVELT HAS VERY BAD THROAT

Must Give Voice Complete Rest or Will Have to Abandon Campaign.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Colonel Roosevelt arrived in New York City early today from the tour of the South and West, tired and with a bad attack of hoarseness due to his many speeches. The condition of his throat made it necessary for Ezra P. Prentice, chairman of the Republican campaign committee, to revise his itinerary through the State entirely.

Col. Roosevelt will make twenty-three speeches in the State between this and election day. He will also make several speeches in New Hampshire, responding to earnest requests from the Republican managers in that State to take part in their campaign.

The changes in his itinerary were made after a visit to his physician, who treated his throat. His physician told him that if he did not give his voice a complete rest and reduce materially the number of speeches he was to make he would not be able to finish the campaign.

As a result of this advice, many of for him this week.

Ball Planned for Dreamland Rink Next Saturday Night, Will Draw Throng.

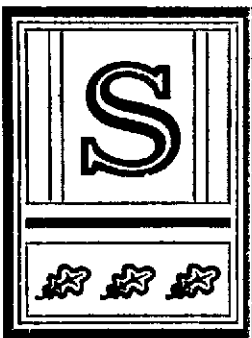

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—In order to provide funds for the proper entertainment of the delegates to its International Union Convention to be held in this city next August, San Francisco Typographers' Union No. 21 is giving a ball at Dreamland Rink next Saturday night.

The committee under whose auspices the affair is to be given has for the past two months been perfecting arrangements. Provision has been made for an orchestra, while others of the same committee are Eugene Donovan, Elmer Truitt, Louis O'Brien, Leo Michelson, A. J. Mott and Harry Miller.

One of the Truly Great Ideas for the EXPOSITION SITE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—One of the truly great ideas for an exposition site in 1915 is the one put forward by Clarence R. Ward, the architect. It is a view of the case that has no self-seeking or log-rolling in it, and it is sure to gain honest consideration when the great question comes up for consideration.

Ward's plan is to locate the exposition so it may be a distinctively marine show—the first salt water exposition of them all. The event is to celebrate the joining of two oceans, and Ward insists that such an occasion demands marine pageants and not the customary splashings of fresh-water fountains.

So he has suggested that the big fair be located in the territory along the bay shore between Black Point and the Presidio, taking in a little of both these Federal reservations. It certainly is not an infeasible plan, for apart from a power house and two gas plants there are no erections on the tract that might be considered at all permanent.

In the territory are the Harbor View gardens, a beauty spot; an old baseball park, Lobos Square and a big natural salt-water basin that could be used for all sorts of pageantry. Black Point and the Presidio already offer fine park vista, and the "navies of the world" could easily display in the deep water between the Golden Gate and Alcatraz, Sausalito, Belvedere, Angel Island and the San Francisco shore. The shelter is better than in most of the sites suggested, and if it is to be a marine festival it is hard to pick out a more advantageous site than the one suggested by the brilliant architect and club man. However, we are still far from the blissful time when we will select the site.

A New Orleans View

Among the bankers who recently were "in our midst" was Sol Wexler of New Orleans, who came particularly to lobby for his home city's ambitions regarding that exposition. Wexler is a hustler, and he got along fairly well with his fellow bankers until he let his tongue slip a bit. He had been up against some of the country's financiers from New York State and New England, and he said with a sneer:

"Seventy-five per cent of these New York and Yankee bankers never rode in a Pullman before they came on this excursion."

When this remark was circulated among the financial pilgrims the chances for New Orleans getting a boost for that big fair went down close to zero. But I do not know what would have happened had they heard the comment of the Palace Hotel bellhop, who said:

"Say, you couldn't jar one of those guys loose from a quarter with a dynamite bomb."

Jimmy, O Where Was He?

Where is James D. Phelan? Here is a political campaign going at full blast. Here are Democratic candidates straining at every leash. Here is a Democratic committee afflicted with the chronic need of money. Here is every opportunity for a man who aspires to be United States Senator. But there is no Phelan on the scene.

In the past, Phelan has always been a stout champion of Theodore A. Bell. But now there is no Phelan to lift his voice in praise of the tall young man recently from Napa. The millionaire was to have been home from his travels on September 1st, or thereabouts. But here we are within three weeks of an election and no Phelan whiskers adorn our horizon.

The Democrats are beginning to grumble and to say that Jimmy is untrue to the party that has so often honored him and they suspect that he is secretly aiding the campaign of Hiram Johnson. In any event James is not on hand, and the fight is nearing a close.

Kent and His Mamma

William Kent, the millionaire reformer who is running for Congress in the Second District, is known among the bourgeoisie as a practical man with reform notion or as a reformer with practical notions. Many are the tales of how he spends his money lavishly and makes it count in his campaigning. Among the latest is this:

Kent was going through his district and wooing the voters as Jupiter wooed Danae, when one of his constituents noting that he had ordered up a special train, asked:

"Isn't this campaigning very expensive?"

"Oh, very," replied the candidate, off his guard.

"But I thought the law limited the amount a candidate could spend in his pursuit of office?"

"Ah—ahem!" replied Kent, catching his breath a bit. "Ah, yes, yes! So it does. The law only permits a candidate to spend a certain proportion of his salary. But—ah, you see, I am not paying these bills. Oh, you know it is my mother who is financing my campaign."

No Jingle of the Federal Gold

Have you noticed that there is a singular lack of money from the Federal office-holders this campaign? The hat has not been passed around as of yore. There has been no "assessment" under the guise of a "voluntary contribution." Nothing is stirring in the Federal buildings. All the office-holders seem singularly afraid of being charged with "pernicious activity."

Four years ago these Federal officials got together and voluntarily assessed themselves three per cent of a year's salary to help along the campaign of Gillett and the Republican ticket. But this year the best Meyer Lissner and his colleagues have received is a little good advice on how to conduct a campaign. This advice was contributed by General George Stone, the veteran campaigner. But he did not contribute a cent with his advice. Lissner says he does not expect any money from the Federal brigade.

"Blessed are they who expect nothing, for they are sure to get it!"

Here's to Be Real Luxury

Inside of two months the Pacific Union Club will move into its new home on Nob Hill, the reconstructed brown-stone Flood mansion. The club will then have one of the most commodious and luxurious houses in the country, and Architect Willis Polk has promised to turn the building over with $20,000 saved from the original estimates.

You would hardly suspect the staid Pacific Union Club of such a thing, but they have almost a gymnasium in their new house. There is a great salt water tank for swimming, a squash court, a bowling alley and a complete Turkish bath establishment.

Hidden down in the entrails of the building is a tap-room with a heavy tiled floor and deadened walls. Here the Glue Club and the Goslings may conduct themselves as hilariously as they please without disturbing the older and sleeper members. I'm told that "Billy" Bourne is to present 10,000 volumes to the club library—that being the capacity of the shelves in the handsome room set apart for reading and reflection. Bruce Porter is doing some notable frescoes for the ceilings, and Arthur Putnam, the sculptor, has had in charge the plastic decorations.

Here's One to Tickle the Palate

Every little while the town gets started on a new drink and for a time everybody seems to abandon the old favorites for the new love. Perhaps our palates are a bit jaded, and like the Athenians are always crying out for some new thing. In any event, to those of the night-life, the man who invents a new drink is a far more important personage than the one who merely makes two blades of grass grow where only one grew before.

The latest to claim the honor is John Tait, the well-known cafe proprietor. He has given to a thirsty world what has become known as the "old-fashioned John Tait cocktail." It is built on the principle of our old-fashioned whisky cocktail, but is far more seductive. I asked the famous concocter for his recipe so I could give it to a dry and thirsty people, and he gave me this:

Take old-fashioned whisky cocktail glass. Put in a cube of ice and one-half a slice of orange.

Add one-half jigger of dry gin.

Add one-fourth jigger Italian vermouth.

Add one-fourth jigger French vermouth.

Make each cocktail separately; stir till well chilled, and serve in glass mixed in.

Here's An Appropriate Name

The automobile busses that carry visitors through the city and to the Cliff House and beach have long been known by their New York title of "Rubber-neck wagons." They are growing in number and apparently do a large business, with the megaphone men shouting themselves hoarse in giving more or less valuable misinformation about the city, its destruction and upbuilding and the general "points of interest."

But I never have felt satisfied with the name given the vehicle full of strangers until the other day when walking with big Joe Murphy, the wine man, he saw one of the big affairs come along and said smilingly:

"Here comes a chump chariot!"

On and Off the Band Wagon

There is much activity and also much unrest among the Republicans of this city. The Lincoln-Roosevelt Leaguers having carried the primary have taken possession of the band wagon and are inclined to resent an attempt of the old liners, or any other wing of the party, to get aboard that campaign vehicle. Not alone do the leaguers display animosity to any show of effort on the part of their former opponents to participate in the canvass, but they are theoretically clubbing all who approach the sacred precincts of control away from the center of action.

As a result of this practice, or policy, there is, in the phrase of the cattlemen of the plains, a good deal of "milling," both among the leaders and the rank and file of the organization. Not only are the regulars of the old organization restive under these conditions, but the leaguers are so resentful of any attempted interference with their pre-eminence in the party machine that the political leaders are kept busy and in a continued state of anxiety lest the Lincoln-Roosevelt leaguers go off again and herd by themselves.

There have been threats by the leaguers to do this, and also to get behind the hybrid tickets that have been put in the field by the Good Government Leaguers of Los Angeles and San Francisco. To prevent such a revolt the political managers are making much use of, and even working overtime, the campaign shibboleth of "a straight ticket."

Some of the insurgent division, with Meyer Lissner at their head, have sought to bring into line the regulars on an equal footing with the leaguers, believing that success at the polls in November can only be attained by a united party. But the extending of the olive branch to the primary vanquished regulars is followed by a paroxysm on the part of the leaguers, who refuse to relinquish any of the top seats on the band chariot to their recent political opponents.

I was told that George A. Knight was asked to make some speeches for the League-Republican ticket. Prior to the primary Knight was an active partisan of Charles F. Curry. Subsequent to the preliminary election Knight appeared of harmonious intent and attended the State Convention in his official capacity of National Committeeman from California. There he was given scant courtesy, if any consideration whatever, being left to find a seat as best he might on the side-steps of the platform and without invitation to speak or take a chair with the leaguers who were in command of the assembly.

Knight's reply to the invitation to take the campaign platform was not in the affirmative, and among his reasons for declining the invitation, the report runs was that while he was a Republican, he did not feel inclined to give his assistance to a canvass the main purpose of which was the assailing of some of his personal friends.

Cvertures were made to Alden Anderson that he act as campaign treasurer. This post of compliment and trust the defeated nominee for the Republican nomination for Governor is said to have declined on the ground that Hiram Johnson had not extended him the courtesy of replying to his letter congratulating the successful candidate on his nomination. At Republican headquarters it is stated that Anderson made a contribution to the campaign fund, and there his active participation in the Johnson campaign ceases.

Many campaign narratives of similar nature are in circulation wherever politicians gather in this city.

Municipal Candidates

Within the present State campaign, as conducted in San Francisco, a second canvass is going on which is no other than the building of a machine for the next municipal campaign, one year hence. Each political organization appears to be giving more attention to the framing up of the municipal fight for 1911 than it is to the State canvass, the latter being regarded as merely tributary to the former.

Candidates for the city contest are already being discussed. Quite a number of aspirants for Mayor already are struggling for such precedence as comes from standing in the limelight as chairman of committees and meetings and similar publicity.

For Johnson's mass meeting in this city last week James R. Long, banker and improvement club man of the Mission district, and who has long been regarded as in a receptive mood in relation to the Mayoralty, was first discussed for the chairmanship of that assembly. For some unexplained reason Long was shunted to one side and City Attorney Percy V. Long, another candidate for Mayor, was trotted out for chairman. The friends of Fred C. Sanborn, who are grooming him for Mayor, and who is chairman of the Republican County Committee, decided that he must not be overlooked, and they attempted to arrange that he call the meeting to order, but the Longs were too strong for them and he was turned down.

Laniel A. Ryan is also in the hands of his friends for this office and for a second time, while Charles F. Curry is regarded by his supporters as being as good as nominated and elected chief executive of San Francisco. And there is Supervisor Paul Bancroft and others of greater or lesser magnitude.

The tenders of nominations for Supervisors have been so numerous that fears are expressed that a corner in material for this office will be created. Over one hundred citizens have been urged to accept this political honor.

Aspirants for State appointments within the gift of the Governor are already being discussed, contingent upon the election of Hiram Johnson. Among these is former District Attorney Langdon, who is said to aspire to the office of Superintendent of State Banks, now held by Alden Anderson. Langdon, however, is reported as somewhat non-committal as to whether he is going to vote the Republican or Democratic ticket this year. Charles H. Bentley and Isidor Jacobs are in the list now being quoted for harbor commissioners.

Heney Sidetracked

The part that Francis J. Heney is to take in the present campaign continues a subject of whispered consultation among the politicians both at and about headquarters. While the special prosecutor, and political agitator was in Salt Lake City word was received here that he had arranged to come to California to assist in Hiram Johnson's canvass and to make several speeches for that candidate for Governor.

Then the Lincoln-Roosevelt League leaders began to get their heads very close together in secret meetings. Letters were sent to Heney at Salt Lake and Denver expressing deep appreciation of his proposed oratorical efforts, but reasoning with him that he might better advance the cause of Johnson by confining his rancorous rhetoric to the small towns of the interior of the State.

The Leaguers were far from being a unit in this policy and some of the long-hair element circulated a subscription list for a banquet to be tendered Heney on his arrival here and proceeded on the presumption that he would make the speeches as announced by himself.

On Heney's arrival in San Francisco he gave public notice that he had informed the State Central Committee that he was here subject to its order to take the stump for Johnson. That he received no encouragement is apparent from his having gone into the Second Congressional District to talk for Kent. Johnson is said to have regarded Heney's proposed oratorical contribution as of doubtful advantage to his canvass, and to have acquiesced in the suggestion that the special prosecutor confine his talks to villages and small towns.

The proposed banquet to Heney seems to have passed out of the present consideration, at any rate, of the Heneyites and a Johnson luncheon for last Friday was substituted. Heney is still a subject of much contention among the Lincoln-Roosevelt Leaguers, one faction warning him not to butt in, while the other is still in hopes that he may yet take the stump for Johnson. That the nominee for Governor anticipated the present situation is indicated by his having, in preparing his platform itinerary, specially arranged that no one should accompany him, not even A. J. Wallace, his running mate and candidate for Lieutenant-Governor. In this way Johnson has seemingly most effectually "kissed off" Heney.

Tarpey for Bell

Among the old line Democrats who have been shy of their party ticket for many years and who are now rallying to the support of Bell and Spellacy is M. F. Tarpey of Fresno. Tarpey, who is well known not only by the Democrats in California, but by members of the Bourbon party throughout the country, having been national committeeman from this State for a long period, was in San Francisco last week and announced, "I am going to do what I can to help elect Bell. I am opposed to long-hairs and always have been." Tarpey returned to Fresno, "to put his house in order," and will be back in San Francisco in a few days to take up the fight. He is a grower of grapes and fruits and has recently completed the construction of a large winery on his Fresno place. It is understood that his political activities will be along the line of organizing an anti-Prohibition movement.

Smith May Be Appointed

The recurring rumor that United States District Judge De Haven is about to retire from the Federal bench is with us again. The story this time comes from Washington, D. C., and runs that the highly esteemed jurist, who has suffered much of late from ill health, wishes to return to private life and practice. General James Smith, at one time San Francisco's own "Captain Jim," later Civil Governor of the Philippines and now one of the judges of the Customs Court, is mentioned with a large measure of positiveness as the successor of De Haven.

Judge Smith is much dissatisfied at Washington, D. C., largely for the reason that the climate of the National Capital does not agree with his wife and other members of his family. "Then, too," remarked a friend of his, "Captain Jim is California crazy anyway and had better live here than anywhere else on the face of the earth."

The return of Judge Smith to San Francisco will be facilitated by the fact that two members of the Customs Court—himself and Marion De Vries—are both from California. It is somewhat unusual to make two selections to such an important judicial post from one State, and there are many in other States who will warmly indorse the appointment of Smith to the district bench and the selection of one of their fellow citizens to succeed him on the Customs bench.

Advices from Washington are that the matter is practically settled and that "Captain Jim" will soon be among his old friends, and associates once more.

Kid Sullivan's Struggle

The desperate legal and political fight that "Kid" Sullivan, "King of the pickpockets," is making to evade the order of Chief of Police Seymour that he either leave San Francisco or go to jail has for its motive other than a desire to remain in this city, where he has followed his unlawful trade for many a moon. The "Kid" has a reputation among his ilk of being a "stool-pigeon." So bitter is the enmity of many of the pickpockets and other petty thieves that Sullivan does not consider his life would be secure in any city other than San Francisco. While visiting Chicago not long ago the "Kid" was attacked by criminals of his own class, who, to settle some old scores, threw him into Lake Michigan, from which he was rescued with difficulty, more dead than alive.

"Kid" Sullivan's present struggle is practically one for self-preservation, and in it he is being aided by citizens of this community whose names, if made known, would cause State-wide surprise by reason of their high standing. Mayor McCarthy, Chief Seymour and others in authority are being importuned daily and almost hourly in the "Kid's" behalf.

Search for Lost Jewels

The departure of Miss Jennie Crocker for New York a day or two ago with her brother, Templeton, and Henry T. Scott, the confidential business adviser of herself and brother, has caused persistent rumors among some of their friends as to one of the reasons for the journey. About a year ago Miss Crocker, while present at a reception and ball at the St. Francis Hotel, was robbed of a $30,000 pearl necklace. The robbery caused a big sensation for days. No trace of the robbers, or the pearl necklace, was ever found. Previous to that time Templeton Crocker either had stolen from him or lost, a $5000 pearl pin. News of that incident was suppressed at the time. This pin at one time was the property of his father, Colonel F. C. Crocker. The latter once had it stolen from him and Tiffany, the New York jeweler, bought it by asking no questions and returned it to Colonel Crocker. It is known that Tiffany, under instructions, has been on the lookout for all of these valuables ever since they disappeared, seeking to get them by asking no questions from the sellers. Now, according to persistent whisperings here and there among their friends, the trio have received word the pearls may be quietly obtained through Tiffany, and have gone on for that purpose, although ostensibly there are other reasons for the journey. What basis of fact there may be in this gossip, it is hard to say. Stranger things have happened and will continue to do so. One thing is certain. The Crockers will forego prosecution and pay handsomely to get valuables back. They shun any more publicity about the missing pearls.

Tale of the Jap

Here is a tale of the Jap, his flower monopoly and his patriotism:

Forty-seven of the shrewd subjects of the Mikado in the bay region control the flower trade of San Francisco. They have as a flower exchange a large hall at 327 Bush street where their white customers are in the habit of going every morning to make their purchases. There was a time when the Jap brought his floral wares to the white man's store. That time has gone by. A few days ago these forty-seven Japanese served notice on their white customers that no more credit would be allowed. Everything has to be paid for in cash. Apparently, the only reason for this rule is that cash payments save expenses in the way of bookkeeping and collecting. The Japanese admit their losses by the credit system have been small. They simply want cash and are in a position to demand it. T. Demoto, a wide-awake fellow, appears to be the leader of this flower combine and its richest member. While he has made much money in flowers, Demoto has made more money and continues to make more by being a member of a company which has grown rich in the last few years in the new industry of importing into this country from Japan canned crab. This latter wealth has aided him in intrinsically himself and other Japanese in the bay region raising flowers for the San Francisco market. Demoto is intensely patriotic, like his associates. They, together with all their Japanese workmen, each month contribute so many yen, which are regularly sent to the Japanese Defense Fund Association of Tokio. It is said this defense fund is at the service of the government for any purpose during war times.

The Hesketh Heir

The local papers mention the birth of a child to young Thomas Hesketh and his pretty wife, who was Florence Breckinridge. The baby comes at a time when the fortunes of its parents and grandparents have practically melted into a somewhat bad state of affairs. Hesketh's mother is the former Flora Sharon of this city. Sir Thomas Hesketh, his father, has a fine estate in England, but it was always the wife's money which kept it up. When the San Francisco fire came along, Lady Hesketh's income from this country was greatly curtailed. In fact, she had to forego many of her social activities. Naturally, her son's allowance was affected very much. Young Mrs.

Hesketh, the mother of the baby, is the daughter of Mrs. Fred Sharon by her first husband. Mrs. Sharon was born a Tevis. Fred Sharon's fortune was affected by the fire like that of his sister, Lady Hesketh; so was the Tevis fortune. Recently, through the strong financial growth and rehabilitation of this metropolis, these three fortunes are practically as strong as of yore. So this is why this baby in a triple sense is to be reared in the lap of luxury. Fred Sharon has been here about three months. He came from Europe without his wife, and many wondered why. Now the story is out. His wife remained behind to be present at the accouchement of her daughter.

Horse With the Docked Tail

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has run against a snag in the shape of the automobile. Recently its attention was called to the number of horses about town in plebeian service with docked tails. Some one complained that it was cruel enough to have docked-tailed horses in the carriages of the rich. But to see these horses attached to express wagons, hotel busses and random hacks! The matter was investigated. Many of the rich families both in and out of town have clung to their carriages and docked animals in spite of the tempting luxury of the auto until lately. Others have been using both kinds of conveyances. Still others sold their carriages, made proper provisions for their horses with tails incomplete and got the chug-chug habit. Within the past year and a half, or less time, the automobile has practically driven the dock-tailed horse from his patriotic stronghold. The result has been the placing of a lot of these animals on the market. That is how they have got to town doing any old work. The Palace and St. Francis have busses with horses and the auto kind. They have got some of these docked horses at a bargain and are using them. Smaller hotels have bought them for their less pretentious vehicles. The lone jehu has also seen in them a bargain; likewise the man with the humble express wagon. These owners feed them well and treat them kindly. But they did not dock the tails of the animals and are not docking them, so the society can do nothing. The horse with the docked tail in the workaday life of the town is simply a victim of the automobilitis of his former owner and has to work out his own salvation.

Colonel and His Buttermilk

Recently Colonel George H. Pippy and M. F. Tarpey went to the City of Mexico to represent the Panama-Pacific Exposition Company at the Mexican centennial celebration. Both are fond of buttermilk. At Los Angeles on the way to Mexico they arranged with a railroad commissary man to put a large can aboard the dining car for them. At Los Angeles, on the way home, the same thing was done. In the dining car coming north was a new crew of waiters and a superintendent who had never seen E. O. McCormick, one of the head officials of the road. Colonel Pippy resembles McCormick very much, so the mistake of the crew was pardonable. Pippy was the most popular man in the dining car. All of the waiters and the superintendent were anxious to minister to him and his friend. Tarpey marveled much; likewise the doughty Colonel. The latter called for his can of buttermilk. He got it in a jiffy. He and the genial Tarpey were almost swamped with it. After a sumptuous repast, with bumpers of buttermilk, Pippy called for the bill.

"Shall I charge it?" he was differentially asked by the superintendent.

Pippy, surprised, said no and was liberal with his tips. Not seeing the buttermilk item in the bill, he called for it. He was told with much politeness there would be no charge for it. Going back with Tarpey into their own car, the Colonel called for the porter and asked why he was so popular in the dining car as to be given so much attention and free buttermilk.

With a broad smile and a display of fine ivory, the derby said: "Kuhnel, they jest thinks youse Mistah McCormick and it would be jest terrible for you to call 'em back to earth. Jest be kind and good and let them find out for themselves so their aeroplane won't go kerplunk."

And he did.

Now Pippy and Tarpey are wondering to whom they can pay forty cents for the buttermilk consumed and square accounts with that dining car.

Why Dr. Burk Quit Journalism

Dr. Frederic Burk, who has made a name for himself in educational circles as principal of the San Francisco State Normal School, was in the eighties a capable newspaper reporter in both Oakland and this city. Some of his friends were discussing the other evening the real reason why he quit a promising newspaper career to go school teaching. The real reason was not given. I think I can give it.

Dr. Burk was doing newspaper work in this city at the time the late Colonel Samuel H. Brooks was appointed by President Cleveland sub-treasurer in this city. On entering upon his duties, Brooks discovered there was missing from the vaults $10,000 in currency. It was a big newspaper story and Burk was assigned by his paper to write it up. When Burk called on Colonel Brooks, the two men got into a dispute and Brooks threw a heavy glass inkstand at Burk. The latter dodged the missile and escaped serious injury. The men parted bitter enemies. Brooks had a violent temper at times, and, if not all at fault on this occasion, was very much to blame.

Burk always contended that he was absolutely free from fault and that Brooks was altogether wrong. All the papers made mention of the episode. The papers not coming out entirely in his favor, Burk became very angry and said he would enter some other line of business. And he did. That is why he is at the head of a very fine State Normal School now. Brooks long before his death felt friendly towards Burk and often expressed a desire to meet him. Whether the two men ever met again I do not know.

Observatory for Mt. Tamalpais

A movement is on the tapis as a result of the recent visit to this coast of leading astronomers from all over the world to erect an observatory on Mt. Tamalpais that will rank with the one on Mt. Hamilton and the one in Southern California on Mt. Wilson. The visiting astronomers after being on Mt. Hamilton and Mt. Wilson were given an outing on Mt. Tamalpais and remarked on the site as a most advantageous one upon which to build a third institution that would add to the fame of California as a seat of astronomical learning and research. William Kent, the prominent capitalist and Republican candidate for Congress in the Second District, has seriously taken up the subject with C. F. Runyon and other San Francisco friends, and also with friends in the East. Kent, Runyon and several other men control the site and are willing to donate it for the use of an observatory and help pay for the latter. The project involves something like $500,000. It is among the probabilities that the Stanford University trustees will become interested in the subject. The University of California has the Mt. Hamilton observatory as an adjunct and it is known the Stanford people at the proper time would like to have a similar institution under their control.

Schwerin Wakes Up

Has the approach of competition brought Vice-President and General Manager R. P. Schwerin of the Pacific Mail to his senses?

The Japanese line, Toyo Kisen Kaisha, has cancelled its combine with the Pacific Mail and on the first of the year will tie up with the Western Pacific Railroad. The Japanese line has always been liberal in its rules for its passengers and its white officers. With Schwerin the case is different, and his officers fear him and detest him as a martinet. Apparently wide-open competition is causing a change to come over the spirit of his dreams. One of his rules for years has been to the effect that no officer could mingle with the passengers at any time, either in the smoking saloon, or at dancing or on the promenade deck. Recently he was a passenger on one of his own company's ships, the Manchuria, to the Orient. Seeing none of the officers in the smoking room or mingling with the passengers anywhere, while he was doing it all the time, he called one of them and asked the reason why.

"Such are your rules," was the reply.

"Well, you have permission from now on," was the reply.

Another rule is that no passenger can take aboard his own deck chair; still another that no meals can be served in the cabins without the doctor's orders. These rules are also to go by the board.

Why any of these rules should ever have been established by Schwerin is a mystery to steamship officials. In their opinion such rules and regulations are unwarranted except in rare cases.

Baron and His Uncle's Will

I notice by one of the London financial papers that the late Baron D. von Schroeder, a banker for many years in the English metropolis and the uncle of Baron J. B. von Schroeder of this city, left an estate valued at $11,000,000. But the will by no means gives the local baron a large slice of the estate, a fact which has caused him little disappointment. His father, who recently died in Germany, was the eldest brother of the London man. The local baron was the eldest son of his father. This and other reasons caused him to hope for a preference in the will. He was expecting by this means to get more than enough money to clear his California properties from debt and go back to Germany to live permanently. Now he will not return to the fatherland as soon as he had expected. The London baron left a million to charity and divided the other ten millions into four equal parts. One-fourth he gave to a favored nephew, the son of a sister. Another fourth goes to a brother still living. Another fourth goes to other heirs. The San Francisco baron and his immediate relatives get $2,500,000, less $250,000 advanced to them during the testator's life. The remaining two and a quarter millions is divided into eight or nine equal shares. So Baron Von Schroeder of San Francisco will get about $220,000 as his share of a very big estate, instead of at least a half of it, as is said to have been his expectation.

The Bankers and the Bar

Last Monday night at the Palace United States Senator F. G. Newlands of Nevada and Fred Sharon of Paris and San Francisco, part owners in the big caravansary, had smiles of pleasure and satisfaction on their faces as they saw the lobby and part of the main corridor filled with the valises and other hand baggage of a party of Eastern bankers which had just arrived from Los Angeles en route home. There were 450 people in the party. It was the largest single party any hotel had received since the fire. It was a party with money, too. So Sharon and Newlands constituted an interested, pleased couple as they watched the attaches handle the crowd and its belongings. It reminded them of the days when the Palace took care of one party of 700 Knights Templar and 500 Grand Army men. The bankers were guests at the hotel for two full days, and the aggregate of their bills amounted to $7000. Of this amount, $2700 was for rooms and the remainder for meals. The bell-boys came in for fat tips, ranging for the two days all the way from $8 to $15. Including trunks, the party carried with it 1000 pieces of baggage. It is not amiss to mention that the hotel bar did not do the business some thought it would do. The members of the party were by no means convivial.

"That's the reason they have money," was the laconic comment of a philosophic barboy.

The Stubbs Family

The death of three of her children within about fifteen months has caused much sympathy to be expressed for John C. Stubbs, traffic chief of the Harriman railroad system of 20,000 miles, and his wife. The couple still have two married daughters living, one, young Mrs. Dr. Morton Gibbons of this city and the other Mrs. John Parker of Chicago. The members of the Stubbs family were born and raised in Oakland and this city while the father was winning his spurs as a traffic man with the Central and Southern Pacific Railroads. Theirs was a happy, cultured family life, all of the members shunning pretense and publicity. It is said President Robert S. Lovett of the railroad system has insisted upon Mr. Stubbs taking a leave of absence for a year, but that Stubbs has refused to do so. Mr. Stubbs will probably do no active work for a couple of months, however. His friends say he does not want to go away for a year because he thinks he can better endure his affliction by continuing the hard, exacting work he has been accustomed to all his life.

Tips With Counterfeit Coin

Clarence H. Follis, a former San Francisco clubman and member of the Greenway set and a nephew of James L. Flood, is here from New York paying relatives and friends a visit. Prior to the fire Follis was one of the most popular and eligible beaux in local society. Since the disaster he has made New York his home and is an associate in the stock and bond brokerage business with Alexander H. Rutherford, a stepson of the late George Crocker. Last summer Follis was over on the continent and he is telling his friends of an experience over there, one not uncommon, by the way, to American tourists on the other side of the Atlantic. According to the former San Franciscan, one of the diversions of his stay in Paris and one or two other cities was sorting out the counterfeit coin people kept giving him and then handing them out as tips. He says it is no exaggeration to state he gave altogether fifty tips with the counterfeit coins that had been handed him.

Can a Woman Keep a Secret?

"Can a woman keep a secret? Of course she can, and she does right along in thousands of instances."

This question was brought up the other evening among several men in various lines of business activity. One very prominent man, who has for years employed in his extensive business three women as secretaries, one executive secretary and the other two as assistants, both asked and answered the question. The others present agreed with him. Recently a secretary in the office of Secretary of the Interior R. A. Ballinger betrayed a secret of the office. With surprising unanimity, this group of men said that if that secretary had been a woman she would not have betrayed her employer. These men state that the stenographer of yesterday has become the confidential private secretary of today. She is entrusted with all the secrets of the office and is in possession of private information that might seriously injure or ruin her employer if it should be made public. In any office building in town are to be found a dozen or more of such women secretaries.

"There are women employed in offices in this city and state who are in possession of secrets which involve thousands of dollars and the reputations of many men and women," was one of the remarks made by one of the men in the group discussing "Can a woman keep a secret?"

Gumshoe Men After Palace Guest

Secret service men, who are engaged in ferreting out opium smugglers for Uncle Sam, have, after six months' espionage, abandoned their theory that a certain Palace Hotel guest was making a great deal of wealth handling the smuggled article. Why the government sleuths suspected this man in the first place is known only to themselves. It appears they were on his trail for four months before he became convinced that for some reason he was being watched whether at home here or when he went to Chicago and New Orleans, as he frequently does. He finally engaged attorneys to protect him from what to him were mysterious trailers. The attorneys finally got a clew as to the object of the men following their client and made strong protests to Washington. The Government authorities would not admit this man was being watched by their agents. Shortly afterwards the secret service men were called off and the Palace guest, who bears a most excellent reputation, is not being spied on any more either here or when he goes East. Apropos of this interesting episode, the Government so far has not been able to connect anybody with the opium smuggling business who has any prominence or particular reputation. The secret service people have arrested a lot of Chinese smugglers and some few white men and one white woman. None of the whites was of any standing. Most of the smuggled opium comes into this country by way of Mexico, where it is first landed by tramp steamers from the Orient. Those who know say there is as much opium smoking in Chinatown as ever there was, in spite of the stringent laws against its importation and the active hunt for the smugglers.

THE KNAVE.

Who Sent Out This Lie?

Some remarkable statements regarding political events in Alameda county are going out through the State. For instance, the Pasadena News, which is of the Lincoln-Roosevelt League variety, says:

"The Alameda Republican County Central Committee has not only refused to endorse Judge Melvin's nomination, but has actually endorsed his Democratic opponent, Judge Lawlor."

There is not a word of truth in this statement. It would be interesting, however, to know how the Pasadena News was induced to make it. Similar falsehoods have been sent to distant points in Northern California in such guise as to give them the color of accuracy. They usually develop in Lincoln-Roosevelt League circles. The object of sending them is obvious, but who invents them and who affords channels for circulating them in a way that gives them an air of truth?

There are inner wheels working in this campaign and Lawlor has political agents in close touch with the bosses of the Lincoln-Roosevelt League, and through them finds a way to give currency to falsehoods invented to discredit Judge Melvin and boost Judge Lawlor. In some cases distinct alliances are formed between Lawlor's Democratic supporters and professed Republicans pursuant to which both Bledsoe and Melvin are to be sacrificed for the advancement of Lawlor.

Alameda county will give Judge Melvin the highest vote given any judicial candidate. It gave him the highest vote in the primary election, and he will run still stronger at the general election. He, as well as the other nominees on the Republican State ticket, have been endorsed by the Republican County Central Committee. For every Republican vote Judge Melvin loses in Alameda county he will gain two Democratic votes. His friends are legion and they are on guard. It may become necessary for them to unmask and expose the press agents for Lawlor who are working against Judge Melvin in the Republican organization, and to demand an explanation why they are employed in confidential capacities around Republican headquarters.

San Francisco bay is naturally the commercial terminus of the Panama canal. It is here the marine commerce of the Pacific Coast centers, and here will be the initial point for the shipment of freight through the canal. Hence San Francisco is properly the place for holding an international exposition to celebrate the opening of the interoceanic waterway to commerce.

A Negro Bolt Threatened.

The Brownsville matter has again cropped up in politics. A great number of the colored people have never forgiven Roosevelt for disbanding the black battalion implicated in the Brownsville fracas. As President Taft was Secretary of War at the time of the dismissal he has been compelled to shoulder the unpopularity Roosevelt incurred. During the last Presidential campaign considerable difficulty was encountered in holding the colored vote to the Republican ticket, and nothing has been done since to placate the resentment that has been smoldering ever since the Brownsville affair.

This resentment promises to play an important part in the elections this year. There exists among the negroes a "national independent league," organized as a result of the dismissal of the black battalion, and the delegates of this league have just held a convention in Washington. This convention issued an address urging all negroes to support the Democratic tickets in Ohio, New York and New Jersey, and do nothing to help Senator Lodge in Massachusetts.

Lodge is offensive to the colored leaders because of his close relationship politically with Roosevelt.

Ordinarily the negroes hold the balance of power in New York, Ohio and New Jersey, and if they should go over to the Democrats in a body next November it would spell disaster to the Republican party. But it is very doubtful if the negroes in the border States can be induced to act as a unit. Sentiment will keep many of them loyal to the Republican party. Also many influential members of the race are bound to the Republican party by ties of self interest. Hence it is unlikely that the negroes can be led to vote the Democratic ticket in a body.

But if half of them vote the Democratic ticket it will mean a serious loss to the Republican party at a time when every vote is needed. There are over 30,000 negro voters in New York. Practically all of them are Republicans. Split this vote evenly between the Republicans and the Democrats and the Republican party will be handicapped to the extent of 30,000 votes. The same situation is presented in Ohio, where the negro vote is a powerful factor and the battle is close. Should a majority of the negroes vote the Democratic ticket the consequences would almost certainly be fatal to Republican success.

Thus Roosevelt's horn has summoned enemies as well as friends to the fray, and has involved the President in conflicts that could have been avoided if the ex-President had not thrust himself in the forefront of the campaign.

The Colonel's cruise in an airship only lasted five minutes or so, but it has taken rank as one of the most daring and difficult feats performed since man began to have a history.

"Down with the political alliance between Tammany Hall and Wall street," is Roosevelt's battle cry in New York. It is a winning slogan. Any combination between Tammany and Wall street must necessarily be corrupt. It is opposed to the interests of the public and distinctly antagonistic to every principle of good government. Tammany represents all that is bad in American politics and it is always safe to hit it.

Last year 47.5 per cent of the sugar produced in the world was extracted from beets. In 1900 beets supplied 64.7 per cent of the world's production. Yet it is a singular fact that the beet-sugar industry was a product of the Napoleonic wars. England controlled the seas, and after the destruction of the French fleets at Aboukir and Trafalgar placed all continental Europe under blockade. No sugar was to be had where the French flag waved or in any country that was friendly to France. Napoleon set chemists at work to find a substitute for cane in sugar-making. The sugar-beet industry is the result. The sugar beet was developed by selection and cultivation, and the mechanical appliances were perfected by experts. However, sugar-making from beets received its highest development in Germany in comparatively modern times. There the best machinery is made and there the sugar beet has been most highly developed. The machinery used in America comes from Germany, and the seed with which our fields were originally planted also came from Germany.

Omens and Portugal

Believers in omens, fatalities and coincidences will be encouraged by the tragic occurrence in Portugal. The first King Manuel four hundred years ago raised his kingdom to perhaps its most splendid estate, but marred his reign with abominable cruelties. The second King Manuel has been one of the most amiable and benevolent of monarchs, but there is danger that his line will end with him in a series of tragedies. Less than three years ago the young Duke of Beja was unexpectedly summoned to the throne over the mutilated corpses of his father and elder brother. Only the other day he entertained the President of Brazil, celebrated the centenary of Buasaco, accepted the German Emperor's invitation for a state visit to Berlin in December, and was at last, as he hoped, emerging from the oppressive gloom of the tragedy of 1908. Today he is a refugee, or at the mercy of revolutionists who demand the expulsion of the dynasty, the abolition of the monarchy and the establishment of a Lusitanian republic.

There need be no uncertainty as to the causes of the revolution. For years the kingdom was misgoverned and plundered by political rings, the grimly misnamed Regeneradores and Progressistas maintaining a compact at Lisbon whereby they alternated in office under the "rotativismo" system, and pursued a consistent policy of doing as little for the good of the country and as stealing as much public money and running the nation as deeply into debt as it was possible for ingenious and pertinacious human rascality to do. The dictatorship of Mr. Franco interrupted this system for a time, but the murder of King Carlos ended his authority, and despite innumerable good promises the old system has since that time been steadily resuming control, to the mingled exasperation and despair of those of the people who have anything like an intelligent opinion concerning governmental affairs. When the other day a representative of one of the old parties murdered a leader of the reformers, the limit of endurance was passed and the signal for the long impending revolution was given.

Reform Needed

If men would devote as much loving care to their whiskers as women do to their hair, they would contribute greatly to increasing the dignity of the sex. A woman wouldn't think of coming down town without having her hair properly arranged. She combs it and fusses with it, and pads it out with pins and puts wire cages under it, and runs ribbons through it, and so she is a vision of loveliness when she appears in the busy haunts of men.

But a man gives his whiskers no attention, further than to brush the eggshells or clam chowder out of them with the stoopishness. It never seems to occur to him that his whiskers might be made beautiful if he would devote one-half the time to them that a woman gives to her hair. He might easily have made a wire cage to attach to his chin and then he could weave his whiskers around it in captivating styles and tie the ends together with a pink or blue ribbon.

The affairs editor gets tired of seeing the same old fashions in whiskers, when it would be so easy to devise new and striking ways of wearing them.

There should be a Whiskers' club in Emporia. If such an organization were formed and the members had held weekly meetings to exchange ideas and compare notes, the results would soon become distinctive, and their reputation would cover the country.

Let us have a new deal in spinach.—Emporia Gazette.

Twenty Years Ago Today

Thomas H. Fletcher, the well-known gardener, died yesterday in Fruitvale from the effects of a fall about a week ago.

Rev. C. W. Wendt, E. W. Playter, Mrs. Gore and Mrs. F. Lehse were added to the executive committee of the associated charities.

J. S. Emery states that the Blue Lakes water scheme is not dead and that it bids fair to become a certainty. As soon as 60,000 shares of stock are sold at the rate of $10 per share, the company will go to work. Of this amount, Mr. Emery says that three-fifths have already been subscribed.

Detective Holland declines to believe the story of May Howard, who says that a brakeman, on the Southern Pacific, was robbed of $3000 a few days ago while on a train coming to this city. The detective is under the impression that the woman is crazy.

Articles of the Builders' Exchange of Oakland and Alameda county have been filed with the county clerk. The corporation has no capital stock. The incorporators are J. S. Emery, P. A. Cameron, C. L. Ingler, G. A. Miller, George Kirk, P. Malone, John Thornton, W. V. Veitch, J. S. White, C. W. Wilkins and W. Winnie.

Father McSweeney, today, secured the services of the Rielhi quartet for this evening at the fair which is now in progress for the benefit of his church in Elsie Hall.

The overland mail is nine hours late as usual today.

County Clerk Boardman drops in his office from heart failure. In falling to the floor, his head strikes the corner of a counter and a gash is inflicted which bleeds freely. Dr. D. D. Crowley is called and dresses the injury. An examination of the accounts of the clerk shows a shortage of $3000. This money Boardman had used in extravagant living, which had been placed on deposit in his office which he had intended to pay out of his salary. The bondsmen confer with the Supervisors what ought to be done at the premises and agree to report a plan tomorrow. The surpluses on the bonds of Boardman as county clerk are as follows: In the sum of $5000 each, C. A. Klinker, W. J. Dingee, H. W. Meek, W. E. Dargie, V. H. Metcalf, William Roberts, J. G. Edwards; in the sum of $6000, T. W. Mulford; in the sum of $2500, J. J. White, C. H. Rice, Chas. Jurgens and J. C. Martin.

The district attorney refuses to issue warrants for the arrest of Salvationists on the ground of obstructing the streets while conducting their services.

BEGINS HEARING IN OIL CASES

Assistant Secretary of Interior Interrogates Promoters in California.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 15.—Frank Pierce, Assistant Secretary of the Interior, today began public hearings on the California oil situation at which a number of oil men appeared and explained at length their views on the subject. The hearings of oil parties were taken down in shorthand to be further used in Washington. Mr. Pierce explained that he sought light on certain phases of the question of control and regulation of the oil lands in this state and desired all the information in the subject that could be furnished. All of those who appeared today agreed in their statements that what is known as the "ard decision" of the Interior Department which prevented an oil locator from transferring his rights until he has discovered oil, was a great hardship on the oil men and prevented obtaining of capital for development work.

DIVERGENCE OF OPINION.

There was a wide divergence of opinion whether oil locators should be allowed to take 20 or 50 acres of land and whether they should be allowed a definite time within which to develop or return their holdings as they worked them in good faith.

Calvert Wilcox, president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Oil and Mines, presided over the meeting. Charles E. Fox, a Berkeley resident, president of the California Oil Men's Association, was the first witness.

TOOL THIEF HELD FOR EXAMINATION

James Hunt Is Charged With Committing Burglary to Steal Tools.

Two charges of having committed burglary to steal carpenter's tools were placed against James E. Hunt in police court No. 1 yesterday morning. Detectives Quigley and Ives were the arresting officers. Hunt was arraigned and the two cases set for preliminary examination October 20 at 10 a. m. Hunt is alleged to have broken into the home of James E. Hunter at 914 E. street three days ago, where he is accused of having taken tools valued at about $25. Shortly afterward, according to the complaint filed against him, he broke into the residence of Louis Peterson at 1674 Fifth street and got tools valued at about $35. He is suspected by the police of being connected with other offenses of like character reported to the department within the past few weeks.

BUSINESS HEAVY AMONG RAILROADS

All Lines Report Excursion and Other Passenger Traffic Largest in Years.

The Western Pacific Company is selling many tickets for the baseball excursion to Sacramento, October 23. When the Oakland-Sacramento game will be played. More than 200 tickets have been sold up to the present time and it is expected that at least 1000 people will take advantage of the low rates to see the game. This is practically the first excursion over the Western Pacific open to the public. Some months ago a semi-public excursion was given by the Oakland Chamber of Commerce but the excursion will be the first that is thrown open to the public at large.

WILL VIEW NEW LINE.

The California Association of Traffic Agents has accepted the invitation of the Western Pacific to take a trip over the line and a special train will take the members from Oakland to Portland, which is located in the Feather River canyon. Portions of this road are said to be the most scenic in the State.

W. D. Sanborn, general agent of the Burlington, was in Oakland yesterday on business connected with his company. The Santa Fe will sell hunters' and fishermen's tickets from Oakland to Middle River and return for $2.75. The tickets will be on sale Friday, Saturday and Sunday and will be good to return on the following Tuesday. This will be good news as the fishing is reported good at Middle River, Orwood and Werrin.

G. Holterhoff, assistant secretary and treasurer of the Santa Fe, with headquarters at Los Angeles, is in Oakland for a short stay. BIG COLONIST BUSINESS. Word received by the local Santa Fe officers is to the effect that the movement of colonist business from Missouri River points and East, which terminates on the 15th of this month, has been by far the heaviest in the history of trans-continental travel. The number of tourist and chair cars ordered to accommodate this traffic indicates an increase of 40 per cent over last year and 22 per cent over 1908. Judging from the character of travel the railroad officers believe that a great many of these people will find permanent homes in California.

Countess-Danseuse, Who Charmed Prince Troubetzsky, Is Coming to Pacific Coast

SCULPTOR MODELS FINE LIKENESS OF WOMAN

Royal Dancer Consents to Pose in Oriental Costume for Russian Admirer.

BEWILDERED BY ART AND STATELY FIGURE

Countess Tamara de Swirsky Has Attracted Much Attention in Stage Career.

Countess Tamara de Swirsky, late premiere danseuse at the Metropolitan Opera House, attracted much attention during her original engagement in Paris that the Russian Prince Troubetzsky, the celebrated sculptor, asked permission to make a statue of her. The dancer consented, and a pose in Oriental costume was captured by the Prince. The work was greatly admired and, but recently, the statue was purchased by the Chicago Museum and is now on exhibition.

It was during a private soiree for the Baroness de Rothschild that the Prince Troubetzsky for the first time witnessed Miss de Swirsky's interpretation of the classic dances, and, besides being fascinated and bewildered by her art he greatly admired the beauty and symmetry of her form and the extreme naturalness displayed in her many poses.

The airy lightness of the dancer's every movement and the sentiment and temperament portrayed in pose and gesture holds her audience spellbound and makes her appear scarcely human.

Countess de Swirsky is coming to San Francisco in the near future, arrangements having been made for her to appear at a local theater.

LAWYERS WOULD GO WITH JAP TO HEAVEN

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—Attorney Samuel Shortridge, Assistant District Attorney Oppenheim and a Japanese of the name of Yakumada, who is a witness in the felony case before Police Judge Shortall, spent some little time this morning in explaining to one another just where each expected to go when he dies.

Exact places and dates were not mentioned, though each indicated the direction of his travels by an upturned finger pointing toward the ceiling.

When Yakumada took the witness stand Attorney Shortridge seemed to doubt whether the witness understood the nature of an oath.

"When you die," said Shortridge, "where do you go?"

Yakumada pointed his finger upward.

"Where do I go?"

Yakumada shook his head. Then the attorney lifted his own finger in the same manner.

"I should like to get in on that, too," said Oppenheim, sticking up his own finger.

Here Judge Shortall intervened and the case proceeded.

KING'S DAUGHTERS ARRAIGN CAFE BOX EVIL

State Convention Passes Resolutions Deploing Existence of Alleged Pitfalls.

Following an address by the Rev. Francis L. Goodspeed in which he censured members of the City Council for the stand they had taken in the "French restaurant" cases and said that they were "erring under the truth," the King's Daughters now assembled in their fourteenth annual convention in this city passed a resolution last night calling attention to the pitfalls surrounding young people and asking that such temptations be abolished.

Rev. Goodspeed's address was referred to several times during the meeting by Mrs. Matilda Brown, state secretary, who believed that measures too drastic could not be made to prevent young people from going to their ruin. She stated that since she found that the matter had been brought to the attention of the convention and she was sure that these present could do all in their power to bring this evil to public attention.

ARRAIGNS CAFE BOXES.

In speaking of Rev. Goodspeed's address Mrs. Brown said: "I am glad that this matter has been brought to our attention and I am sure that a resolution such as Rev. Goodspeed desires will be unanimously received. Those booths and stalls in restaurants must be abolished and the women of the order must assist in this undertaking."

Following is the text of the resolution passed last evening:

"The King's Daughters of California assembled in their fourteenth annual State convention, earnestly desire to call the attention of fathers and mothers and officers of the law to the dangers and temptations surrounding our young people, especially young girls, from unhealthy and injurious amusements and associations."

"That such dangers to youth lurk in the milk parlors, cafes, restaurants, dance halls and saloons, we have ample proof. We believe that all such places, such as pool halls and stalls in restaurants and cafes, where young girls under male escort may be taken under the pretense of carrying of refreshments, are especially dangerous and should be abolished, and we call upon city authorities to act to this end. We urge upon parents and teachers the imperative necessity of warning their children and pupils of the dangers that surround them, and thus prevent the ruin of many a life and much sorrow to family and friends."

"We hereby send our heartfelt greetings to the Purty Congress now in session in San Francisco, and assure the workers in this great reform of our sincere sympathy and co-operation."

(Signed) "MRS. ANNETTE P. CLARK, "MRS. ALICE F. MCINTOSH, "MRS. H. F. WHITMAN, "Committee.

"MRS. MATILDA BROWN, "State Secretary.

Oakland, Oct. 14, 1910."

DESCRIPTORS WORK OF ORDER.

One of the most interesting numbers of the afternoon program was an address by Mrs. G. H. Libby, first vice-president of the International Order, who spoke of the many things the order was doing and the way in which they are being done. She impressed upon those present that wisdom was necessary in order to know "how to help, where to help and when to help" and that the order was making special studies along this line.

"Next January," said Miss Libby, "the King's Daughters will celebrate the twenty-fifth year of its organization. The spirit of the order is beautiful. I want it to be a powerful order. I want it to be such a power that people will want to join us. You must help to make it such a power. More is expected of you because you take His name and are His children—The King's daughters."

During the afternoon the following women were elected as a nominating committee: Mrs. Brinkerhoff, Mrs. Kingsland, Mrs. Garton, Mrs. Mann and Mrs. Lee. By a unanimous vote it was decided to give this committee a year in which to make their selections.

such a power that people will want to join us. You must help to make it such a power. More is expected of you because you take His name and are His children—The King's daughters."

During the afternoon the following women were elected as a nominating committee: Mrs. Brinkerhoff, Mrs. Kingsland, Mrs. Garton, Mrs. Mann and Mrs. Lee. By a unanimous vote it was decided to give this committee a year in which to make their selections.

A very interesting paper was read by

Mrs. Grant Miller, corresponding secretary, regarding the building fund of the King's Daughters' California Home for incurables. The report showed that more than half of the money had been raised for the new home and that the members were still working to raise the remainder. There are eighty patients in the home, all of whom are incurable. Other circles were asked to take up the work as it is believed that Oakland and Alameda have done their share of raising funds.

A vocal solo was rendered by Miss

Jessie Murray and a piano solo by Miss Barbara McKenzie. The rest of the afternoon was devoted to reports of the different circles, including the report of "The Doors" of San Francisco, a branch of the King's Sons, which was presented by Albert Paulson and Liberty Madden. Last night Rev. Goodspeed delivered a very interesting address on "Bible Study for Efficient Service."

Other interesting numbers were the vocal quartette by the Chinese Young Women, and vocal solo by Mrs. Herbert Lee.

Moving Picture Operator Kills Himself for Love of Married Woman.

URGES HER TO JOIN
HIM IN DEATH PACT

When She Refuses, He Goes to Room in Hotel and Carries Out Threat.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—"There is plenty for both. I left some for you."

So wrote Jerry C. McCowan, a moving picture operator, tonight after he had swallowed sufficient cyanide of potassium to kill ten men, and had been unsuccessful in an effort to draw the object of his affection, Mrs. Lillian Shane, the wife of a local barber, into a suicide pact.

At exactly the same moment that McCowan breathed his last in his room at the Exeter hotel, 154 Ellis street, Mrs. Shane received the message telling her of his death and advising her that he had left plenty of the poison, if she would change her mind and consent to join him.

MET AT NICKEL THEATER.

According to the story told by Mrs. Shane to Acting Captain of Detectives Ryan, she met McCowan some time ago while she was cashier and he the operator at the Silver Palace theater. A month ago he urged her to enter into a suicide pact with him, and handed her a bottle of poison.

She was taking it away when he warned her that "the time had not come."

She had been repulsing his advances but tonight the pair met at Third and Market streets and he urged her to leave her husband and go away with him. She refused and he left her suddenly, saying that he was going to kill himself. She thought he was joking, but as she entered her room at the Occidental hotel, 175 Third street, at 6:15 p. m., she was handed the following note:

"This is one bluff I make good. I leave some for you. The door of my room is open. You can enter or come out if you wish. This is the only chance you have. If you do not come, I will kill myself. I still love you. God forgive all."

CARRIES OUT THREAT.

Mrs. Shane immediately notified the hotel and the proprietor, C. B. Collis, found McCowan already dead. He had swallowed an enormous quantity of the poison and his body was set in a few minutes in a hurry. The second missive reads:

"I do this because I think it is for the best and no fault of anyone's. I had loved deeply and ardently. You are kind to the memory of one who is not just crazy, but does this because he thinks it is for the best. She left me in anger this afternoon. I threatened this, but I knew it would be so and wish her no harm. She loved me, but the course of circumstances has caused her pain. I forgive and hope God will forgive her. Good-bye and I wish my body to be cremated. Good-bye."

URGED WOMAN TO JOIN.

"McCowan had been paying as much attention to me as the court. He gave me some cyanide, a month ago and wanted me to kill myself and tonight at Third and Market streets he told me I must leave my husband and go with him. When I refused to enter into a suicide pact, he threatened to kill me."

Mrs. Lillian Shearman Has Preliminary Hearing On Charge of Assault with Weapon.

FRESNO, Oct. 15.—Mrs. Lillian Shearman, who created a sensation in this city six weeks ago by running her husband into a restaurant where in a jealous frenzy and shooting at him twice, was given her preliminary hearing before Justice Graham this morning, and she was held to answer to the superior court for assault with a deadly weapon. Her bail was fixed at $1,000 and she furnished the amount.

Youth Shoots Brother
With "Empty" Revolver

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—A mock duel with pistols, both of which were "empty," resulted in the shooting of Andrew Tweed, a carpenter, 25 years old, by his younger brother, Mitchell, aged 16, at the family residence, 2911 San Jose avenue, early tonight.

According to the information in the hands of the police, a mock duel was fought between the two boys, and Mitchell suddenly pointed his gun at his brother and pulled the trigger. The bullet entered the left breast and with a groan the young man fell to the floor. Mitchell was so overcome by what he had done that he was scarcely able to go for help, and the Ocean View police station was communicated with. The mission ambulance made the long run to the scene and took Tweed to the City and County Hospital, where it was found that his wound, while dangerous, was not necessarily fatal.

Mitchell was arrested and taken to the Detention Home by order of Acting Captain of Detectives Ryan.

PORTUGUESE SOCIETY CLOSES
ANNUAL SESSION AT VALLEJO

Officers of the U. P. E. C., Who Were Installed at Vallejo Yesterday.

What was probably the most successful convention in the history of the U. P. E. C., a Portuguese society, closed yesterday at Vallejo with the installation of the new officers, among whom were a number of well-known Oaklanders.

IMPORTANT ACTIONS.

Two of the most important actions taken were the appropriating of a large sum for the establishment of schools, which will keep the younger generation well trained in the language of their fathers, and the primary steps for the establishment of a bank. The latter suggestion was made by John G. Mattos, Jr., grand treasurer of the order.

A wholesome regard for California was shown in the wording of the resolution adopted endorsing the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco in 1915.

GIRL DRIVEN OUT OF RUSSIA BY
CZAR'S ACT

Deported to America Because Fiance Was Suspected of Being Revolutionist.

LATTER ESCAPES UNDER FIRE OF PRISON GUARD

Scourged With Bristles of Pig and Allowed to Walk Out to Be Shot.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Driven from Russia because her fiance was suspected of revolutionary motives, Vera Korsakovich came to America in the steerage of the Kron Prinzessin Cecilia, the first woman victim of the czar's new expulsion.

Vera is only 19 years of age. The man she is to marry is Ivan Koroski, and today she was released from Ellis Island and hurried to him in Boston.

KNOWS NO ENGLISH.

Awaiting her turn in the long line of 3000 immigrants at Ellis Island, Vera told her story with the aid of an interpreter, for she knows no English.

The Russian police, Vera said, arrested Ivan and put before him a statement he was to sign confessing that he was a member of a revolutionary party in Odessa.

When she heard it is an accusation and refused to sign the paper they stripped him and scourged his nude body with what they called a broom, made out of short bristles of a pig.

Finally said Vera, the chief of police conceived the idea of letting Ivan out into the walled courtyard of the prison so he would make an attempt to escape and could be shot down as a fugitive from the law.

CELL DOOR IFT OPEN.

That night, said Vera, a jailer purposely left the door of a cell unlocked. Ivan waited until midnight, walked out of the prison and opened the door that led to the courtyard and found himself confronted by ten Cossacks, all ranged along the side of the wall with loaded carbines and under orders to shoot him down the moment he appeared.

But Vera said they were very poor marksmen, those Cossacks, for Ivan dodged their first volley and dashed across the prison yard, and then fell down, pretending he was killed when the second volley went harmlessly over his head.

Then he jumped up and scaled the wall as they fired the third time, and dropped safely on the outside with nothing more than a nip in the calf of the leg for the clever shooting of the police.

SMUGGLED OVER BORDER.

Friends smuggled him across the border and his people raised money for his passage from Russia to Boston. Vera said the chief of police was some angry when he found out Ivan had escaped. So he sent around a platoon of police and they arrested her, charging her with being a conspirator too, and handed the judges to order her deported.

Mother Sees
Life of Boy
Crushed Out

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—Before the agonized gasp of his mother, who witnessed his life crushed out and was unable to raise a hand to save him, Raymond Gester, three years old, son of Henry Gester, a foreman of Engine Company No. 24, was run over and killed by a heavy sand wagon late this afternoon. The accident was an especially peculiar one, the mother said, having unwittingly caused his own death.

The vehicle was standing on the hill at Twenty-first and Douglas streets and the lad had been playing about for some time. His mother sat in the front window of her home, 4315 Twenty-first street and could see him plainly. He had climbed up on the seat of the wagon and was trying to manipulate the brake. Suddenly it slipped from its notch and the heavy wagon began to run down the grade. The boy was thrown from his position to the pavement and his head crashed beneath the wheels.

His mother rushed from the house and gathered him in her arms. The father, coming up, took the lad away from her and ran all the way to St. Joseph's Hospital, a mile distant. Upon his arrival the boy was dead.

Both parents are prostrated with grief and the mother is confined to her bed under the care of a physician.

FOUR-DAY BENEFIT FAIR HELD
BY CHURCH IN SAN LEANDRO

Some of Those Prominent in St. Leander's Four-Day Fair, Which Closed Last Night.

SAN LEANDRO, Oct. 15.—With an address by Mayor J. J. Gill and a few words by Rev. Father W. G. O'Mahony, pastor of the church, the four-day fair of St. Leander's Catholic church was formally closed last night in St. Joseph's Hall on Davis street. The hall had been converted into a veritable fairland by the skillful hands of the members of the parish, who worked untiringly for over two months on the decorations.

The program for the four days was assigned respectively to the committees in charge of the Young Ladies' Sodality, St. Isabelle's, St. Leander's and the Chanticleer booths, and each performed noteworthy work to make the fair a great success both socially and financially. It is believed that between $1000 and $1500 was netted, besides the many valuable gifts of cut-glass and chinaware, which were donated by the people of the parish. The proceeds received are to go toward defraying the debts that have been assumed by the church in the past year.

Following a band concert by the boys' band of San Leandro, a short musical program was rendered by local talent. Miss Bernice Calhoun rendered several selections from "The Love Tales of Hoffman," while Miss M. F. Cain interpreted several passages from the great composers. Miss Nona Jirmer gave several spirited selections from the popular songs. Following this program, dancing was the order of the evening to the accompaniment of the boys' band. Among the notable workers for the benefit of the fair was Rev. Father O'Mahony, who worked every night until the closing.

NEW ORDINANCE
WORRIES POLICE

Superintendent Wilson Gives Up Enforcement of Vehicle Laws Until Drivers Learn; Booklet Is Issued

The great difficulty in enforcing the many and technical provisions of the new vehicle ordinance passed by the City Council has resulted in Superintendent of Police Wilson giving up the matter in despair for the time being, as the people are entirely unfamiliar with the provisions of the new law.

As a result, small booklet copies of the new ordinance have been printed, and may be obtained by all who wish to remain within the law from the City Clerk on the second floor of the City Hall.

The following are on the list tabbed by the new law: Leaving an auto with machinery running. Driving on left side of the street. Turning to right in passing another vehicle from behind. Leaving a horse hitched within fifteen feet of a fire hydrant. Leaving vehicle with left side against curb. Driving over any crossing or intersection of street at more than six miles an hour in certain districts.

Riding on sidewalk. Driving within four feet of running board or lower step of street car. Driving or riding over bridges faster than four miles an hour. Leaving a horse unhitched or unattended. Hitching to a shade or ornamental tree. Riding or driving a dangerous or partly broken horse. Permitting any person under fourteen years of age to ride or drive any vehicle except a bicycle in certain districts.

Driving through a procession, civil, military or funeral. Riding on rear end of vehicle without permission. Riding bicycle, motorcycle or driving horse without lights at night. For the purposes of the ordinance the city is divided into districts in which certain parts of the ordinance apply specifically.

Deadly Sticks Hidden in Vacant Lot in Mission Unearthed by Chance.

Sleuths Work as Barber, Waiter and Census Enumerator on Investigation.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—Three sticks of dynamite found by two small boys in a vacant lot at Eighth and Mission streets yesterday afternoon created much excitement in the police department, furnishing detectives working upon the Los Angeles Times dynamiting outrage with a new clew to work upon, a clew considered by the police to be of the utmost importance to the investigation which has been going on since the explosion in the southern city.

MAY BE CLEW.

The police believe that while the dynamite found yesterday is not of the same make as that found in the infernal machine, it may have been discarded for an explosive of greater strength, or that it may have been buried in the vacant lot by persons connected with the Los Angeles outrage, to be used later in the perpetration of other outrages. Detectives in this city and Los Angeles are of the opinion that a plot more gigantic than that unearthed by the finding of unexploded bombs in Los Angeles had been planned by the dynamiters, and following this theory, every effort will be made by the local department to trace the ownership of the three sticks found yesterday. In police circles it is thought that the dynamite was stolen from the Presidio and detectives are investigating in that direction.

DYNAMITE FROM GIANT.

The dynamite found yesterday is of 40 per cent strength, the kind ordinarily used in common blasting. Enough of the stuff is as effective as gelatine dynamite—the kind which was purchased at Giant by the three men known as Bryson, Morris and "Japh."

The two small boys were playing in the lot about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon when they accidentally kicked away a small bit of earth. The sticks were immediately exposed. They were picked up by the boys who hurried with the dangerous stuff to police headquarters. Detectives Burke and McGraw were sent at once to the vacant lot to inspect the place and make a further search for any more of the stuff. Another detective was sent to the Presidio to ascertain from what powder house the dynamite which disappeared from the military reservation six or seven weeks ago, was taken. It will require a day or more to determine the strength of the dynamite, which was stolen as a large stick of dynamite of all strengths is kept on hand at the Presidio.

DESCRIPTIONS OF FIENDS.

While the police department officials insist that the dynamiters will be arrested, they are circulating descriptions of the three much-wanted dynamiters and the correct names of two of the men are ready for the press and will be issued within the course of three days.

The descriptions will contain, besides the descriptions of the men, specimens of their handwriting which have been secured from the powder company's records and from the Argonaut Hotel, where two of the men stayed while negotiations for the rental of the launch Pastime were under way.

The police are of the belief that the laundry marks found on the apparel of the men were made in a local laundry, which was located yesterday by "The Examiner," which Bryson and Morris, alias "Smitty," left most of their laundry work at a barber shop in the Mission. The police base their conclusions concerning the laundry upon the circumstance that one of the laundry marks, "A 2410," corresponds to the number of Mrs. Lavin's rooming house, at 2410 Mission street. In consequence of this revelation, the police have practically abandoned their attempt to trace the laundry marks to Chicago, where the men are supposed to have been before they came to this city.

CAME FROM CHICAGO.

The supposition that the three men, who bought the dynamite at Giant, came from Chicago arose from the statements made by Mrs. D. H. Ingersoll, who owns the flat on Twenty-fourth street in which Bryson lived that he told her that he and Morris had come from that city. This information by the police to ask the Chicago authorities to look up the records of the answering the descriptions of the three. No reply has been received from Chicago and it is thought the police of that city could furnish WON'T SOMEBODY STEAL DAN LONG'S LUCKY HORSESHOE?

Seals Grab Another From Oaks That Rightfully Belonged to Our Pennant Sharers.

By BERT LOWRY.

Go away off in some quiet corner and read this, for it is really going to make you sad. There were our hopefuls with four big runs on the scoreboard, with the Seals nary a one when that sixth inning of the Oakland-San Francisco game at Recreation Park yesterday afternoon rolled around. Tyler Christian was going great guns and the story was on its way what a grand game the Texan was having for the locals. Then came a thundering of the bats against the ball, a heavy cannonading of baseballs and two runs had been taken from our lead, for that Seals bunch glommed two in that round.

The inning finally ended after Tyler had been ducked and Larry sent in and things were not as bad as they might have been. Then came the seventh, lucky seventh for Titewadus, but an awful unlucky round for the Oaks. Our battery went ballooning and the tricks pulled off by the Seals were filled with joy. In the next round Harry Wolverton poked the second ball sent to the plate away out to fourteenth street for the whole distance. The hit was a homer and made our score read three.

HERE IS HOW THE OAKS WENT TO THE FRONT.

After the Seals had got one man on the bag in the opening round and the next three went out, the Oaks took a crack at the ball and sent two huskies over the pan. Margaret gave Stewart a hard chance in center and he was out. Vares stole a beauty over McArdle's head and stole second. Hogan hit to left and went to second while Rodie was trying to nail Clyde at Vitar's station. Swander then hit hard to Roy McArdle and he regged badly to the plate, allowing Vares and Hogan to reach the plate in safety. That was a pretty good start and everything pulled for the Oaks were filled with joy. In the next round Harry Wolverton poked the second ball sent to the plate away out to fourteenth street for the whole distance. The hit was a homer and made our score read three.

In the fourth Oakland grabbed another. Vares, first up, hit a single to right field and stole second. Hogan's out put him on third, but he later died when trying to score on Swander's pole to McArdle. While the Seals, big and little, were trying to relieve Vares, Swander kept pecking around the bases and reached third. Piel hit a liner into right and Swander reached the man. That was the end of our run getting, but four looked plenty good enough to win.

CHRISTIAN HAS HIS TROUBLES IN THE SIXTH.

Up to the sixth inning San Francisco had glommed but one lone bling off of Tyler. A long double to left that Hogan

Four husky Oaks who along with Christian and Harkins will continue to make desperate battles to bring the pennant of Coast League to City of Oakland.

would have grabbed but for the little fence. In the sixth, though, three hits came, and at that luck was with the Seals. Stewart hit to Cutsaw and Cutty led off just a moment on the drive. It was a fatal loss, for Harry managed to hit the Seals always dangerous, scoring Alby and Easterly. Shaw kept right on and made second base. Thomas now contributed his share to the error line and let the ball go by him. Shaw getting to third base, Melchior bounded a high one to Vares and reached first base in safety. All this time Flunk was tearing for the plate and reached it in safety. Three and two are five, is it not? Well, that is one more than we had when the last man was retired in the last half of the ninth inning. What the use of going farther with this tale? We lost and that is all there is to it. Maybe Danny Titewadus will lose the horse and we'll win two today. Here's hoping we do.

OUR FINISH CAME IN THE SEVENTH INNING.

Williams opened the seventh with an easy one to Vares and was out at first. Miller pulled over on the ump and was out. The Seals did some on a diagonal, looked dangerous and was passed. Lively cut loose with one that hit the grandstand and both runners went up a bar. Shaw sent in to bat for Stewart, had the seeshoe and tore off one of those dinky ones. The Seals always dangerous, scoring Alby and Easterly. Shaw kept right on and made second base. Thomas now contributed his share to the error line and let the ball go by him. Shaw getting to third base, Melchior bounded a high one to Vares and reached first base in safety. All this time Flunk was tearing for the plate and reached it in safety. Three and two are five, is it not? Well, that is one more than we had when the last man was retired in the last half of the ninth inning. What the use of going farther with this tale? Both Scores Are the Same and Are a Row of Goose Eggs.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 13.—The Hogan and Graham entries ran equally well in the mid today, splitting the double-header with a taste of urke and a taste of crow for each team. In each instance the score was the same—3 to 0. When the Tigers finished the first game, a shout went up from their crowd that they were a mark of thirty-two innings without being scored against. Their hopes for a longer run of pinners were soon dashed when the visitors scored a run in the opening inning of the second game. The full run came in the first inning, when the Seals scored three runs, scoring Alby and Easterly. Shaw kept right on and made second base. Thomas now contributed his share to the error line and let the ball go by him. Shaw getting to third base, Melchior bounded a high one to Vares and reached first base in safety. Notes of the Diamond

Aint it awful, Charlie? We drop another to those pesky Seals, and to think it is done when we had the game looked in the safe and were just about ready to throw the key away.

It was a truly hard luck game to lose, and while the writer don't want to criticize the manager of the team, he should have left Christian in the box. Tyler was a sink and certain else. He had a fair better chance to pull out of the hole than did Lively, but Jack sent in the best. While four of those made by Thomas last night enough yet to hold a speed burner like Jack, and he had difficulty in holding the big fellows curves. This, in a great measure, had much to do with our losing that game.

Hope is not yet dead and the Oaks may yet get rid of that junk. It is tough on a ball team to play the ball the locals do and then to have one bad spell. Jack is a great factor and the Oaks are bound to get out of the groove. Let's go out tomorrow and see if we can't help the boys grab both of the games.

Every swat the Oaks tore off the delivery of Frank Easton had a wing to it. The Seals' staff of pitchers, made by Long and Ewing's men were scratchy. Shaw gets one in at seventh inning and the Seals' pitcher, who is and why he got in so bad. He also intends making a statement about several other things and scores in the weekly west. If it isn't too long THE TRIBUNE will grant him space to give his side of his troubles.

Oakland fans are awaiting the coming of next Sunday, for several hundred of them are going to Sacramento on the big excursion over the Western Pacific. Get in the band wagon if you want a big trip and at the same time help the boys along.

Oakland will battle with the Senators next week, and when those series are over it will then be seen whether the Seals or the Oaks are to be the pennant winners. The locals are hit clean behind McArdle's men today and here is still a chance to overtake them. The fact that McArdle's men have won several games in the last few days is a great benefit to them, but we must bear in mind that they are on the road. The Seals are at home and the Oaks are on the road. It is rapidly mending now and he is anxious to take his turn.

Harry Wolverton poked the ball with neatness and dispatch. His homer was a long line drive over the right-field fence, and a fan just passing at that time said the ball went as far as the fourth street.

There will be the usual double-header today, the before-lunch game being at 12:30 and the afternoon affair over the bay. Should it rain, of course there will be no games, but Ewing and Walker say it may have to sprinkle pretty hard to put a damper on the day's sport.

Harry Nelson may pose in the line-hat during one of the games today. His arm is all right, but his hip has been bad. It is rapidly mending now and he is anxious to take his turn.

The man who figures the averages for the Oaks is looking the facts of the last time he compiled the pitching averages that Christian was up among the leaders.

Up to the last game he lost Tyler had won ten straight games, a high gave him a fine standing in the averages.

The game tomorrow between the Oaks and the Seals will commence at 2:45, as will all week-day games hereafter, except those of Saturday, which will commence at the usual hour, 2:30 p. m.

Ping Rodie grabbed off two long doubles yesterday. The first one went almost to the big brush at short, and the other went up against the clubhouse. At that, Hogan would have got them both but for the little fan and for the ropes that were stretched over the end of the field.

Walter McCredie and the Beavers will be the attraction against the Seals next week. All the Oakland fans are anxious to see the Seals' play as well as against the north-easters as they have again the locals.

Dolly Gray, the former Los Angeles twirler now with the Washington Americans, will pitch the ball park yesterday afternoon at 1:30.

Tomorrow afternoon the Chicago Cubs, winners of the National League pennant, will meet the Philadelphia Athletics, winners of the American League pennant in the big game at the Coliseum.

Each of these two is a man who has been a factor in the baseball world for many years. The Cubs are the team that has won the most games in the history of the game, and the Athletics are the team that has won the most games in the history of the game.

All in all the series should prove a world beater from a playing point of view, as well as from a point of view of the fans. It will go down in history as the greatest ever. Here's hoping that the best team wins.

Oakland begins a most important series Tuesday night when it meets the Seals at the team. With all the confidence in them that the law allow, I look for the Seals to win the game. The Seals are the team that has won the most games in the history of the game, and the Athletics are the team that has won the most games in the history of the game.

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 13.—Portland's shutout increased to eight today and it still looks good. The Beavers won the game, 3 to 0. The whitewash performance came near being broken in the fourth inning, when the Angels started off with a hit, a walk and a sacrifice. With men on second and third and none out, Dillon hit in front of the plate and was an easy out. Then Kennedy cut a double over first that started for foul territory as soon as it touched the ground. Rapps was on it like a hawk. However, Steen was on the bag to get his throw.

There was a big crowd out and the fans divided their time between keeping track of the number of innings the Beavers had not been scored on and the returns from the Oakland-San Francisco game. The gloomy intelligence that the Proteaters had a four-run lead in the early innings did not cause a bit of enthusiasm, but when the Seals' sput came in the crowd went wild and fully a thousand hung around after the game until the final score came in.

The Angels made only one hit off Steen. It was a healthy swing by Daley that opened the fourth inning. That came was the only time they got past second base.

The Beavers did not make any impression on Toner until Sheehan singled in the fifth.

In the sixth Ryan, Olson and Kruger singled in a row. Ryan scored and Kruger started for home. Sheehan's throw from second whiffled the ball to Howard and Olson dashed for the plate. Howard swung around a back and it hit the grandstand.

CONQUERS ROAD ON MT. RAINIER

E-M-F Reaches Point Never Before Touched by Automobile.

Reaching a point within one mile of "Camp of the Clouds" and three miles beyond the point ever reached by an automobile before on the treacherous trail to the summit of Washington's lofty peak, Mount Rainier, was the feat of an E. M. F. "20" automobile last Sunday. Recent hard rains turned the road into a horrible condition and had it not been for the fact the nature of purposes of the trip had demanded it, the E. M. F. would probably not have scored such a remarkable victory.

Permits were first obtained from the government officials to drive the E. M. F. beyond the usual stopping place of automobiles, Nisqually glacier to Narada falls. The driver and occupants of the machine pushed on to within one mile of Reese's Camp, popularly known as "Camp of the Clouds," beyond which point driving became impossible on account of literally thousands of stumps and hundreds of other obstructions in the shape of big boulders, fallen trees and washed-out portions of ground.

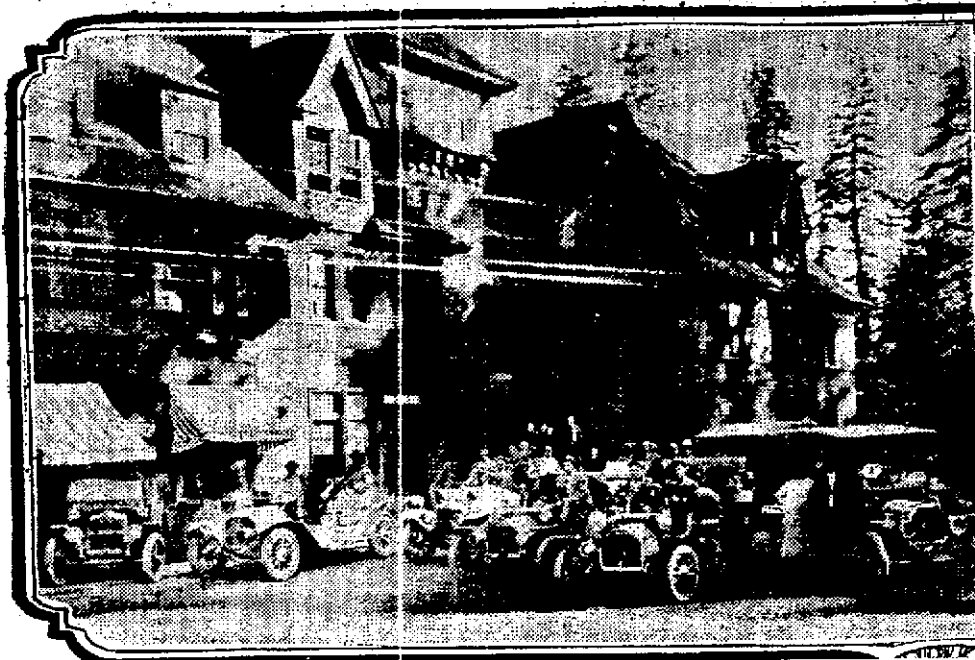

Only one automobile this season reached Narada Falls, a Studebaker belonging to Secretary of the Interior R. A. Ballinger. The government engineer who was met by the E. M. F. party stated that in his five years' service he had never seen it run so hard or the conditions of the road so bad. So deep was the mud that 65 miles of the trip was made in the intermediate gear.

An interesting incident of the trip was the picking up of N. E. Ruddy, a prominent banker of New York city. The latter had made the trip to the medallion by stage and train from Tacoma and welcomed the lift of the E. M. F. to Seattle. While Ruddy is the owner of two high priced machines, he was so impressed with the performance of the E. M. F. that he voluntarily placed an order for a car of its make to be delivered to him at Lakewood, N. J., on March 1, 1914.

Ruddy's order was a complete surprise to W. F. Pinetone of the Seattle Studebaker branch, who drove the car.

NEW RACING ASSOCIATION MEETING WITH FAVOR

Big Membership Looked For; Endurance Run to Tahoe Still the Subject of Much Comment

By J. A. HOULIHAN.

The action of the San Francisco Automobile dealers on Friday last when about thirty-five of them met at the Tahoe Tavern and organized the Pacific Coast Racing Association, was the subject of considerable comment yesterday along the row in town here and in San Francisco.

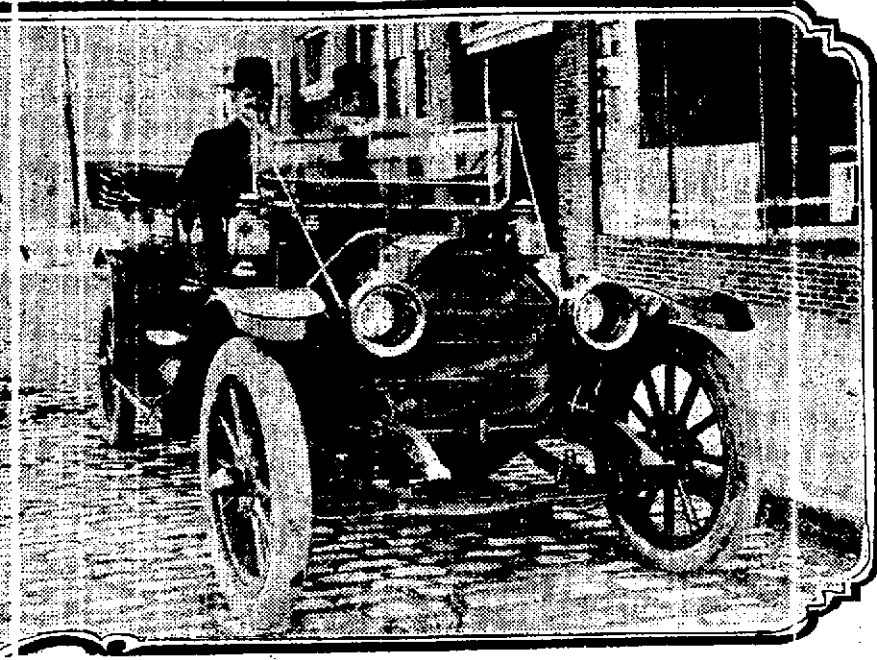

Clark Ferris, far famed along the entire coast, was in town yesterday conferring with the various commercial interests. The decision of the new racing association in selecting Ferris to promote a meet of this kind insures its success. As stated in these columns on Thursday last, while it is the writer's own opinion that the selection of a date in the early spring is preferable to New Year's day, which is the date now selected, still if January 1 should be the permanent date and it is possible to bring a better card of drivers here for that day than would come in April or May, then the January date should stand. The question of having drivers known the country over, who have made their marks in such classics as the Vanderbilt, Elgin Trophy, Grand Prix and Fairmount Park events, behind the wheel in the big thundering racing cars will give the race more prominence and place in the Eastern dailies and trade journals than an event in which there were many humorous incidents along the route. They tell one on Judge Ed Shortall. He was riding in the big White steamer with Gus Kilborn of Kilborn Hayden fame, and a few of the press representatives. Earlier in the day the car had met with an accident and a step at Truckee of some few hours in which to make repairs was necessary. This day served to spur the driver of the car to get all the speed in his car out of it in order to make up lost time. At around 1:30 in the evening when it was raining dark and the car was heading Auburn river, the driver lost the road. Soon car, driver and party landed in one of the many lumber camps in that section of the country. Hauling one of the camp laborers the Honorable Ed inquired of the ax wielder the right road to Auburn. "I no see him for last half hour," came back the quick and honest reply. Wonder what would happen to this Geok should he come before Ed for sentence some bright morning. "Life," he'd get, no thanks.

Arriving at the Tavern on Sunday night last, kidding themselves of the Sierra mud and dust, and partaking of one of the famous Tavern trout dinners, a number of the boys decided to while away the time at the bowling alley. Arthur Hull, the irrepressible Arthur, suggested a match between teams from Oakland and San Francisco. Arthur was some boy with the big pins, to hear him tell it. As any rate the match was made. Hull was Oakland captain. From the time he had handed out he and he alone was the big leader. All others were from the back logs. The match was on. It was soon over. Oakland won.

It is reported that this year's Vanderbilt brought a close to the remarkable career of Louis Chevrolet as a touring car driver. If this report is authentic it but substantiates a rumor that was given circulation some weeks ago that the Vanderbilt would be the last speed contest in which the great Buick driver would enter. The reason then given for Chevrolet's proposed withdrawal from the racing game was the fact that the Buick factory considered him far too valuable a mechanic in the plant to longer risk his life as a race driver.

Should Chevrolet continue in his resolve to give up racing it can but be realized that the Vanderbilt marks a fitting finale to a career noted for indomitable courage. According to Eastern reports he greatest sensation of the whole meet was the fearlessness of this driver. In making up the time he lost on account of repeated tire troubles. With a safe lead to his credit on the eighth lap Chevrolet began to experience tire trouble but forced him back, but in no way shook his determination to win. On the fourteenth lap he began to pick up again and for the fifteenth, sixteenth and seventeenth he closed the course at a speed that made the spectators hold their breath. Between seventy and eighty miles an hour was averaged, while over a hundred miles an hour was made on some of the straightaways. On the eighteenth lap, by the most furious driving ever seen on a racing course, he had again taken the lead and but for the mad attempt to increase it on a bad stretch and the consequent accident that put him over the embankment and out of the running would in all probability have taken the trophy.

Truckee is some town. It still maintains many of the old-time games of chance—for you who may play it—not the "house." The game was first devised for the "house." Fred Becker, known in town here as one of the Maxwell boys, Doctor Harvey, the well known medical and knife wielder of that little town across the bay; Elly Klingler of Bremen's

Fund Insurance promoters, and a few of the other boys took a chance at one of them—some kind of a dice game—I forget the name of it; it doesn't make much difference anyway. Freddie won't tell how much he picked up with Doc Harvey's patients will be soaked double amount for the next few months; auto insurance rates in Frisco are on the ascent. The answer is ready guessed. In the meantime the barkeeper of one of the Truckee Rest Havens is hoping for another endurance run up his way, this time with Truckee as the stopping place. He will even offer a cup to the winner. He didn't tell what kind of a cup he meant. It will be a cup, nevertheless.

1911 CHALMERS 40 ARRIVES HERE

Latest Model of Well Known Motor Car Contains Many Detail Refinements.

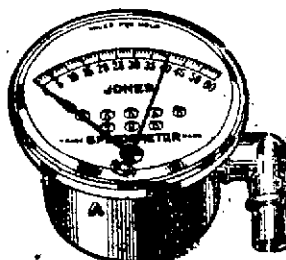

The first of the 1911 Chalmers 40's were received last week at the Pioneer Automobile Company and have attracted much attention since then on the various San Francisco and Oakland streets and transbay roads. They embody all these refinements of detail noted in the Chalmers 20's when they made their first appearance here a few weeks since, and completely covered all the latest development in motor car finish.

A thorough try-out given these cars over the hardest roads in the bay sections have proven them to possess at least 25 per cent more power than the Chalmers 40's of last season. Speaking of them, M. S. Harris, of the Pioneer Company's sales force, said, "I have given these cars much attention since their arrival here, having tested them on grades recognizedly the hardest in this locality and must say that their abundance of power exceeded my expectations. The engine is the quietest that I have ever had the opportunity to use and all vibration seems to have been absolutely eliminated."

CHEVROLET TO END HIS RACING CAREER

Vanderbilt Cup Race Marks Last Performance of Swiss Dare Devil.

It is reported that this year's Vanderbilt brought a close to the remarkable career of Louis Chevrolet as a touring car driver. If this report is authentic it but substantiates a rumor that was given circulation some weeks ago that the Vanderbilt would be the last speed contest in which the great Buick driver would enter. With a safe lead to his credit on the eighth lap Chevrolet began to experience tire trouble but forced him back, but in no way shook his determination to win. On the fourteenth lap he began to pick up again and for the fifteenth, sixteenth and seventeenth he closed the course at a speed that made the spectators hold their breath. Between seventy and eighty miles an hour was averaged, while over a hundred miles an hour was made on some of the straightaways. On the eighteenth lap, by the most furious driving ever seen on a racing course, he had again taken the lead and but for the mad attempt to increase it on a bad stretch and the consequent accident that put him over the embankment and out of the running would in all probability have taken the trophy.

Oakland Is Recognized Abroad as an Ideal City in Which to Make Investments

OAKLAND DEVELOPING AS A DISTRIBUTING AND TRADING CENTER

Every Industry, Business and Profession
Derives a Benefit from the Changed
Conditions That Are Taking Place

"Oakland is rapidly becoming a great business exchange and distributing center," was the sage remark made the other day by one of Oakland's most observing citizens and also one of its keenest and most enterprising business men. And then he went on to cite "authorities," as the lawyer would say, to sustain his assertion. And these citations covered almost every field of business and industry and every profession, for Oakland is becoming known far and wide not only as a growing city with a large population within its boundaries, but one with an even larger tributary population in a territory which is constantly expanding. As a growing city it is very attractive to the investor in realty who is seeking opportunities.

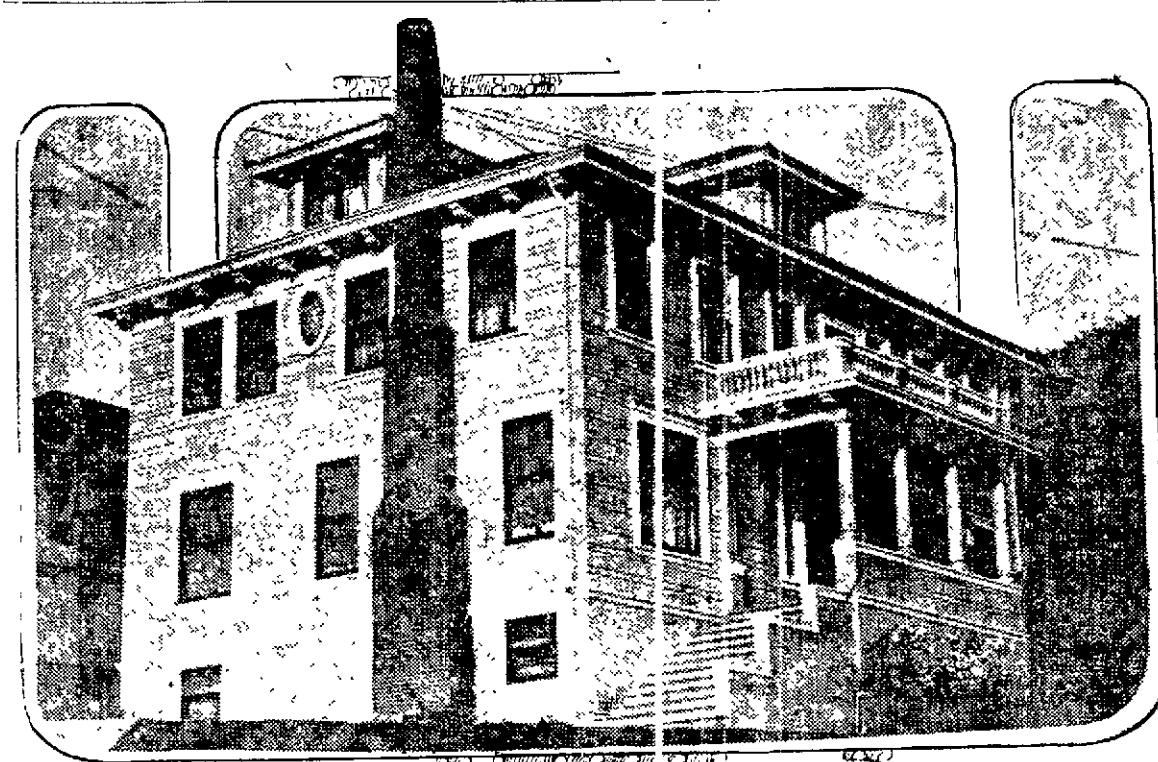

An Ideal City for Investment

The capitalist who desires to get profitable employment for his money in the industries finds that Oakland is an ideal place for the purpose—a place where sites convenient to land and water transportation can be leased or bought outright at a much less cost than in any other city on the Pacific Coast possessing corresponding facilities for reaching markets with industrial products. Very recently an important industry was located on a leased tract of land in the East Oakland district convenient to two transcontinental railroads and the water front, the rental of which is only one-tenth what a corresponding area with inferior facilities would have cost in San Francisco, according to the admissions of its promoters.

It is estimated by a prominent realty man that there are a score of firms located in Oakland dealing in country lands. Some of them are handling Oregon property; others are dealing in San Joaquin delta lands; others are handling Sacramento valley properties, and still others are trading in Fresno lands; "but every one of them," added this broad-minded realty trader, "are bringing money into Oakland and drawing buyers of merchandise, homes and homesteads here. We are, therefore, reaping benefit, by indirection, through the presence in this city of these firms that are dealing exclusively in country lands, for much of the trading is done in the way of exchange for Oakland property and those who sell country lands in Oakland invariably come here to invest their money in Oakland property. We have met with innumerable instances of the kind. That makes Oakland a distributing center and it is becoming more important in that respect practically every day. What is more, every business benefits by it, and Oakland is making new friends throughout the interior."

Value of Visitors to Oakland

"The number of visitors to Oakland who have business to transact connected with this city and country land exchanges are increasing every week. They furnish patronage to hotels, restaurants, dry goods stores, clothing and other businesses and to the members of the professions. It might surprise you to learn that the fame of Oakland's professional men, its colleges and hospitals and other institutions are being spread abroad by these transient visitors. Take, for example, a case which came under my personal observation the other day when I had an engagement to keep with a leading dentist. For four hours before my turn came he had been operating on the teeth of one of the wealthiest citizens of Los Angeles who came here from that city specially to keep the appointment, and another wealthy citizen of Nevada had come all the way for a similar purpose, and was then in Oakland and had to remain here forty-eight hours before he could get a chance to enter the dentist's chair. It is transients of the kind that furnish patronage for the hotels, that buy goods from our merchants and that after surveying the city during their stay here and taking notice of its growth, decide to invest some of their spare capital in Oakland property. These are the elements of Oakland's business and professional life that are growing more common every successive week, and they all add to Oakland's importance as a distributing center."

ONE YEAR AGO IN ROCK RIDGE

Tomorrow the Rock Ridge properties will be one year old. On October 17 of last year Rock Ridge Park, the first of these properties in the Broadway foothills was put on the market. The Lawrence Real Estate company's sales amounting to $112,000 have been made since that time. Much of the day of development has been accomplished within the year, and the work of improving still continues. Whereas a year ago there was no street work done in Rock Ridge and it had none of the improvements which the other residence districts of the city had, today it has practically all of them. The pavements in the park will be finished within a few weeks, electricity, telephone and water are in, cement curbs, gutters and sidewalks are laid.

NORTH BERKELEY SUBDIVISIONS

Demand Active for Residence
Sites in the Electric Loop Line District.

BERKELEY, Oct. 15.—A feature of the present trading in Berkeley realty is the demand for residence lots in North Berkeley in the vicinity of the Southern Pacific electric loop line, which is to begin operation next March, according to a recent announcement of the company.
In advance of the completion of the local tracks, numerous sales are reported in North Berkeley, Berkeley Heights, Thousand Oaks and Corinto Park. These tracts, popularly known as the electric loop properties, are being sold by the Berkeley Land Company, which reports that it has made sales amounting to $200,000 within the last three months. Among these transactions, there have been four sales totaling a point of between 25 and 30 per cent. The business has been done months before the line is to be built.
North Oakland, in the same district, is also showing favor with the home-seeker and investor.
Eugene L. B. Co. & Co.'s monthly sales average $1600. So steady is the sale in this subdivision that the firm is devoting practically all its time to it.

DURABLE PAVEMENTS IN OAKLAND MARK ITS METROPOLITAN GROWTH

Macadam Roadways Are Being Treated With
Crude Oil With Good Results to Neighboring Property Values

Street improvement is becoming an influential factor in Oakland's modern development. The village era of simple macadam pavements is past. The man who advocates them is properly classed as a silurian. The property owner who is content with them is frowned down as a man living behind the times. Macadam pavements are incapable of carrying present day traffic. They cannot resist the friction of even the rubber-tired automobile. It is generally acknowledged that macadam lacks cohesiveness, hence is incapable of sustaining modern traffic.

Adoption of Durable Pavement Marks Growth

Nothing so marks Oakland's metropolitan growth as the acknowledged inferiority of macadam as a street pavement and the strenuous effort which is being made to cover its defects and introduce a more durable road material.

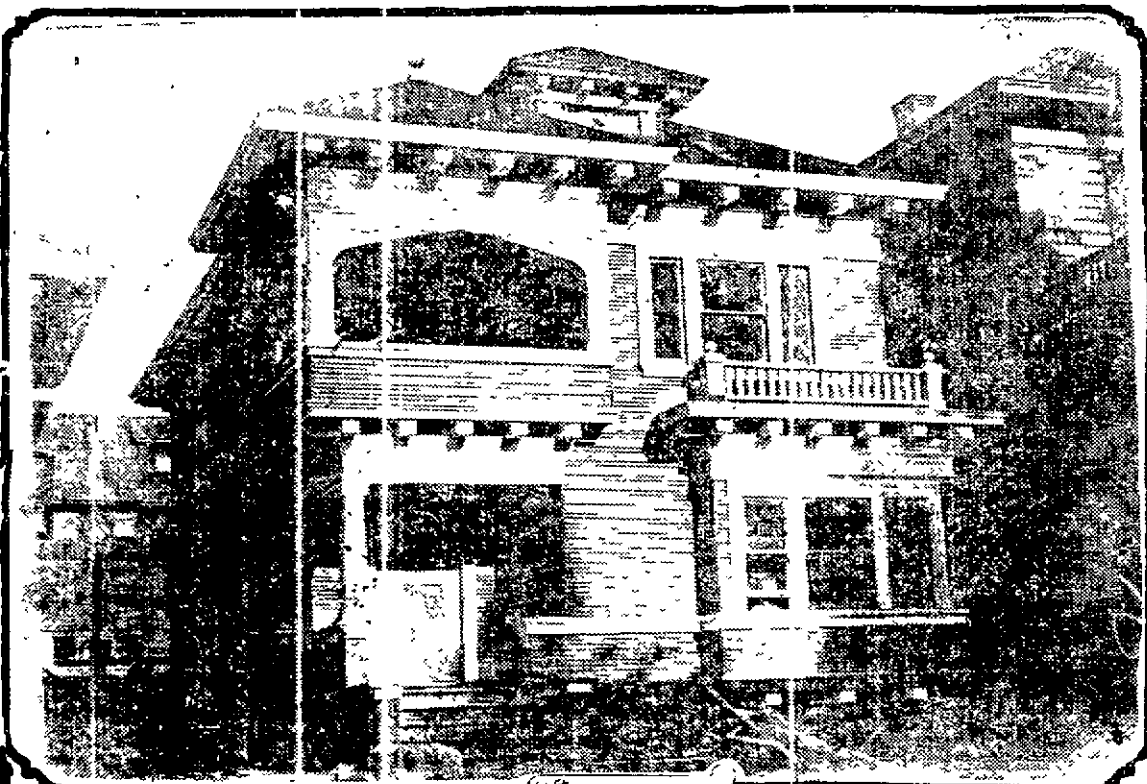

In the south side district durable pavements of the most modern type are being substituted for the macadam which has failed to carry the heavy traffic the past five years imposed on that district. The water front traffic today is not that of twenty years ago. Light wheeled vehicles are things of the past in that section. And in the newly-opened residential districts, which the expansion of the city has developed, plain macadam is not in favor. A more durable pavement has been found necessary to adopt. Thus, in such new tracts as Rock Ridge, which have been opened for settlement in the foothill districts, oiled macadam has been introduced. Experience has demonstrated the fact that oiling macadam furnishes a durable bond to the material used as a base in road construction, assures a smooth surface, prevents disintegration and dust in summer and mud in winter, as it sheds the rain as promptly as it falls. Those who are promoting the opening of new tracts to meet the demands of the city's growth of population recognize this fact and are acting accordingly.

Municipal Changes in Road Construction

The municipal administration has also become alive to the situation and the changed conditions of road traffic. This year it adopted the policy of oiling macadamized roadways. Seventeen and one-half miles of macadam roadways have been successfully treated with oil during the season which has just closed and the value of the process from an economic standpoint has been fully established. Macadam roadways that have been so treated have proved to be equal in general results to the more expensive asphalt pavements, so far as their ability to resist the effects of traffic. The future carrying out of this policy means that in time all of Oakland's streets will be eventually dustless in summer and free from mud in winter, making the city therefore, ideal for residence and business purposes and enhancing the value of realty correspondingly.

Oiling the Macadamized Boulevards

While Oakland is growing at a rapid rate commercially and is thus making a big demand on the owners of property within its commercial area for improved pavements that will carry the heaviest traffic which commerce creates, it is also developing a system of boulevards throughout the non-commercial section on which is required to carry an enormous traffic of a lighter character, but which simple macadam has proved incapable of doing. Oiled macadam seems, however, to suit the case exactly, hence we may reasonably expect that next year a materially increased mileage of this class of road work will be carried out, thus adding immensely to the comforts of residence here and to the value of property in all parts of the city.

SUBURBAN LOTS ARE IN DEMAND

A decided upward trend in the market for suburban properties in Oakland, supported by the confidence of out-of-town investors and the activity of contracting builders is a marked feature of the realty market. M. T. Minney reports that the suburban tracts handled by his company including the Melrose Heights, Lywood and Broadmoor properties, have been very active and that within 20 days there have been sold over $100,000 worth of lots.
There is at present order course of construction a row of fifteen houses in the Melrose Heights tract and there was sold last week $18,000 worth of lots in the tract to William T. McLean, who will immediately construct along the north side of the boulevard a number of cement houses of the mission style of architecture such as the one built in the Piedmont district. These houses built upon the hill will have a remarkably fine location and an excellent view.

He has announced that he intends to back a down to hard campaign work for the defeat of the Republican ticket in this state.

Property Values in Oakland's Business District Are Rising Very Rapidly

BROADWAY FRONTAGE VALUES

Bercovich Lease of the Northwest Corner of Twelfth Street Object Lesson.

The Bercovichs lost no time in starting to alter the building which about two years ago was the home of the defunct Union National Bank, for the day following the filing of the lease in the office of the County Recorder workmen were on the premises removing the partitions on the ground floor preparatory to ripping out the outer walls of the first story to remodel the structure in accordance with plans which had been incorporated in the lease as a part of it.

Changes in the

The outer walls of the two frontages of the first floor give way to modern store fronts. The tearing out of these walls has begun. The area under the sidewalk from the property line to the outer edge of the curbstone is to be excavated and the cellar under the building extended to the curb line. The bay windows in the upper stories are to be ripped out and a new and much different cornice to the old one will set off the roof line of the top story. The money to pay for the improvement, amounting to $37,000, has been deposited in escrow, $15,000 of it being put up by the Adams estate and the remainder by the lessors. While the latter are paying a rental equivalent to 6 per cent or a front foot valuation of $8000 for a term of fifteen years, they figure on making a handsome profit on the investment and no one doubts their ability to do it.

Frontage Values of Land in the business district is valued at its earning capacity and the Bercovich lease fixes the highest front foot mark so far reached on Broadway, the previous high water mark being $6000 per front foot as represented in the last transfer of the Macdonough building at the southeast corner of Fourteenth and Broadway. Come to think of it, $8000 per front foot for property located in Oakland's retail business center comes very near as high as the frontage valuation of the choicest property on Market street, San Francisco. The developments of the next five years in Oakland will, in all probability, put land values in the two cities on a par.

SWAPPING CITY FOR COUNTRY LAND

Manager W. E. Johnson of the country and exchange department of Taylor Brothers states that it is almost impossible to keep up with the demand by the insistent demand for Oakland investments, both by those who wish to buy a lot of the leaders of country ranches and acreage wishing to exchange.

A deal involving $50,000 consummated last week by Taylor Brothers was the exchange of 400 acres under irrigation in the Sacramento valley by George P. Barber for property on

A cash sale concluded by the same firm was for the purchase of one-half section of San Joaquin valley land under new irrigation to B. J. Williams, formerly of Chicago, for $12,000. Williams bought for investment and will retain his residence in Berkeley.

COURT CLERK PRISONER; WATER BRINGS RELEASE

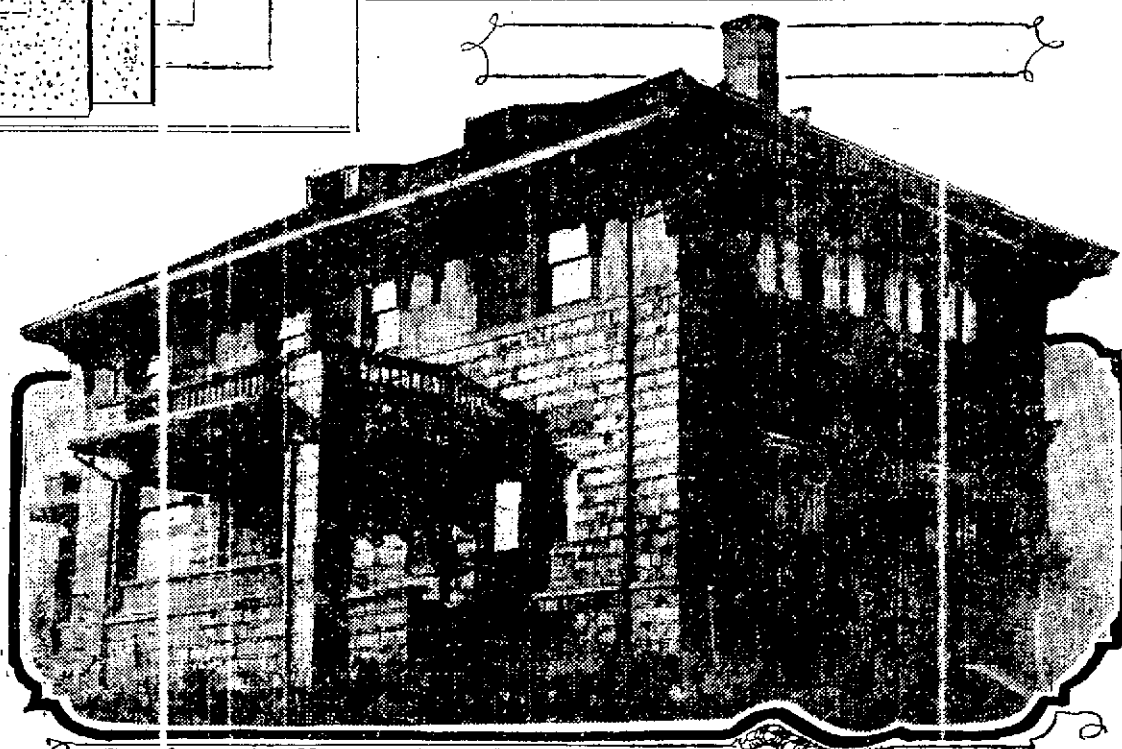

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 15.—E. C. Owen, chief clerk of the United States District Court, was a prisoner for two hours yesterday. Busy at work he forgot the lunch hour and a zealous janitor locked the courtroom door. Owen's appetite finally suggested the time of day and he found himself locked in. He attempted various means of attracting attention. Finally one proved successful. He threw several cups of water out of the window and complaints from pedestrians led to the discovery of Owen's predicament and he was released.

OAKLAND BANK CLEARINGS LEAD

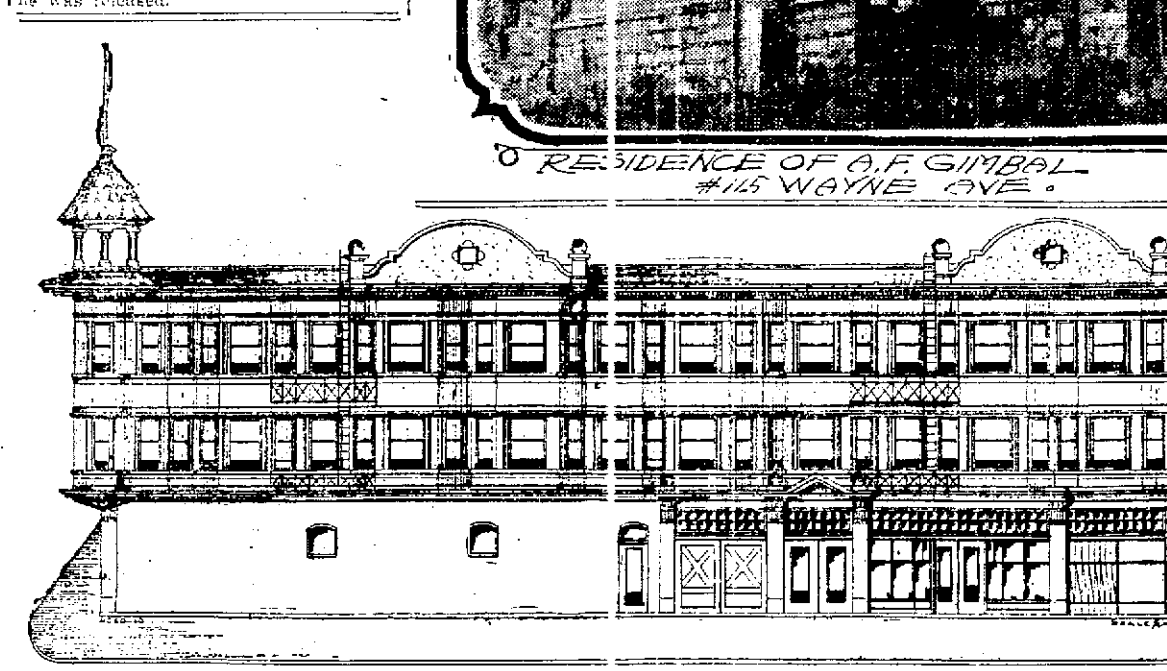

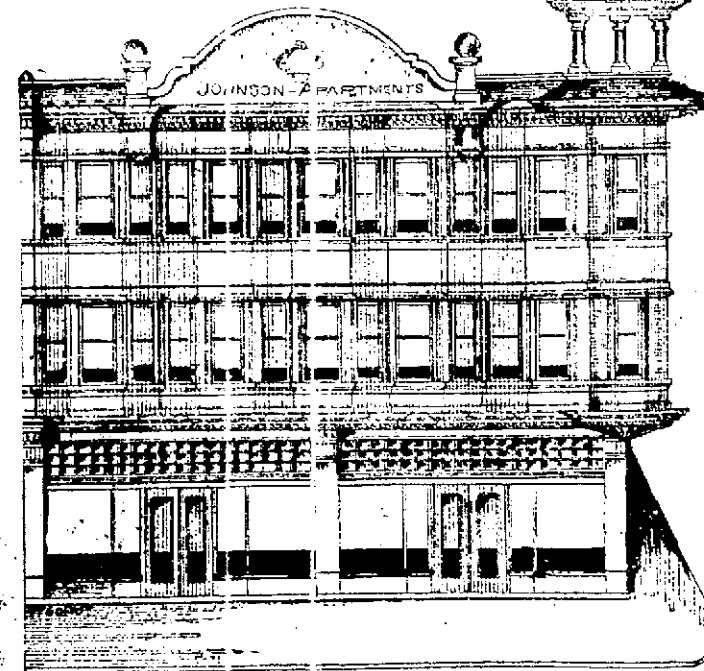

Stands Once More on Top as City Showing Highest Percentage of Gain.

Oakland stands once more at the head of the list of clearing house cities in the United States as showing the highest percentage of gain in its bank clearings for the week ending Thursday as compared with the record of the corresponding week of 1918. It figures in Bradstreet's clearing house reports for the week ending October 11 with 62.6 per cent increase, which gives it the premier position in the list—a position which it has now held for several weeks.

The following Pacific Coast cities show a much smaller gain, as follows: San Francisco, 5.9 per cent; Seattle, 10.6 per cent; Portland, Ore., 15.6 per cent; Spokane, 10.6 per cent; Sacramento, 25.5 per cent. The following Pacific Coast cities show a decrease in the bank clearings of the week: Salt Lake City, 12.1 per cent; Tacoma, 5.1 per cent. Los Angeles, is not credited with either gain or loss.

ALAMEDA SOUTH SIDE BOOMING

Many New Residences Started There; Fraternal Organizations Plan Buildings.

ALAMEDA, Oct. 15.—Alameda has experienced a brisk week in real estate transactions. Many outside residents are looking for building sites in this city and local firms report closing several substantial transactions.

It was reported this week that the Cohen property, the largest tract in the east end, and one of the largest entire tracts in the city, was to be transferred, but the rumor was later denied. The owners of the property expected to subdivide it into building lots about a year ago, but the tract has so far remained entire. It will probably be divided when the Southern Pacific electric system is completed. The new electric cars will run alongside the property, the company having the right of way through a portion of the land.

The south shore is booming at the present time, many new residences having been started on the streets leading to the bay. Dr. W. O. Smith's new home at 806 Grand street will be one of the most pretentious in the city. Although only a seven-room dwelling, it will cost $7,023, which will insure a well built and artistic residence.

Work on the eighth school is progressing rapidly. Alameda aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, is considering the advisability of building a new lodge house on a site recently purchased by the aerie on the north side of Alameda avenue west of Park street.

Oak Grove lodge of Masons is also discussing building plans and is trying to dispose of the Macdonough temple, which has been on the market for several months. The latter is located at the southwest corner of Park street and Alameda avenue.

The monthly reports of the building inspector show that considerable money is being invested in Alameda realty. Many improvements are also being made to old dwellings and stores.

BUILDING PERMITS.

The following building permits have been issued by Building Inspector John Davies during the week: Owner, Dr. W. O. Smith; two-story 7-room dwelling at 806 Grand street; cost, $7,023.

Owner, J. H. H. Sale; brick boiler room, 1723 Lincoln avenue; cost, $250.

Owner, W. H. Foster; addition to 1814 Lincoln avenue; cost, $143.

Owner, L. R. Waggoner; repairs to 1418 and 1420 Broadway; cost, $150.

Owner, R. B. Fields; alteration to 1307 Bay street; cost, $175.

Owner, Matwine Bronson; two-story 8-room house on the north side of Santa Clara street, 30 feet east of Court street; cost, $4,000.

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has purchased five acres south of Polk street for an extension of its freight terminals and buildings are being torn down to make way for the tracks. The improvement is said to be part of the company's project to build a $50,000,000 passenger depot on the site of the Union station at Canal and Adams streets.

The price was $1,500,000, or $3 a square foot.

That the plans for the new station have been prepared is known and the uncertainty over the result of the move for increased freight rates is said to have a strong bearing on the date for beginning work.

HOSPITALS FOR CONSUMPTIVES

Plans Adopted for Three Buildings by County Supervisors.

The first elevation and the ground plans of the three pavilions which the board of supervisors have decided to erect on the county infirmary grounds for the isolation and special treatment of tuberculosis patients are reproduced from Architect F. D. Voorhees' drawings in this issue of THE TRIBUNE. The three pavilions are to be constructed on the same designs. Each pavilion will contain twenty-four beds, twelve in each wing. To all intents and purposes these pavilions provide for an open-air treatment, as wire screens will take the place of glass windows and solid doors, the roof only protecting the inmates from the rain in wet weather.

The plans of the pavilions embrace everything which has been suggested by experience in the treatment of patients afflicted with tuberculosis elsewhere. The buildings will be constructed on the same designs, each pavilion will contain twenty-four beds, twelve in each wing. To all intents and purposes these pavilions provide for an open-air treatment, as wire screens will take the place of glass windows and solid doors, the roof only protecting the inmates from the rain in wet weather.

Each building will be composed of three divisions. The central part will be 88 feet long and 24 feet wide, and will contain an assembly room, dressing rooms, a diet kitchen, a room for nurses with private lavatory, a general lavatory for patients, bath and shower rooms, a linen room and a room for cleaning beds. The wings will be each 77 feet in length and 20 feet in width, each wing containing twelve beds and supplied with a locker for each patient. The buildings will be so constructed that every part will get a sunny exposure throughout the day. Doors, floors and walls will be constructed aseptically to prevent the lodgment of disease germs.

The buildings are designed only as temporary structures, being built wholly of wood. The total cost is estimated at $12,500, for which provision has been made in the tax levy. Bids will be advertised for during the coming week. These will be opened on November 21, when an award will probably be made and the construction of the buildings undertaken immediately thereafter.

(By Count von Elphberg.)
BERLIN, Oct. 15.—The Greek throne is in danger. The monarchs of Europe are looking with anxiety on the situation where the advent of republicanism appears to them to be menacing. These monarchs are not only anxious to prevent the spread of republicanism, but they are also anxious to prevent the spread of the Greek throne. The monarchs are looking with anxiety on the situation where the advent of republicanism appears to them to be menacing. These monarchs are not only anxious to prevent the spread of republicanism, but they are also anxious to prevent the spread of the Greek throne.

KING SANE MAN.

The King, who is a sane man and who protects the danger, is endeavoring to prevent the spread of republicanism. The monarchs are looking with anxiety on the situation where the advent of republicanism appears to them to be menacing. These monarchs are not only anxious to prevent the spread of republicanism, but they are also anxious to prevent the spread of the Greek throne.

PARIS TO USE LASH ON CROOKS

Corporal Punishment Said to Be the Only Criminal Cure for Apaches.

Hotel Thieves Prosper and Wax Fat in French Hostelrys.

PARIS, Oct. 15.—Many serious-minded public officials believe that the only way to deal with the criminal element in Paris is by the use of corporal punishment. They are seriously considering whether or not it would not be a good thing to revive the custom of lashing the guilty criminals in the streets. There is a very general opinion that magistrates are too lenient and do not punish them to the full extent of the law.

HOTEL THIEVES WORK

Hotel thieves continue their work. They have just robbed a large hotel in the Rue de Rivoli. The thieves seem to belong to a rather better organized class than those who are usually called "lads" and who are usually found in the streets. It was the thief who was caught in the act of stealing a watch from a guest's room. He was caught by the hotel manager and taken to the police station. CAPITAL SOCIETY HAS SEVERAL LEADERS

First Lady of Land Divides Honors With Others of Lesser Fame.

HOSTESSES TAKE CUE FROM WHITE HOUSE

Truxtun Beales Open Town House in Washington for Season.

(By CONSTANCE CAMERON)

WASHINGTON Oct. 15.—The question is not infrequently asked who is the leader of Washington society, and the answer is about the same to the question as to smiles in Ireland. There are a number of more different sets in Washington society, each with its own leader or leaders, but there is no one dominant figure such as the late Mrs. Astor was in New York. Conditions are responsible for this. Washington is a city of changes. Men and women come and go as in no other place in the world. It would be supposed that the lady of the White House would be the social arbiter but this is not so. The White House set necessarily changes as the occupants of the White House change. It reflects the personal tastes of the ruler of the nation and of the first lady of the land. Necessarily, also political expediency cannot be wholly left out in arranging many of the White House gatherings. The private entertainments are often those not made up of those who are genuinely congenial to the White House occupants.

CUE FROM WHITE HOUSE

Official society takes its cue largely from the White House set, but it also has many activities of its own. Its leaders are drawn from the families of those Senators, Representatives and other government officials who have social prestige, giving them the ability to contribute to the gaiety of the social season.

The most brilliant set is the diplomatic, but here too the personal changes so frequent that it is next to impossible for any one person to achieve and hold position of dominance.

With the coming of the diplomatic corps, not only in the chief, but among the secretaries and attaches. One that will be especially regretted is the departure of the French minister's daughter, Lieutenant Colonel James de la Roche. During the three seasons they have spent here, their charming and frequent entertainments have afforded a most enjoyable social life, and whose home is a place where no one has not been on a visit in which they have moved. Their work in the people mind and in the diplomatic circle is a most important one. ADMISSION OF YOUNG MAN CAUSES BIG ROW

(By D. V. FRANCES)

NEW YORK Oct. 15.—The New York society is again torn up by the admission of a young man to the ranks which have been regarded as "fundamentals" by the Presbyterian church. Among them the young man is a member of the Presbyterian church, and his admission to the ranks of the church has caused a big row. The church has been divided into two camps, one of which is in favor of the admission of the young man, and the other is against it. DENMARK SMILES AT WASHINGTON INCIDENT

Negro Dines With King and Nation Fails to Find Fault.

COLOR QUESTION IS ABSENT ABRJAD

Queen Alexandria of England Spends Season at Villa Huidore.

(By ERIC GRUNDMARK)

COPENHAGEN Oct. 15.—The mark proper has no color question and hence the fact that the king had Dr. Bocker of Washington the noted negro educator dine at the palace with the royal family did not cause the comment which the invitation to lunch extended to Dr. Vast-ington by former President Roosevelt did in America. Nevertheless there are some who are acquainted with conditions in the Danish West Indies who are quietly suggesting that the king's invitation may have an effect in the colonies where there is the same color question which exists wherever the white and colored races are brought into contact. The color question is not so acute perhaps in the Danish West Indies as it is at other points but it is there nevertheless.

ENJOYS OUTING

Queen Alexandria of England is enjoying her outing at Villa Huidore. Queen Alexandria's stay this year will be considerably shorter than was at first arranged and she does not now propose to visit Norway though Princess Victoria will do so when she concludes her stay at the Villa Huidore.

The beautifully situated Villa Huidore had been ready for the arrival of Queen Alexandria for several weeks past and her majesty's suite of apartments in the Annalberg palace in the heart of Copenhagen was also prepared for her occupation some time ago.

TO VISIT ENGLAND

The Queen of Norway and the Crown Prince are to go to England about the second week in November and will spend the early part of the winter at Appleton House. King Haakon will join his wife and son early in December and the royal party will return to Norway either just before or directly after Christmas.

Norway does not propose to be left out in the race for the south pole. Prince Raold, a member of the royal family, has been appointed to lead an expedition to the south pole.

This makes five antarctic expeditions including Germany, Japan, Germany, and the Argentine with a possible sixth of the United States making a sixth.

It will be the greatest geographical race in history.

Mrs. Samuel Newhouse Creates Sensation Abroad With Rose Leaf Gown.

(By MARGARET WATTS DE PEYSTER)

NEW YORK Oct. 15.—We are to have the monocle with us. And it is the women of fashion who are to introduce it to New York. It is the latest fad in the smart set, and it is making its first appearance at the opera and undoubtedly it will have quite a vogue. Some of the very highest in the smart set are practicing the holding of the simple glass. They are finding it no easy task to wear the glass correctly but by the time the opera is over they will have mastered the secret.

Paris is responsible for this new fad. It has been found there that the monocle is greatly superior to the spectacle and has superseded it almost entirely.

Those who find it impossible to acquire the art of holding the glass are usually by the music of the book may use it with a long handle but this will not be regarded as smart.

That's a good kick you made there, Billy, but it would have opened your eyes had you seen some of the marvelous plays I once made on a championship team. In preliminary practice I performed some feats with the pigskin that made a bunch of finely trained football players gasp with wonder. My, my, but I was an inventive and resourceful genius in all branches of athletics when younger. Captain Punter was a little bit dubious as to my ability, and said, while he didn't doubt my word as to my playing, he'd like to see some of it. There was nothing to do, then, but show him.

OLD OPIE DILLDOCK'S STORIES

(Copyright, 1910, by The Tribune Company, Chicago, Ill.)

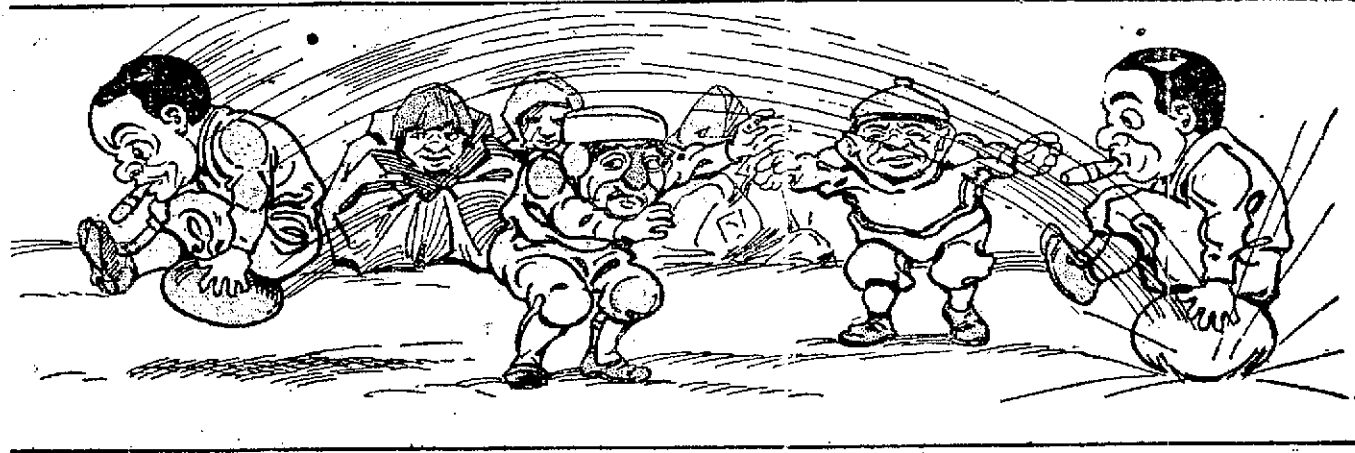

Well, Captain Punter said he'd give me a chance on his crack team if I could make good, but before engaging me had me out on the grounds for what he termed a "tryout." Naturally, I went after a few stunts that the captain never before had dreamed of. First I kicked the ball twenty yards and then ran ahead and caught it before it descended to the ground. Behind me sat the other players swathed in heavy blankets.

Next I grasped the ball firmly between my hands, balancing it nicely, and stooped over to throw it between my legs. I hesitated only the fraction of a second in judging the distance I would throw it, and then hurled it with terrific speed. Rising quickly, I turned and ran forward, catching the ball as it fell, this time throwing it two yards farther than I had kicked it. I could hear the regular players gasp with admiration.

Despite my wondrous speed, however, the captain stood with a face as expressionless as granite. He turned to the squatting players and motioned for one of them. Before me, as I stood holding the ball, crouched a husky tackle. As I took a step forward he came toward me. With much agility I turned a double somersault over his head and landed some yards behind him before he could assume even an upright position.

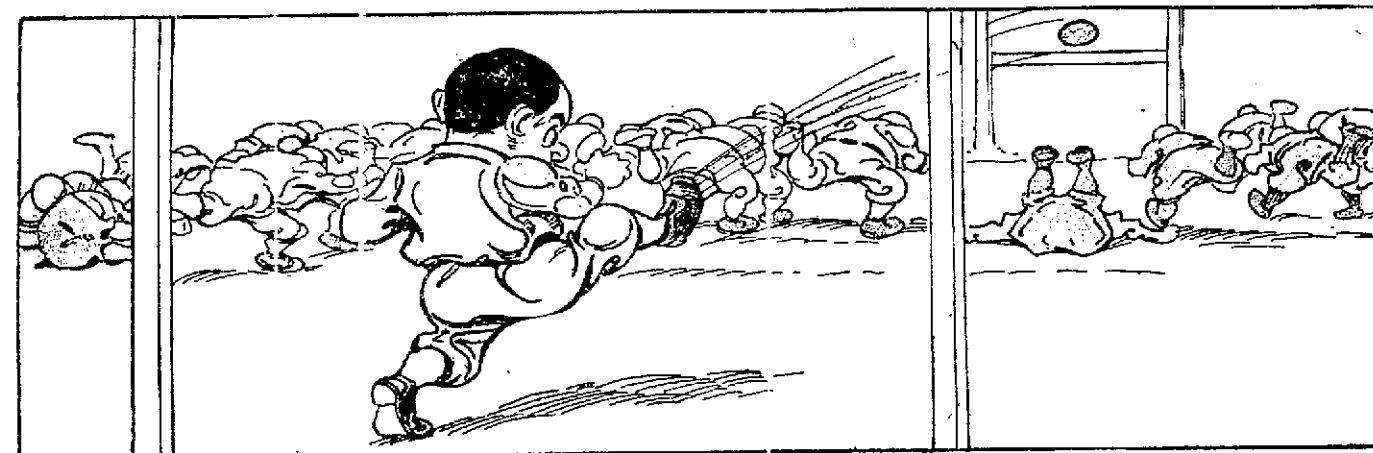

Then I took the ball and sat upon it, bouncing up and down the same as one might use a springboard. Suddenly with a hard jolt I bounced the ball off the ground, steadying myself as I did so. Swiftly the ball rose in the air, lifting me high as I gave a twist, known only to myself, and started it over the heads of the captain and the tackle. Thus I flew twenty yards or so, lighting gently upon the frost bitten ground, still seated on the ball.

Placing the ball upon the ground in close proximity to the beblanketed regular players, I placed my right hand firmly upon it, caught my balance, and swung around like a top. As my feet flew by the men, I gently pushed each one of them, toppling the entire crowd over. I then spun around and around on the ball, making in all nine hundred and six revolutions. Still balancing on my hand, I stopped and lighted my cigar.

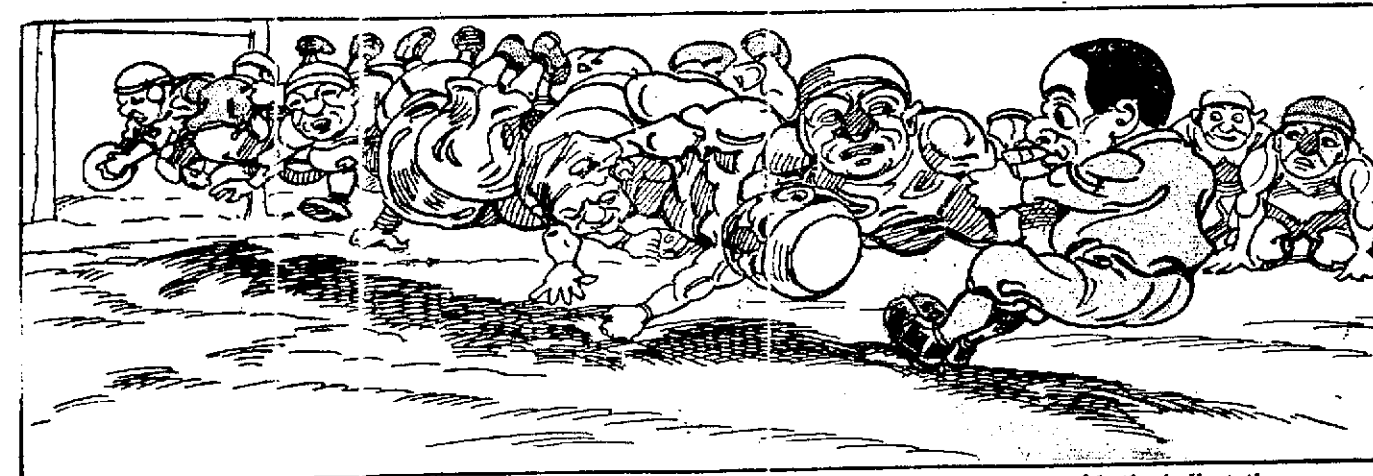

Lying prone on my back, I stood a modern Hercules before me, first having placed the ball in his hands. The tackle made a lunge for him, and as he did so I placed my feet in the small of his back and hoisted him in air. On came the tackle, believing this time he had me. But with prodigious strength I pushed the giant with my feet and hurled him just over the tackle's head. He came down lightly, although greatly frightened.

Thus I qualified to play on the world's greatest team. In the first game I was to make the first kickoff. I placed the ball on the ground and with my eye measured the distance to the opponents' goal. Then I drove my small right foot against the ball with much force. It floated straight for the goal posts and dropped between them as neatly as though it had been tossed by a child. The crowd yelled themselves hoarse over my achievement.

In the next quarter there was a scrimmage such as seldom is seen on a football battling ground. It seemed as though everybody in the world was on top of me for a moment. But with the ball clutched tightly in my hands I wriggled out of the mass of human beings, ran ahead, and passed the ball to one of the boys. I could have made a touchdown unassisted, but I had a spectacular scheme in mind which I wished to work out.

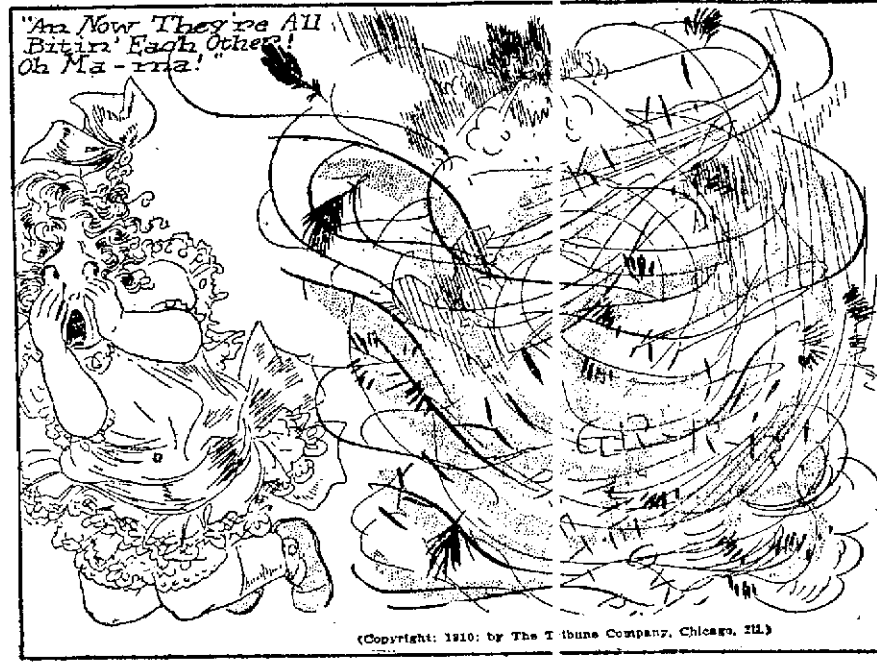

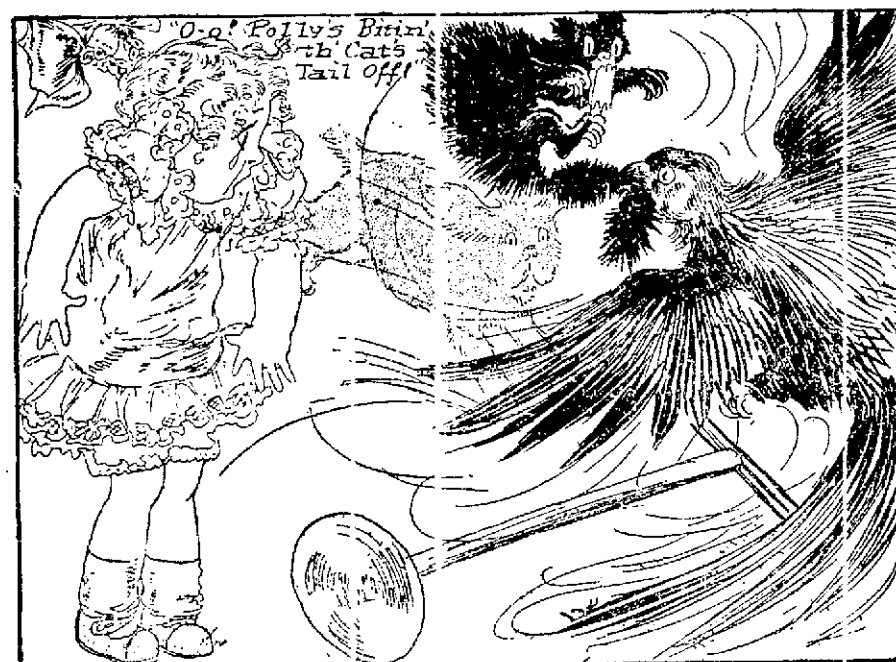

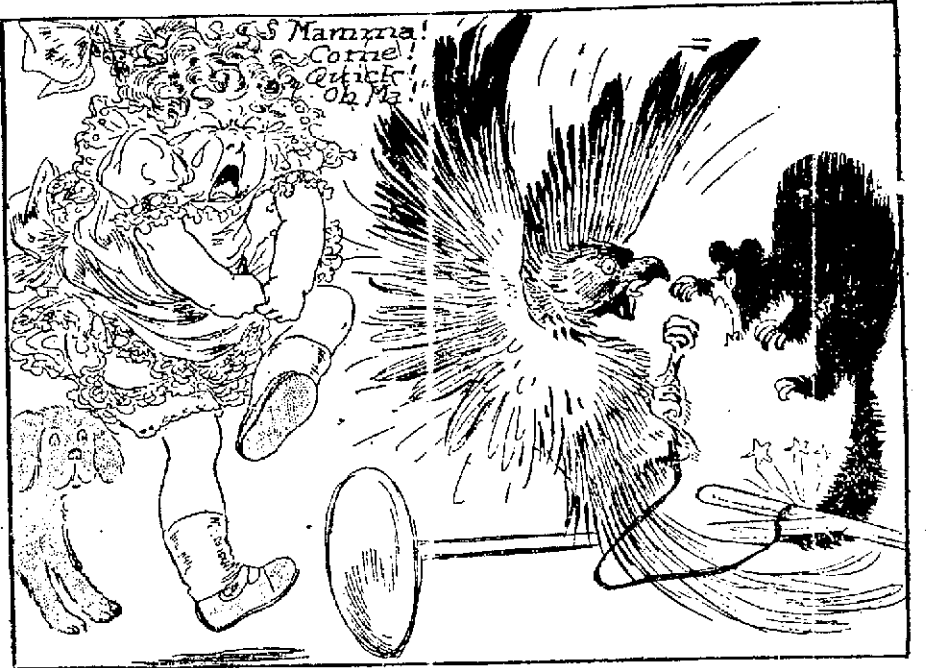

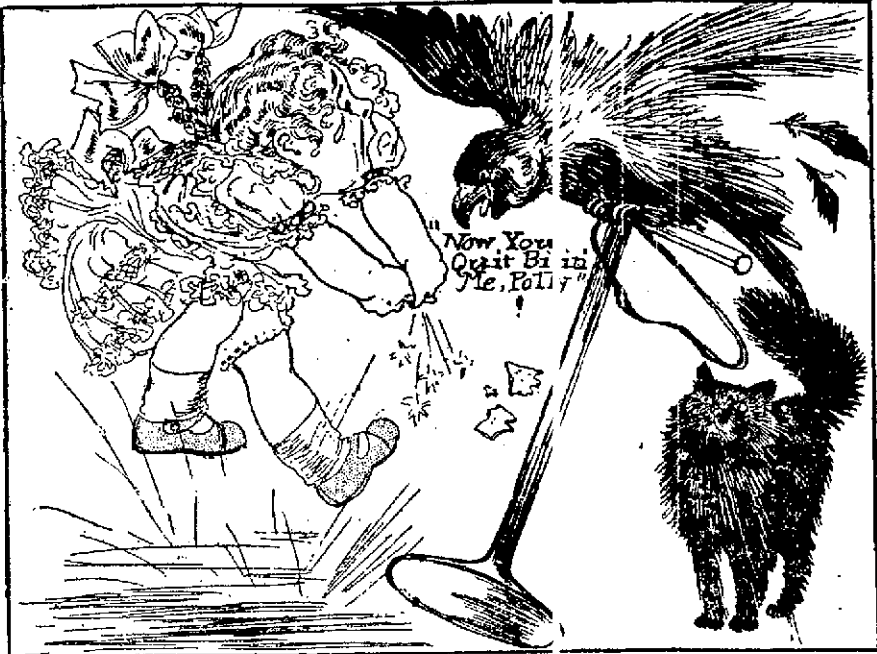

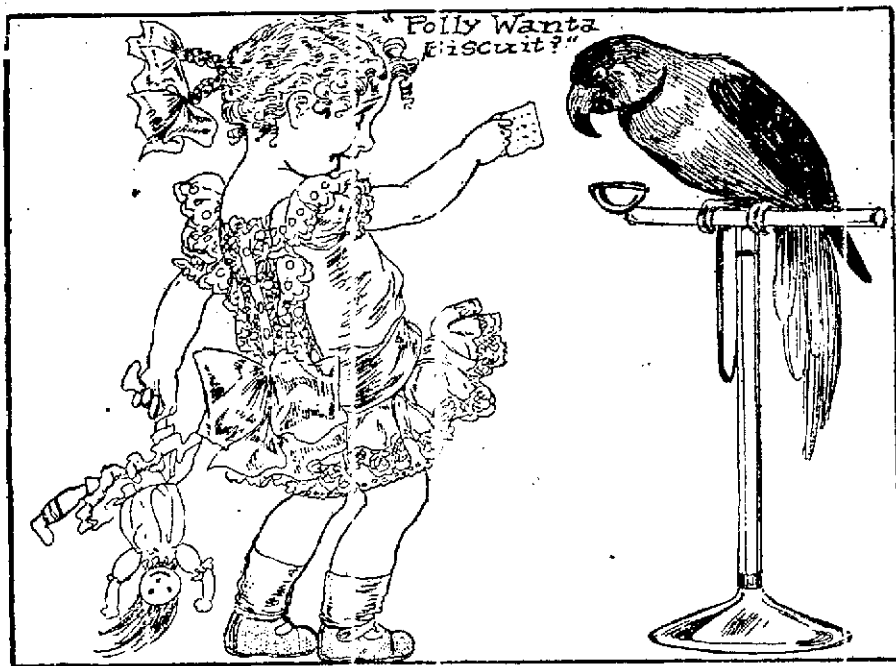

One by one I summoned my teammates and stood them in a row, placing the man with the ball at the very end. With a motion so quick it almost fooled the eye, I jerked the line after the fashion school children "crack the whip," and pulled the man who held the ball up right into my arms. He was breathless as I took the ball from him and ran in the direction of the enemy's goal. Nor did I stop for anything until I was almost there.

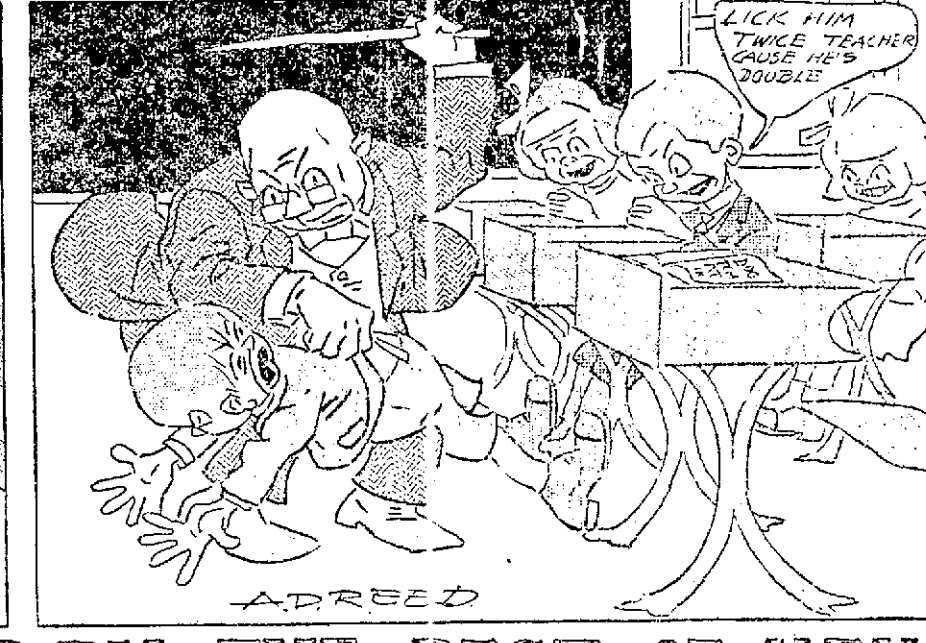

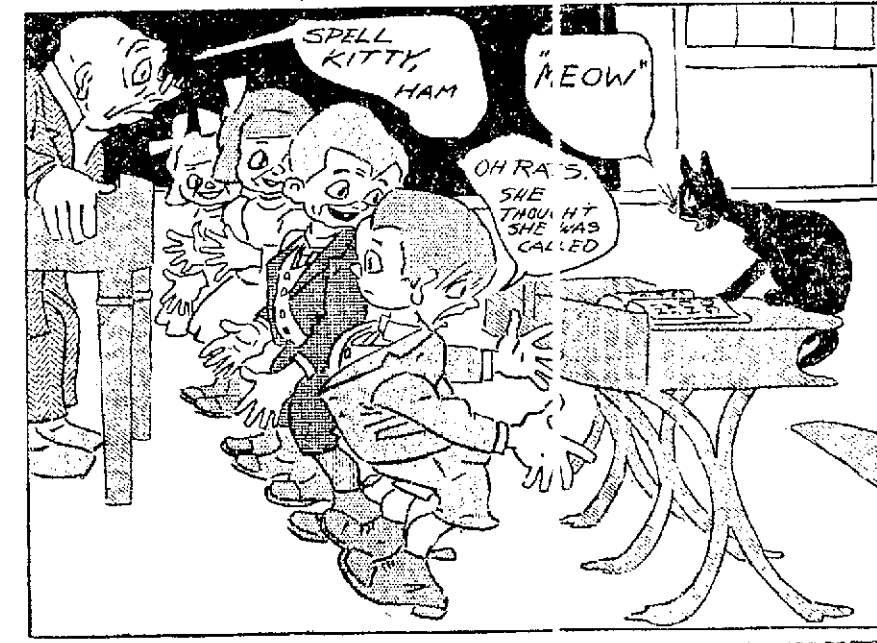

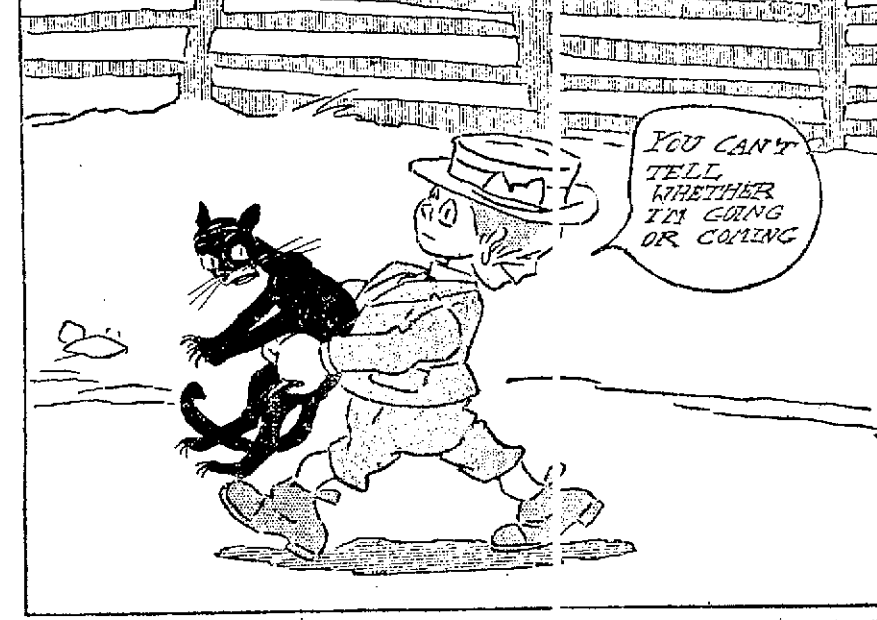

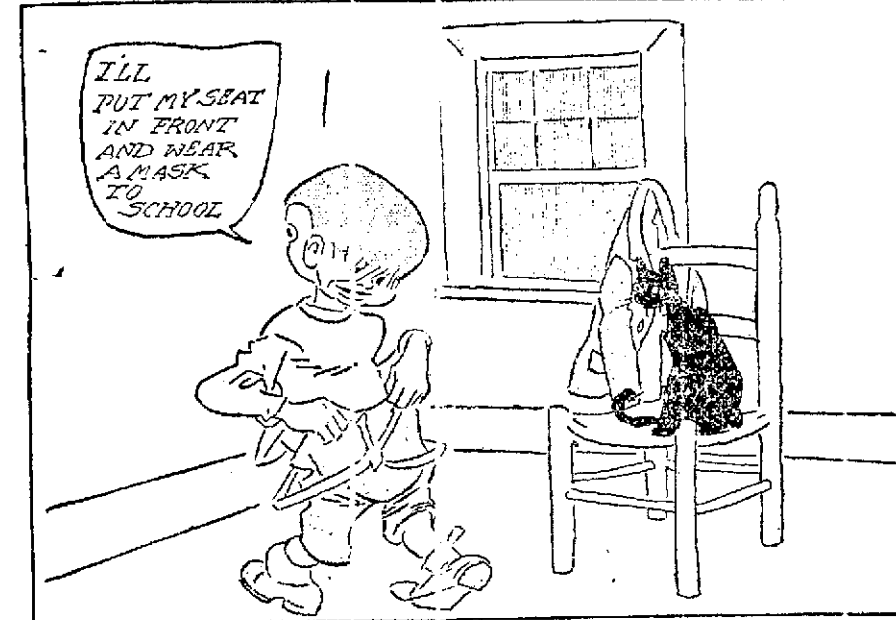

When within about eight yards of the goal I was tackled by two of the enemy, each sturdily built and weighing around two hundred pounds. As they grappled with me I increased my speed. They held me so I could not drop the ball and kick it and my arms were pinioned, preventing me from throwing the pigskin. There was only one thing to do: I sprang in the air, pulling the two athletes after me, soared over the goal and made the winning point.

THE TURR'BLE TALES OF KAPTIN KIDDO

WRITTEN BY MARGARET G. HAYS

One time they was orful mean to me at our house—somebuddy tooked some jam—an—Oh well, they was orful mean to me anny-ways, an' I was standin' in the cornder o' the room—when suddenly there came Kaptin Peanut Ploochee in an' he sed—"Come quess, Kaptin Kiddo, whilst they isn't nobuddy lookin'."

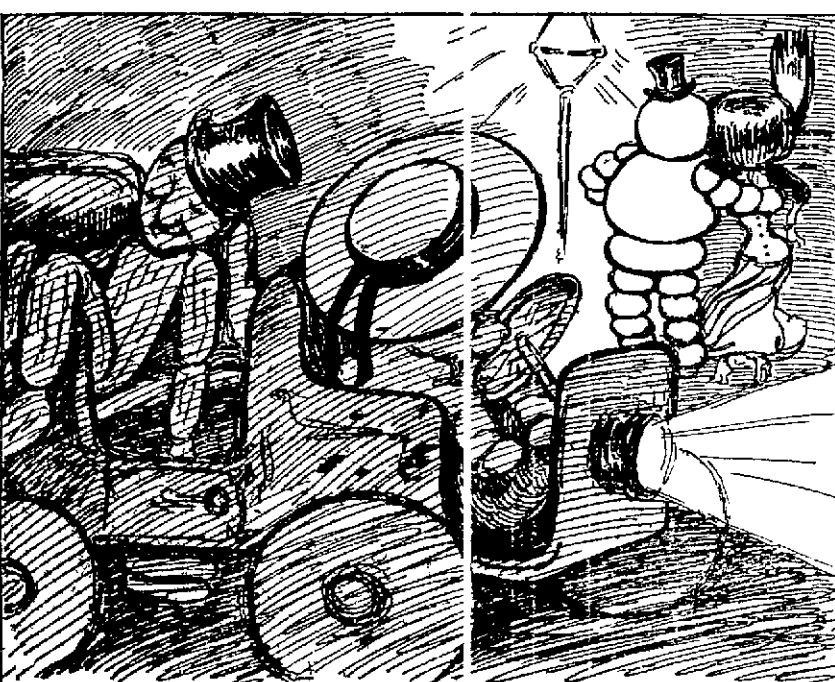

So I comed wif him an' when we was miles an' miles away—far out in the fields an' meadows—he sed, "At fat scallywag o' a Marmaduke Marmalade has stoleed my Mrs. Ploochee away," he sed, an'—n' en he laffed an' laffed an' 'most had the histericks wif grief. "Poor Kaptin Ploochee" I sed, but he winked some tears out o' his eyes an' sed—"Don-che-worry 'bout-at-ol' feller," he sed Jes as Noble.

So we went to their house to look for her an' Kaptin Peanut Ploochee must o' bin crazy wif sadness, 'cause he was laffin' an' dancin' an' singin', "My Wife's Gone to Country Hooray!! Hooray!!" an' he putted on his high silk hat an' sed, "Come 'long o' Sport Le's make a night o' it." An' he tooked me to a magniforous place to supper an' we had lot o' goodies to eat an'—an' two big green bottles packed in a bucket o' ice, wifed wif yellow soda water.

Mine gracious, at soda water was good, all bubbly an' clinkin' wif little pieces o' ice—en a man bringed Kaptin Peanut Ploochee a nice long letter but Kaptin Peanut Ploochee yes sed "Charge it!" En we wented to a splendiforous palace called a teeyater, an' lots o' bu'ful ladies in little bits o' shortes petuskierts, wif longes pink silk stockin's (bu-ful) dancin' magniforously. Me an' Kaptin Ploochee smacked our hands togever an' sed, "Inkkore" ('course we was orful sad, though, 'bout poor dear Mrs. Ploochee all the time).

'En we wented out an' gotted in a naughty mobeel an' Kaptin Peanut Ploochee was so sad 'at he jus' layed down on the back seat an'—an' I had to make that naughty mobeel go mune own self, so I tooked 'hold o' the wheel an' we went whizzin' a-long an' ther was two peoples in front o' us an' there if it wasn't Mrs. Ploochee an' a nice big plump gemp-lum all made out o'—o' oranges.

So I called to her, an' the orang gemplum runned away, an' she gotted in the naughtymobeel—an' we waked up Kaptin Peanut Ploochee an' I sed "Oh, here's Mrs. Ploochee an' I founded her for you." 'En Kaptin Ploochee was orful rude to me—he sed—"You better run 'long home, you orful little Buzzy body, you." Now what-che-know-bout-that for ungra itudfulness! He didn't say "Tank you" or "Saddy" on'y lef me on my dooratey o' my house an' so they drivd off. He shooked his fist to me an' sed "Oh, you Kiddo Oh you Kiddo."
